New Struggle Lies Ahead For Guadalcanal Base; Mountain Gap Is Retaken

U. S. Marines Battle Jap Forces; Tokyo Warns People Air Raids Are Probable

Toll Is Heavy

Japanese Lose Ships, Planes and Men in Pacific Area

(By The Associated Press)

A new struggle for the prize Guadalcanal air base in the Solomon Islands was apparently developing today, with U. S. Marines battling freshly landed Japanese forces, while on the New Guinea front Australian troops pressed their 10-day-old pursuit of the retreating Japanese.

Latest dispatches indicated that the Australians had recaptured the strategic mile-high gap in the Owen Stanley range and were now pushing on toward the downslope to the Japanese base at Kokoda, 120 miles across the Papua peninsult from Port Moresby.

At one time, the Japanese had advanced within 32 airline miles of Port Moresby.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur himself was disclosed to have taken the field in the New Guinea battle sector, and on October 3 presented the U. S. army's silver star award for courage to Vern Haugland, Associated Press war correspondent, who was lost for 43 days in the mountain jungles.

Major developments in the vast Pacific conflict, by sectors:

Japan — A Japanese naval spokesman, broadcasting over the Tokyo radio, warned the Japanese people today that the United States was building long-range flying fortresses capable of bombing Japan from such island bases as Midway and the Aleutians.

The spokesman said the new fortresses had a 10,000-mile flight range and declared that with the United States piling up an "astronomical quantity" of weapons, "the war is just beginning."

Attempt Is Desperate

Solomon Islands—A U. S. Navy communique, acknowledging that the Japanese had slipped reinforcements ashore under cover of darkness, indicated that the enemy was making a desperate attempt to regain the Guadalcanal air base in the southeast Solomons.

But the Japanese were paying a heavy toll in ships, planes and men, as American airmen attacked them and U. S. Marines hunted down enemy troops in the Jungle wilderness.

The Navy said the latest Japanese landings, carried out October 3 and 4, cost the enemy 11 more planes and a heavy cruiser damaged. This boosted the enemy's total losses in the two-months-old battle of the Solomons to 230 aircraft destroyed and 30 ships sunk or damaged.

A Navy communique said Navy and Marine Corps dive bombers spotted the Japanese cruiser, accompanied by a force of destroyers, engaged in landing operations. At least one hit was scored on the cruiser, the Navy said, and American torpedo planes renewed the attack at daybreak, driving in two torpedoes.

American pursuit planes meanwhile bombed and strafed Japanese troops on Guadalcanal, and a flight of seven U. S. Navy Wildcat bombers shot down nine of 30 Japanese Zero fighters over the island.

New Guinea—Dispatches to the Melbourne Herald estimated that Australian troops had pushed through "the gap" within two miles of the end of the pass by early today, headed for the downslope, still without encountering Japanese resistance.

The headlong Japanese retreat, without even attempting a stand on mountain ridges they had bought with blood, posed a continuing mystery.

Corpses Without Wounds

Dispatches said Australian forces had found Japanese corpses without gunfire wounds, indicating they died either from illness or starvation. There was no indication, however, that the entire Japanese invasion contingent was suffering from illness or hunger, and the rapidity of their retreat suggested they were still able to move in fair order.

As the advance continued, allied bombers pounded enemy bases at Buin and Buka, in the northern Solomon Islands, and attacked Japanese oil tanks on the northeast coast of Ceram Island, which lies between New Guinea and the Celebes to the west.

Willkie Calls Upon Allies For an All-Out Offensive

'Personal Opinion' Is Time Has Come to Do Something for China and Russia

Chungking, Oct. 7 (AP)—Wendell Willkie called upon the United Nations today for an "all-out armed offensive everywhere" and said he expected to dedicate his life to urging a post-war world "where all men can be free and with governments of their own choosing."

"It is my personal opinion that the time has come for an all-out armed offensive everywhere by all the United Nations," Willkie said in a statement on his tour of 13 nations. "We are ready to deliver some knockout punches if I can believe what I have seen with my own eyes."

Shortly after issuing his statement Willkie had an hour's talk with General Chiang Kai-Shek—his fifth conference with the Chinese leader—and then left for an undisclosed destination.

(Previous Chungking dispatches said the American envoy would visit the Chinese front but that his itinerary would be kept secret to lessen the danger of Japanese air attack.)

Since arriving in Chungking Willkie has spent a total of ten hours with Chiang, with the generalissimo's American-educated wife doing most of the interpreting.

At the press conference at which he issued his review of his journey to this point, Willkie said "this is my own statement, my own personal statement."

"That goes for all my public statements," he continued. "I speak for no one else and no one else ever speaks for me."

In answer to questions he said he had been commissioned by President Roosevelt to do certain things and that in anything connected with them he was the President's representative and acted accordingly.

"But when I speak for myself," he said, "I'm Wendell Willkie and say what I damn please."

In his plain spoken statement, Willkie added "in the United States we have talked a lot to the world about our production figures," and added that "some of our allies have seen very little of our actual arms."

"It is only natural for them

Rankin Says Allies Are Embarrassed

Washington, Oct. 7 (AP)—Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) told the House today that Wendell L. Willkie "already has brought more embarrassment to the Allies by his wild statements than any other person."

"I am glad to see that the administration declines to take any responsibility for his campaign oratory abroad," Rankin added, after saying that "Marco Polo Willkie" was in China yesterday "and probably by now is on his way to India."

Rankin said he recognized Willkie's right to say what he "damned pleased," but he expressed hope that the "people of the Orient would understand", that the Republican nominee for President in the last election was indulging in "campaign oratory abroad."

Railroad and Bus Division Sends Communication to Common Council

Alternate stops to be made by the city buses will be considered by the railroad and bus committee of the Common Council following the reading of a communication from Dorr E. Monroe, former alderman of the Eighth ward as chairman of the committee, which was read at the council meeting Tuesday night.

Alderman Monroe wrote recommending that the railroad and bus committee meet with the Kingston City Transportation Corp., to work out a plan for alternate stops for the buses to be effective during the present emergency in order to conserve gas and oil.

During the first World War the trolley road then in operation adopted a system of "skip stops" to conserve electricity, and it is likely that a similar system will be adopted by the buses.

Thomas J. Burke of 106 Mc Entee street filed a claim for $1,500 with the Common Council for injuries alleged to have been suffered in a fall on the sidewalk in front of the former Palen building on Broadway on January 26. The claim was referred to the auditing committee and the corporation counsel.

President Says Crimes of Axis Will Be Adjudged; Punishment Meted Out

Reply Not Given

Early Does Not Answer Query on Hitler and Mussolini

Washington, Oct. 7 (AP)—President Roosevelt asserted today the United States was prepared to cooperate in establishing a United Nations commission, after the war, for the investigation of war crimes of the Axis and said it was the intention to mete out just and sure punishment to "ringleaders reponsible for the organized murder of thousands of innocent persons and the commission of atrocities."

It is the intention of the United States, he said in a formal statement, that "the successful close of the war shall include provision for the surrender to the United Nations of war criminals."

With a view to establishing the responsibility of the guilty individuals through the collection and assessment of all available evidence, Mr. Roosevelt said, this government is prepared to cooperate with the British and other governments in establishing a United Nations investigating committee.

Declaring that it was not the intention to resort to mass reprisals, the Chief Executive predicted the number of persons eventually found guilty undoubtedly would be extremely small compared to the total enemy populations.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early, who distributed Mr. Roosevelt's statement, failed to answer a question as to whether Hitler and Mussolini were two of the ringleaders whose surrender would be required.

Information Recalled

Mr. Roosevelt recalled that he had said last August 21 that the government constantly was receiving information about "barbaric crimes" being committed by the enemy against civilians in occupied lands, especially on the European continent.

The commission of these crimes continues, the President declared in today's statement, the text of which follows:

"On August twenty first I said that this government was constantly receiving information concerning the barbaric crimes being committed by the enemy against civilian populations in occupied countries, particularly on the continent of Europe. Said it was the purpose of this government, as I knew it to be the purpose of

Mayor Vetoes Two Council Proposals

Park Concession Matter, Also Lenihan Salary Payment Rejected

By a strictly party vote of 7 to 6, the Common Council Tuesday evening sustained the two vetoes filed by Mayor William F. Edelmuth. The first veto was that of placing the leasing of concessions in the city parks in the hands of the aldermen, and the other a resolution recommending that the July salary of Martin F. Lenihan, Democrat, be paid as a "moral obligation."

Cannon and Cannon Balls on City Hall Lawn Are Headed for War's Scrap Pile

The two old cannons and a pile of cannon balls on the city hall lawn are headed for the scrap pile to be used in demolishing the Axis powers as a result of a favorable report submitted by the salvage committee of the Common Council which was read at the council meeting Tuesday night.

At the suggestion of Alderman Dorr E. Monroe at a previous council meeting President John J. Schwenk had named Alderman Monroe as head of such a salvage committee to inspect city property and see what could be junked.

The committee reported in favor of junking the old iron fence around the old burying ground on Albany avenue, and also the one on Pine street.

Alderman Victor Roth of the Twelfth ward, called the council's attention to the fact that there was some question as to whether the city owned the Pine street cemetery. He said that while serving as a member of the consistory of the First Reformed Church that the question arose frequently between that body and the city.

President Schwenk said he would appoint Alderman Houghtaling in the place of Alderman Monroe on the salvage committee and suggested that in order to save time that the committee report be accepted subject to it investigating the ownership of the Pine street cemetery before the old iron fence was taken for war scrap.

The council acted accordingly.

Reds Wipe Out German Wedge In Stalingrad's Suburbs and Stop 10 Attacks on 40-Mile Line

Russians' Communique Says Nazis Pull Up Fresh Troops, Hurl Them Into Battle

Report Is Made

Sinclair Says Anglo Plane Losses Total 1,082 in 9 Months

By ROGER D. GREENE
(Associated Press War Editor)

Adolf Hitler threw fresh masses of troops into the welter of blood and flame that marked the 44-day-old siege of Stalingrad today, but the Russians declared they had virtually wiped out a German wedge in the northwest suburbs and crushed a series of 10 assaults along the 40-mile northern barrier.

"The enemy is drawing up fresh forces and hurling them into battle immediately after marching," the Russian command announced, it its noon communique.

Red army reinforcements also were reported to have moved up during the night to meet the swelling Nazi siege forces.

Dispatches to Red Star said a dangerous situation developed as the Germans reached the depth of an industrial settlement—evidently in the northwest suburbs where the main battle raged—but said heavy Soviet counter-attacks cleared much of the district, with elite Russian guardsmen driving the invaders from streets, houses, gardens and orchards.

Many civilians were reported among the casualties, and the settlement was pictured as blasted by incendiary and explosive bombs.

At least 1,200 German troops were reported killed in fighting for the Volga metropolis yesterday, many of them going to their deaths directly after forced marches from the rear.

Red army headquarters said Nazi shock troops spearheaded by 12 tanks broke into one block of a Stalingrad factory district at noon yesterday, but declared:

"Our units fought to annihilate these tanks, and toward the end of the day 11 out of the 12 were destroyed."

Northwest of the city, Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's relief offensive was reported to have gained fresh ground against the Nazi left flank—the vital barricade which guards the main German siege armies.

"A height defended by Red army men was attacked 10 times by the Hitlerites," the Soviet command said. "In this fighting, the enemy lost more than 800 in killed alone."

Dispatches to Izvestia, the Russian government newspaper, said that Nazi infantrymen were literally crammed into trenches dug into the battle-torn steppes and that the Germans had buried hundreds of burned-out tanks for use as pillboxes.

It was now a full week since Hitler boasted in the Berlin sports palast that Stalingrad's fall was inevitable, and still there was no sign that the Nazis were doing better than holding their own.

As two examples of the tenacious Soviet resistance inside the city, Red army headquarters announced:

"A battalion of German infantry supported by 11 tanks made six attacks on positions held by one unit. All attacks were repulsed. The Red army destroyed five tanks.

"In another sector, our artillery fire disabled seven German tanks, destroyed two mortar batteries and wiped out about a battalion of enemy infantry."

Along the Black Sea coast, below Novorossisk, Soviet troops defending a height described as "of great strategical importance," were reported to have killed 400 troops of a newly arrived air infantry division.

In the central Caucasus, the Russian command acknowledged a retreat from one community in the Mozdok sector, 50 miles north of the Grozny oil fields, but said the Red armies subsequently rallied to beat off Nazi tank and infantry assaults.

German field headquarters claimed the capture of Malgobek, 20 miles south of Mozdok.

American Army's Morals Are Found To Be Excellent

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
(Wide World War Analyst)

London, Oct. 7—This is a friendly, intimate message to the folks back home about the moral welfare of their boys in the army over here and it is good to be able to say right at the start that while there are some rather spotty places you can rest easy in your minds.

I figured you'd be anxious to know how things are going and were entitled to the facts about a subject that is very close to the hearts of all of us. I had heard some stories and observed some things which, while not of vast importance in themselves, set me to thinking.

So I've been looking about a bit and talking with army people who know how the battle of morals really goes.

I got away to a good start through a chance word dropped by Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower during a conversation with him on military affairs. It is not permitted to quote him but his remark was in effect, condemnation of loose living and showed clearly his abhorrence of that sort of thing.

Since then I have run across plenty of evidence that the A. E. F. commander is indeed a clean liver and sets an exemplary standard for his men. It is small wonder, then, that we find the vast majority of them keeping step with him and members of his staff who make it their business to try to keep stragglers from falling out of line.

Right here, and before we discuss those spotty places, I'd like to introduce the testimony of two distinguished officers immediately associated with the welfare of our boys.

First meet Colonel James L. Blakeney, kindly-faced, business-like chaplain-in-chief, who tells me General Eisenhower, "backs his chaplains up 100 per cent."

Twenty-six years he's served in the United States Army, and he remarked with a grin:

"I've seen a lot of life in that time."

Sure, he's seen a lot and he knows his soldiers as few others do.

Here is his summary of the position of morality among our troops in the British Isles.

"On the whole our standard is very, very high. There's no more letting down of moral standards than there was at home."

Then there is Colonel P. B. Rogers, headquarters commandant.

Starts as Private

He's a fine-looking, square-shouldered professional soldier who started as a private and worked his way up through every rank until he reached his present high position.

And he's seen a bit of life, too.

"There's no problem with our boys," he told me in his crisp, incisive language. "They're well-disciplined, well-behaved. They are an amazing lot. The British people are astonished at their good manners. They are fine gentlemen."

"The trouble in London relates to one per cent."

And what about London?

Well, it's no worse than any other great metropolis in wartime and it's better than many. Wherever there are a lot of troops there will be an army of bad girls following them. That probably has been true since the first primitive army went into the field.

So London has a host of huntresses, some of them shockingly young, who chase every soldier in sight. The same is true of some lesser British towns.

The streets are always full of soldiers of many countries who are on leave or off duty for a few hours. Among them are some of our Yankee boys and a few of them succumb to the blandishments of camp followers — that would be the one per cent of which the colonel spoke,

I quizzed him about that one per cent and questioned the chaplain about it, too. Just as my observation had led me to believe, this tiny percentage of backsliders who allow themselves to asso-

Searchers Intensify Hunt for Two Bodies

Body of One of Three Drowned In Esopus Is Found In Ashokan Near Brodhead

Search for the bodies of Elmer Van Demark, 63, and Mary Terwilliger, 70, both of Tabasco, was intensified today by the county authorities following the recovery of the body of Mrs. Amelia Van Demark, 62, from the waters of the Ashokan reservoir yesterday afternoon where it was found floating near the shore by Lieut. Edward Schwall of the New York Board of Water Supply police and Harold Smith of 104 Elmendorf street.

Lieut. Schwall and Mr. Smith were cruising the waters of the reservoir in a motorboat and were about to give up the search when they discovered the half submerged body of the woman floating near a big rock.

Heading for Brodhead, directly opposite the point where the body was found, the two men telephoned Coroner Jesse McHugh of Wallkill who responded, and after an investigation rendered a verdict of accidental drowning.

Identification of the body was made by Mrs. Minnie Knickle of Stanton, N. J., a sister of Mrs. Van Demark, and also by Mrs. Cora McNaughton of Westfield, Pa., a foster daughter. The two women were at the home of Myron Terwilliger in Tabasco, a brother of the dead woman.

It was a week ago Sunday that an automobile in which the three people were riding ran off the road and into the swollen waters of the Esopus creek at Cold Brook, and were last seen as the automobile drifted down the turbulent stream, which had been raised to flood proportions by the heavy rains.

The body of Mrs. Van Demark was found about seven miles from the place where the automobile left the road at Cold Brook.

The body lay close inshore near a big rock on the west bank of the reservoir near the old Decker road which runs down to the reservoir.

Fully Clothed

When the body was taken from the water it was found fully clothed, but the clothing in disarray. Identification was made by

Rev. D. L. Doherty Named Moderator Of Area Presbytery

Rondout Pastor Is Chosen at Fall Meeting Held in Amenia; Scott Commissioner

THE. REV. D. L. DOHERTY

The Rev. D. Linton Doherty, pastor of the Rondout Presbyterian Church of this city, was elected moderator of the North River Presbytery at the fail meeting of Presbytery held on Tuesday in the Smithfield Presbyterian Church in Amenia.

Irving W. Scott, an elder of the downtown church, was elected one of the commissioners from the Presbytery to the annual meeting of Synod to be held in Watertown on October 19 through to the 21st.

Mr. Scott has been serving as an elder of the church here for many years, and has long been active in the affairs of the Presbytery.

Last week at the annual meeting of the Kingston Ministerial Association, the Rev. Mr. Doherty was elected president.

The Rev. Mr. Doherty has been serving as acting moderator of the Presbytery since March in place of the Rev. Augustus Griffing, who is now a chaplain in the U. S. Army.

The Rev. William J. McVey, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of this city, was elected chairman of the committee on evangelism.

At the fall meeting yesterday the uptown church was represented by the Rev. Mr. McVey and Elder W. F. Hill, while the downtown church was represented by the Rev. Mr. Doherty and Elders I. W. Scott and Byron V. Stevens.

Of the 23 active pastors within the bounds of the Presbytery, four are serving as chaplains in the U. S. Army.

The Smithfield Church in which the all-day session of Presbytery was held, stands beside an historic oak tree where George Whitefield on July 29, 1770, preached to a crowd so large that the church could not hold it. The church has just completed celebrating its bicentennial. The Rev. Arthur James is now serving the Smithfield Church as its pastor.

More Than Million Tons of German Shipping Are Sunk by United Nations

New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—The United Nations have sunk or seized no less than 218 Nazi merchant vessels—more than 1,000,000 tons—since war burst over Europe three years ago, a review of official announcements showed today.

These losses apparently have sent the German march of war into a heavy limp, and the Nazis have begun a drive to salvage ships sunk along the coast of Europe, it was reported recently. In addition they have started a program to build standarized merchantmen, probably along the lines of the American "liberty ship" plan.

Perhaps the Nazis' greatest single shipping losses were the 21,131-ton Hansa and the 9,400-ton Steiermark, former passenger liners which had earned the reputation of notorious raiders.

The Hansa was sunk in the Indian ocean by the British cruiser Cornwall, the Steiermark off Australia by the British cruiser Sydney. A Nazi claim that the Steiermark renamed the Kormoran, still operates in the Atlantic has not been confirmed.

Major blows at the German merchant marine were the torpedoing by a British submarine of the Bahia Laura and the Donau, merchantmen which were carrying Nazi troops.

Nearly 3,000 German soldiers lost their lives when depth bombs

Declaring that it was not the intention to resort to mass reprisals, the Chief Executive predicted the number of persons eventually found guilty undoubtedly would be extremely small compared to the total enemy populations.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early, who distributed Mr. Roosevelt's statement, failed to answer a question as to whether Hitler and Mussolini were two of the ringleaders whose surrender would be required.

Information Recalled

Mr. Roosevelt recalled that he had said last August 21 that the government constantly was receiving information, about "barbaric crimes" being committed by the enemy against civilians in occupied lands, especially on the European continent.

The commission of these crimes continues, the President declared in today's statement, the text of which follows:

"On August twenty first I said that this government was constantly receiving information concerning the barbaric crimes being committed by the enemy against civilian populations in occupied countries, particularly on the continent of Europe. Said it was the purpose of this government, as I knew it to be the purpose of

Mayor Vetoes Two Council Proposals

Park Concession Matter, Also Lenihan Salary Payment Rejected

By a strictly party vote of 7 to 6, the Common Council Tuesday evening sustained the two vetoes filed by Mayor William F. Edelmuth. The first veto was that of placing the leasing of concessions in the city parks in the hands of the aldermen, and the other a resolution recommending that the July salary of Martin F. Lenihan, Democrat, be paid as a "moral obligation."

The Democrats after 10 years regained control of the Common

Report Is Made

Sinclair Says Anglo Plane Losses Total 1,082 in 9 Months

By ROGER D. GREENE
(Associated Press War Editor)

Adolf Hitler threw fresh masses of troops into the welter of blood and flame that marked the 44-day-old siege of Stalingrad today, but the Russians declared they had virtually wiped out a German wedge in the northwest suburbs and crushed a series of 10 assaults along the 40-mile northern barrier.

"The enemy is drawing up fresh forces and hurling them into battle immediately after marching," the Russian command announced, it its noon communique.

Red army reinforcements also were reported to have moved up during the night to meet the swelling Nazi siege forces.

Dispatches to Red Star said a dangerous situation developed as the Germans reached the depth of an industrial settlement—evidently in the northwest suburbs where the main battle raged—but said heavy Soviet counter-attacks cleared much of the district, with elite Russian guardsmen driving the invaders from streets, houses, gardens and orchards.

Many civilians were reported among the casualties, and the settlement was pictured as blasted by incendiary and explosive bombs.

At least 1,200 German troops were reported killed in fighting for the Volga metropolis yesterday, many of them going to their deaths directly after forced marches from the rear.

Red army headquarters said Nazi shock troops spearheaded by 12 tanks broke into one block of a Stalingrad factory district at noon yesterday, but declared:

"Our units fought to annihilate these tanks, and toward the end of the day 11 out of the 12 were destroyed."

Northwest of the city, Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's relief offensive was reported to have gained fresh ground against the Nazi left flank—the vital barricade which guards the main German siege armies.

"A height defended by Red army men was attacked 10 times by the Hitlerites," the Soviet command said. "In this fighting, the enemy lost more than 800 in killed alone."

Dispatches to Izvestia, the Russian government newspaper, said that Nazi infantrymen were literally crammed into trenches dug into the battle-torn steppes and that the Germans had buried hundreds of burned-out tanks for use as pillboxes.

It was now a full week since Hitler boasted in the Berlin sports palast that Stalingrad's fall was inevitable, and still there was no sign that the Nazis were doing better than holding their own.

As two examples of the tenacious Soviet resistance inside the city, Red army headquarters announced:

"A battalion of German infantry supported by 11 tanks made six attacks on positions held by one unit. All attacks were repulsed. The Red army destroyed five tanks.

"In another sector, our artillery fire disabled seven German tanks, destroyed two mortar batteries and wiped out about a battalion of enemy infantry."

Along the Black Sea coast, below Novorossisk, Soviet troops defending a height described as "of great strategical importance," were reported to have killed 400 troops of a newly arrived air infantry division.

In the central Caucasus, the Russian command acknowledged a retreat from one community in the Mozdok sector, 50 miles north of the Grozny oil fields, but said the Red armies subsequently rallied to beat off Nazi tank and infantry assaults.

German field headquarters claimed the capture of Malgobek, 20 miles south of Mozdok.

American Army's Morals Are Found To Be Excellent

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
(Wide World War Analyst)

London, Oct. 7—This is a friendly, intimate message to the folks back home about the moral welfare of their boys in the army over here and it is good to be able to say right at the start that while there are some rather spotty places you can rest easy in your minds.

I figured you'd be anxious to know how things are going and were entitled to the facts about a subject that is very close to the hearts of all of us. I had heard some stories and observed some things which, while not of vast importance in themselves, set me to thinking.

So I've been looking about a bit and talking with army people who know how the battle of morals really goes.

I got away to a good start through a chance word dropped by Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower during a conversation with him on military affairs. It is not permitted to quote him but his remark was in effect, condemnation of loose living and showed clearly his abhorrence of that sort of thing.

Since then I have run across plenty of evidence that the A. E. F. commander is indeed a clean liver and sets an exemplary standard for his men. It is small wonder, then, that we find the vast majority of them keeping step with him and members of his staff who make it their business to try to keep stragglers from falling out of line.

Right here, and before we discuss those spotty places, I'd like to introduce the testimony of two distinguished officers immediately associated with the welfare of our boys.

First meet Colonel James L. Blakeney, kindly-faced, business-like chaplain-in-chief, who tells me General Eisenhower, "backs his chaplains up 100 per cent."

Twenty-six years he's served in the United States Army, and he remarked with a grin:

"I've seen a lot of life in that time."

Sure, he's seen a lot and he knows his soldiers as few others do.

Here is his summary of the position of morality among our troops in the British Isles.

"On the whole our standard is very, very high. There's no more letting down of moral standards than there was at home."

Then there is Colonel P. B. Rogers, headquarters commandant.

Starts as Private

He's a fine-looking, square-shouldered professional soldier who started as a private and worked his way up through every rank until he reached his present high position.

And he's seen a bit of life, too.

"There's no problem with our boys," he told me in his crisp, incisive language. "They're well-disciplined, well-behaved. They are an amazing lot. The British people are astonished at their good manners. They are fine gentlemen."

"The trouble in London relates to one per cent."

And what about London?

Well, it's no worse than any other great metropolis in wartime and it's better than many. Wherever there are a lot of troops there will be an army of bad girls following them. That probably has been true since the first primitive army went into the field.

So London has a host of huntresses, some of them shockingly young, who chase every soldier in sight. The same is true of some lesser British towns.

The streets are always full of soldiers of many countries who are on leave or off duty for a few hours. Among them are some of our Yankee boys and a few of them succumb to the blandishments of camp followers — that would be the one per cent of which the colonel spoke.

I quizzed him about that one per cent and questioned the chaplain about it, too. Just as my observation had led me to believe, this tiny percentage of backsliders who allow themselves to asso-

Searchers Intensify Hunt for Two Bodies

Body of One of Three Drowned In Esopus Is Found In Ashokan Near Brodhead

Search for the bodies of Elmer Van Demark, 63, and Mary Terwilliger, 70, both of Tabasco, was intensified today by the county authorities following the recovery of the body of Mrs. Amelia Van Demark, 62, from the waters of the Ashokan reservoir yesterday afternoon where it was found floating near the shore by Lieut. Edward Schwall of the New York Board of Water Supply police and Harold Smith of 104 Elmendorf street.

Lieut. Schwall and Mr. Smith were cruising the waters of the reservoir in a motorboat and were about to give up the search when they discovered the half submerged body of the woman floating near a big rock.

Heading for Brodhead, directly opposite the point where the body was found, the two men telephoned Coroner Jesse McHugh of Wallkill who responded, and after an investigation, rendered a verdict of accidental drowning.

Identification of the body was made by Mrs. Minnie Knickle of Stanton, N. J., a sister of Mrs. Van Demark, and also by Mrs. Cora McNaughton of Westfield, Pa., a foster daughter. The two women were at the home of Myron Terwilliger in Tabasco, a brother of the dead woman.

It was a week ago Sunday that an automobile in which the three people were riding ran off the road and into the swollen waters of the Esopus creek at Cold Brook, and were last seen as the automobile drifted down the turbulent stream, which had been raised to flood proportions by the heavy rains.

The body of Mrs. Van Demark was found about seven miles from the place where the automobile left the road at Cold Brook.

Fully Clothed

When the body was taken from the water it was found fully clothed, but the clothing in disarray. Identification was made by

Rev. D. L. Doherty Named Moderator Of Area Presbytery

THE. REV. D. L. DOHERTY

The Rev. D. Linton Doherty, pastor of the Rondout Presbyterian Church of this city, was elected moderator of the North River Presbytery at the fall meeting of Presbytery held on Tuesday in the Smithfield Presbyterian Church in Amenia.

Irving W. Scott, an elder of the downtown church, was elected one of the commissioners from the Presbytery to the annual meeting of Synod to be held in Watertown on October 19 through to the 21st.

Mr. Scott has been serving as an elder of the church here for many years, and has long been active in the affairs of the Presbytery.

Last week at the annual meeting of the Kingston Ministerial Association, the Rev. Mr. Doherty was elected president.

The Rev. Mr. Doherty has been serving as acting moderator of the Presbytery since March in place of the Rev. Augustus Griffing, who is now a chaplain in the U. S. Army.

The Rev. William J. McVey, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of this city, was elected chairman of the committee on evangelism.

At the fall meeting yesterday the uptown church was represented by the Rev. Mr. McVey and Elder W. F. Hill, while the downtown church was represented by the Rev. Mr. Doherty and Elders I. W. Scott and Byron V. Stevens.

Of the 23 active pastors within the bounds of the Presbytery, four are serving as chaplains in the U. S. Army.

The Smithfield Church in which the all-day session of Presbytery was held, stands beside an historic oak tree where George Whitefield on July 29, 1770, preached to a crowd so large that the church could not hold it. The church has just completed celebrating its bicentennial. The Rev. Arthur James is now serving the Smithfield Church as its pastor.

More Than Million Tons of German Shipping Are Sunk by United Nations

New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—The United Nations have sunk or seized no less than 218 Nazi merchant vessels—more than 1,000,000 tons—since war burst over Europe three years ago, a review of official announcements showed today.

These losses apparently have sent the German march of war into a heavy limp, and the Nazis have begun a drive to salvage ships sunk along the coast of Europe, it was reported recently. In addition they have started a program to build standardized merchantmen, probably along the lines of the American "liberty ship" plan.

Perhaps the Nazis' greatest single shipping losses were the 21,131-ton Hansa and the 9,400-ton Steiermark, former passenger liners which had earned the reputation of notorius raiders.

The Hansa was sunk in the Indian ocean by the British cruiser Cornwall, the Steiermark off Australia by the British cruiser Sydney. A Nazi claim that the Steiermark renamed the Kormoran, still operates in the Atlantic has not been confirmed.

Major blows at the German merchant marine were the torpedoing by a British submarine of the Bahia Laura and the Donau, merchantmen which were carrying Nazi troops.

Nearly 3,000 German soldiers lost their lives when depth bombs

U. S. Is Trying To Clarify Any Red Complications

Misunderstanding Would Be Cleared, Capital Sources Say; Standley to Give Report

Washington, Oct. 7 (AP) — Steps toward clarifying misunderstandings and removing complications that may have arisen in the British-American program of aid to embattled Russia were under way today.

President Roosevelt announced at his press conference yesterday that United States Ambassador William H. Standley was returning from his post in the Soviet union to report, and Moscow dispatches said the Ambassador was bringing with him his military and naval attaches—in other words his experts on questions of Lend-Lease deliveries to Russia and on all aspects of the critical military situation there.

At the same time the President told reporters he had scanned the headlines reporting Wendell Willkie's recent demand for a second front but had not thought it worthwhile to read the stories.

In addition to Ambassador Standley, Mr. Roosevelt said several other American diplomats, including Laurence A. Steinhardt, the Ambassador to Turkey, would return to Washington soon to report. Steinhardt already has reached this country.

Shortly after the President's announcement the state department disclosed the signing of a British-American-Soviet protocol covering the delivery of supplies to Russia and giving formal acceptance to agreements already in effect providing for uninterrupted continuance of the supply program agreed on at the Moscow conference a year ago.

Details of the arrangements were not announced, but it was noted that the signing of the protocol and the announcement that Ambassador Standley was coming home to report followed closely on Premier Stalin's blunt statement of Sunday that Allied aid was relatively ineffective and calling on the Allies to "fulfill their obligations fully and on time."

Neither the President, at his press conference, nor Prime Minister Churchill in the House of Commons yesterday let fall any hint of their attitude toward the second front implications of the Stalin statement. Nor did the state department's announcement of a three-power proctol on Russian aid deliveries refer in any way to the Roosevelt-Molotov second front statement of last spring.

To Address Kiwanis

The Kiwanis guest speaker at the noon luncheon Thursday will be H. M. Place, field engineer of the United States Rubber Co., of Detroit. Mr. Place will speak on synthetic rubber and will have with him various samples and of special interest to all car owners he will exhibit and demonstrate a tire of synthetic rubber.

Transport Is Sunk

London, Oct. 7 (AP)—A Domei report from Shanghai broadcast from Tokyo today identified the Japanese vessel reported sunk October 1 by an American submarine as the 7,152-ton army transport Lisbon Haru. It said the transport was on its way to Japan from a southern base when attacked.

The appointments were filed.

William Van Steenburgh of 124 Third avenue sent in a communication to the council stating that he had never received a tax bill for the 1941 taxes on his property and as a result the taxes were not paid, and the city sold the property for unpaid taxes. He wrote he was ready to redeem the property for the amount of the taxes and whatever fees had accumulated.

The communication was referred to the corporation counsel.

The traffic control committee reported favorably on the resolution of Alderman William J. Houghtaling of the Fourth ward that stop signs be placed at First, Second and Third avenues, at Delaware avenue, and an ordinance was adopted ordering the stop signs installed.

Alderman Houghtaling also introduced a resolution changing the voting place in the second district of the Fourth ward to the store building of Jadgwia Bronicki at 498 Delaware avenue, as there were no heating facilities in the Polish-American Club rooms which had been first selected as the polling place. The change in polling place was accepted by the alderman.

Alderman Black introduced a resolution that stop signs be placed on Newkirk avenue at the intersection of Chambers street, which was referred to the traffic control committee.

Alderman Black extended an invitation to attend the dedication of the service flag in the Sixth ward on Sunday afternoon.

Reds Break Nazi Wedge in North

Osnabrueck, the British air ministry announced.

It was the second attack on Germany in 24 hours and the fourth night raid out of six nights this month.

Six R. A. F. bombers were listed as missing.

1,082 Bombers Lost

In Parliament, Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair disclosed that 1,082 R. A. F. bombers were lost over northern Europe in the nine months ended Sept. 30, but he declared that Britain was suffering "a lower rate of casualties than the German air forces attacking this country."

Egyptain campaign — British headquarters announced that British patrols Monday night raided and destroyed the garrison of an Axis strongpoint, presumably west of the 35-mile El Alamein line, but said the land front was quiet yesterday.

Nazi terror—German's ruthless Gestapo (secret police) agents sought to crush a rising tide of sabotage in conquered Norway today, while resentment against Nazi rule swept little Denmark and a bomb explosion in a Paris movie theatre killed two persons and wounded 18.

The Paris bomb blast followed a talk on "The Jewish Problem" by a propagandist of the pro-Nazi French People's party.

Nazi firing-squads executed 10 prominent Norwegians in Trondheim, according to advices reaching London. Gestapo agents arrested 700 others and a state of emergency was proclaimed in Trondheim and along a 400-mile coastal strip.

Norwegian government quarters in London quoted an official German report on the executions as saying "the men were shot as an atonement" for acts of sabotage, but underground reports said the Germans haphazardly picked out prominent citizens on the streets and shot them. A bank director, two lawyers and a civil engineer were among those executed.

Revenge Reprisals Taken

A Stockholm radio broadcast said the reprisals were taken to avenge attacks on German soldiers and as a warning against further attempts to sabotage the Trondheim-Mosjean railway.

Nazi Commissioner Josef Terboven sent fresh contingents of Gestapo agents into action to ferret out Norwegian patriot activities, and declared bluntly:

"My generosity is finished."

Danish quarters in London expressed fear that Denmark would soon vanish into a German "new order" Federation of North Sea countries. Hitler was reported to have demanded that King Christian X turn over control of the Danish police and key posts in the Ministry of Justice to the Germans.

The Oslo radio reported an increasing series of clashes between Copenhagen residents and 1,100 Danish turn-coat volunteers on leave from the Russian front, where they fought for the Germans.

New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—Buying interest was spotty in today's stock market and while a few specialties made progress a number of industrial leaders slipped to slightly lower levels.

The gold mining stocks, however, provided the principal price swings, Homestake and McIntyre Porcupine breaking sharply in the first hour on the W. P. B.'s order of suspension of production and diversion of equipment and labor to non-ferrous metal properties.

Although not affected by this ban because it is a Canadian concern, McIntyre was discounting similar action by the dominion government.

Some of the industrial pivotals, fractionally higher at the opening later entered minus territory and near the fourth hour losses, mostly fractional, outnumbered gains by a small margin.

Taxation matters and indications Japan was fighting for a fresh foothold in the Solomons were regarded by brokers as factors in the buying pause.

Homestake came back a bit after a five-point drop and McIntyre erased part of a two-point dip. Moderately lower most of the time were Montgomery Ward, Santa Fe, Public Service of N. J., North American and Goodyear. Steadier were Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Boeing and Cerro De Pasco. Allied Chemical pushed up about a point.

Bonds were steady and commodities uneven.

Garbage Begins to Move

Newark, N. J., Oct. 7 (AP)—Six hundred city employes returned to their tasks in the public works department today, beginning the cleanup of garbage that had accumulated during a five-day strike of C. I. O. workers. The union charged, however, that several leaders had not been reemployed by the city. There was no statement by the administration, but police continued to escort trash trucks.

American Army's Morals Are Found To Be Excellent

ciate with some of the toughest, most slovenly women of the streets represents the men who have no breeding and weren't much good back home.

"When you raise an army of a million men you don't go into their morals," remarked the colonel dryly. "You get a mixture of all sorts, from extremely religious to the bad.

"You can't raise a man's morals by putting a uniform on him.

"A good boy in our army can keep good. He is given every opportunity for good environment.

"But you can't say he must stay beside a piano and sing songs."

Rogers explained a lot of the difficulty in London was due to bad bootleg liquor which is being circulated. Some of that one per cent of our men get bowled over and do things they otherwise wouldn't do. British and American authorities are trying to stamp this traffic out.

"When a man brings discredit to his uniform," said the Colonel, "our military police pick him up. But the police aren't trying to ride the boys."

No Worse Than America

Chaplain Blakeney was quite clear on the point that the situation here is no worse than it has been in America.

"There are a lot of girls in Piccadilly," he said grudgingly, "but there have been the same conditions around our camps in America.

"We always find what we are looking for—bad women and liquor or good homes and high morals. When we make a move I tell the men 'Where we are going it's no different from where we are.'

"British people are hospitable, cordial and very wonderful. Their churches and homes are open to us. Some of the bad homes are also open and some of our boys do not miss them."

The chaplain was frank about this subject of morals which, he said, "a lot of folks do not want to face." He told me he had questioned hundreds of boys who at first had fallen for the song of the street walker and had found their reaction one of extreme disgust.

Our soldiers feel the responsibility of keeping up the honor of their country. They want the people over here to respect our folks back home.

Many of our boys are being invited into some of the best homes in Britain, and they do honor to the army.

"They are gentlemen," said the padre with satisfaction, and at the end he made a remark which rather pushes the unhappy one per cent of bod ones into the background.

Associations of the other 99 per cent with the British is improving relations of the two peoples. Our boys are getting to like the British. The British are getting to like them. That's different from what it was in 1918, during the last war.

Well that is the story of our army's morals. As Chaplain Blakeney puts its:

"There's nothing to be alarmed about in the moral situation."

mileage they may run and the minimum loads they must carry.

The certificates are being mailed from Detroit to all persons who were registered on December 31, 1941, as the owners of commercial vehicles.

At the same time, O. D. T. and the Department of Agriculture announced jointly that the 3,022 county war boards set up by the agriculture department would assist farm truck operators and others engaged in hauling farm products, in filling out the application blanks. Three days have been set aside for the work, October 22, 23 and 24.

About 1,500,000 of the nation's trucks and commercial cars affected are engaged in transporting farm products and equipment.

As the mailing of application forms is completed in each area, the states and counties covered will be announced, O. D. T. said. Any operator who has not received his application blank when the mailing is announced as complete was instructed to apply to the nearest field office of the O. D. T. division of motor transport for the necessary forms.

The places where farm truck operators will be able to get assistance will be announced locally.

Among the states and counties where mailing has been finished and the appropriate district office of the division of motor transport for each group of counties, are:

Searchers Intensify Hunt for Two Bodies

the dress the woman wore, her shoes and a brooch she had pinned to her dress.

Today three boats were cruising the reservoir hunting for the missing two bodies. One boat was in charge of Sergeant James J. Cunningham of the state troopers; another in charge of Trooper Ray Dunn, and the third in charge of Deputy Sheriff Herbert Segleken.

It was in the upper basin of the reservoir that the body was found.

Word of the finding of a body spread rapidly and Sheriff Howard Anderson, Deputy Sheriff Clayton Vredenburgh and Troopers Frank Maish and Ray Dunn hurried to the scene.

Following the examination of the body by Coroner McHugh it was removed to the Pulling Funeral Home in Ellenville.

Authorities in finding the body of Mrs. Van Demark floating in the reservoir are led to believe that all three persons were freed from the enclosed automobile and that the two missing bodies may be found floating.

First Report

First report of the car leaving the road was received by the authorities when Karl Smith, Jr., of Dobbs Ferry, reported that while riding toward Phoenicia about 6 o'clock Sunday evening, September 27, his car was struck by the car containing the three persons, after rounding a curve near the Winne garage at Cold Brook. The car then swerved and crashed through a guard rail and plunged into the raging waters of the Esopus creek and was rapidly swept downstream.

Since the search was started several small pieces of the vanished automobile together with a bird cage were found by the authorities.

Gas Ration Books Soon to Be Issued

Rationing Board Places Applications in Mail

Gas ration books "B" and "C" expire on October 22, and today the Kingston War Price and Rationing Board placed in the mails approximately 2,500 renewal applications to those who hold these books.

These forms must be filled out and returned to the board as promptly as possible, so that the board may act upon them. Each application will be considered by the board, and the board will notify each applicant by mail when to appear at the board office to receive the new ration books.

Dominic A. Cioni, executive secretary of the local board, said today that it would be useless for applicants to call at the board office for their new ration books until they had received a written notice fixing the time they are to call for them.

Secretary Cioni said that enclosed with each application renewal form is a postcard. The applicant is to write his name and address on this postcard and return it in the same envelope in which he mails back the renewal form.

This postcard later will be mailed back to the applicant with the date on which he is to call at the board's office for his new ration book.

New Struggle Is Begun for Base

President Roosevelt's personal emissary, concluded his fifth talk with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek in Chungking, China's wartime capital, and then left for an undisclosed destination, presumably the front.

Before setting out, Willkie called on the United Nations for an "all-out armed offensive everywhere," saying he was convinced that the time had arrived for the allies to strike. He stressed that this was his personal opinion, not to be linked with his official status as Mr. Roosevelt's envoy.

"We are ready to deliver some knockout punches if I can believe what I have seen with my own eyes," he said.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

On the Firing Line

Thomaston, Conn. — The Machine Gun Mortons, they call 'em here.

Father Frank Morton, Sr., works in a foundry making .50 calibre machine guns, Mother Morton works in another shop where she makes dies for .50 calibre machine gun bullets and son, Frank Morton, Jr., is a sergeant in the army, in charge of a squad handling .50 calibre machine guns.

Wants the Open Road

South Bend, Ind. — Walter Choitz has filed an injunction suit so that he can sell his farm and enter the Navy. He was joined in the action by his brother, Otto, who already is in the Army.

They alleged they have been unable to sell their 80 acres because neighbors plowed under the only road leading to it. The suit said the road crossed property belonging to neighbors but it had been used for 60 years before one of the defendants plowed it under and padlocked the gate entrance.

What, No Bolts?

Eddyville, Ky.—Sidney Scott has lots of trouble keeping his automobile going these days. He got into it the other day, stepped on the starter and nothing happened. He called a garage and had it towed in. It was discovered squirrels had filled much of the car's innards with hickory nuts.

Time Saver

Columbus, O.—Chester C. Cook, city transportation co-ordinator, estimates that if all passengers had the correct fare ready when they boarded buses and street cars here operators would save a total of 111 hours daily. In urging patrons to "have the correct change ready" he estimated that operators changed 15,000 $1 bills daily, 100 tens and 500 fives. He said it takes 25 seconds for $1 bills, 42 seconds for larger notes.

Ticklish Problem

Greybull, Wyo.—Mrs. Herbert Pique held her daughter, five days old, up to the hospital phone so that her husband in Pearl Harbor could hear the infant.

The baby was jiggled and gitchee, gitchee gooed, but nothing happened.

A baby-wise nurse supplied the answer. Baby's feet were tickled.

MEET DURING RAINSTORM

Knoxville, Tenn. (AP)—During a rainstorm, one of the children at J. H. Maples' home told her mother an elderly woman was standing on the porch.

Maples' married daughter opened the door and invited the woman—Mrs. Rose Cotter, seeking shelter from the rain—into the home.

After a bit the elder Maples appeared from an adjoining room and declared:

"Why, Rose, you haven't changed since you were a kid."

And so Mrs. Cotter met her brother after 58 years — even though during that time they lived only a few miles away. Maples had left home when a boy and had not returned.

U. S. Is Trying To Clarify Any Red Complications

Misunderstanding Would Be Cleared, Capital Sources Say; Standley to Give Report

Washington, Oct. 7 (AP) — Steps toward clarifying misunderstandings and removing complications that may have arisen in the British-American program of aid to embattled Russia were under way today.

President Roosevelt announced at his press conference yesterday that United States Ambassador William H. Standley was returning from his post in the Soviet union to report, and Moscow dispatches said the Ambassador was bringing with him his military and naval attaches—in other words his experts on questions of Lend-Lease deliveries to Russia and on all aspects of the critical military situation there.

At the same time the President told reporters he had scanned the headlines reporting Wendell Willkie's recent demand for a second front but had not thought it worthwhile to read the stories.

In addition to Ambassador Standley, Mr. Roosevelt said several other American diplomats, including Laurence A. Steinhardt, the Ambassador to Turkey, would return to Washington soon to report. Steinhardt already has reached this country.

Shortly after the President's announcement the state department disclosed the signing of a British-American-Soviet protocol covering the delivery of supplies to Russia and giving formal acceptance to agreements already in effect providing for uninterrupted continuance of the supply program agreed on at the Moscow conference a year ago.

Details of the arrangements were not announced, but it was noted that the signing of the protocol and the announcement that Ambassador Standley was coming home to report followed closely on Premier Stalin's blunt statement of Sunday that Allied aid was relatively ineffective and calling on the Allies to "fulfill their obligations fully and on time."

Neither the President, at his press conference, nor Prime Minister Churchill in the House of Commons yesterday let fall any hint of their attitude toward the second front implications of the Stalin statement. Nor did the state department's announcement of a three-power proctol on Russian aid deliveries refer in any way to the Roosevelt-Molotov second front statement of last spring.

London, Oct. 7 (AP)—A Domei report from Shanghai broadcast from Tokyo today identified the Japanese vessel reported sunk October 1 by an American submarine as the 7,152-ton army transport Lisbon Haru. It said the transport was on its way to Japan from a southern base when attacked.

Public Works; Leonard Miller as alderman of the Eighth ward; Patrick T. Gilday as alderman of the Third ward, and Fred C. Harder as a member of the fire board.

The appointments were filed.

William Van Steenburgh of 124 Third avenue sent in a communication to the council stating that he had never received a tax bill for the 1941 taxes on his property and as a result the taxes were not paid, and the city sold the property for unpaid taxes. He wrote he was ready to redeem the property for the amount of the taxes and whatever fees had accumulated.

The communication was referred to the corporation counsel.

The traffic control committee reported favorably on the resolution of Alderman William J. Houghtaling of the Fourth ward that stop signs be placed at First, Second and Third avenues, at Delaware avenue, and an ordinance was adopted ordering the stop signs installed.

Alderman Houghtaling also introduced a resolution changing the voting place in the second district of the Fourth ward to the store building of Jadgwia Bronicki at 498 Delaware avenue, as there were no heating facilities in the Polish-American Club rooms which had been first selected as the polling place. The change in polling place was accepted by the alderman.

Alderman Black introduced a resolution that stop signs be placed on Newkirk avenue at the intersection of Chambers street, which was referred to the traffic control committee.

Alderman Black extended an invitation to attend the dedication of the service flag in the Sixth ward on Sunday afternoon.

"The commission of these crimes continues."

"I now declare it to be the intention of this government that the successful close of the war shall include provisions for the surrender to the United Nations of war criminals.

"With a view to establishing responsibility of the guilty individuals through the collection and assessment of all available evidence, this government is prepared to cooperate with the British and other governments in establishing a United Nations commission for the investigation of war crimes.

"Thq number of persons eventually found guilty will undoubtedly be extremely small compared to the total enemy populations. It is not the intention of this government or of the governments associated with us to resort to mass reprisals.

"It is our intention that just and sure punishment shall be meted out to the ring leaders responsible for the organized murder of thousands of innocent persons and the commissions of atrocities which have violated every tenet of the Christian Faith."

Osnabrueck, the British air ministry announced.

It was the second attack on Germany in 24 hours and the fourth night raid out of six nights this month.

Six R. A. F. bombers were listed as missing.

1,082 Bombers Lost

In Parliament, Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair disclosed that 1,082 R. A. F. bombers were lost over northern Europe in the nine months ended Sept. 30, but he declared that Britain was suffering "a lower rate of casualties than the German air forces attacking this country."

Egyptain campaign — British headquarters announced that British patrols Monday night raided and destroyed the garrison of an Axis strongpoint, presumably west of the 35-mile El Alamein line, but said the land front was quiet yesterday.

Nazi terror—German's ruthless Gestapo (secret police) agents sought to crush a rising tide of sabotage in conquered Norway today, while resentment against Nazi rule swept little Denmark and a bomb explosion in a Paris movie theatre killed two persons and wounded 18.

The Paris bomb blast followed a talk on "The Jewish Problem" by a propagandist of the pro-Nazi French People's party.

Nazi firing-squads executed 10 prominent Norwegians in Trondheim, according to advices reaching London. Gestapo agents arrested 700 others and a state of emergency was proclaimed in Trondheim and along a 400-mile coastal strip.

Norwegian government quarters in London quoted an official German report on the executions as saying "the men were shot as an atonement" for acts of sabotage, but underground reports said the Germans haphazardly picked out prominent citizens on the streets and shot them. A bank director, two lawyers and a civil engineer were among those executed.

Revenge Reprisals Taken

A Stockholm radio broadcast said the reprisals were taken to avenge attacks on German soldiers and as a warning against further attempts to sabotage the Trondheim-Mosjean railway.

Nazi Commissioner Josef Terboven sent fresh contingents of Gestapo agents into action to ferret out Norwegian patriot activities, and declared bluntly:

"My generosity is finished."

Danish quarters in London expressed fear that Denmark would soon vanish into a German "new order" Federation of North Sea countries. Hitler was reported to have demanded that King Christian X turn over control of the Danish police and key posts in the Ministry of Justice to the Germans.

The Oslo radio reported an increasing series of clashes between Copenhagen residents and 1,100 Danish turn-coat volunteers on leave from the Russian front, where they fought for the Germans.

New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—Buying interest was spotty in today's stock market and while a few specialties made progress a number of industrial leaders slipped to slightly lower levels.

The gold mining stocks, however, provided the principal price swings, Homestake and McIntyre Porcupine breaking sharply in the first hour on the W. P. B.'s order of suspension of production and diversion of equipment and labor to non-ferrous metal properties.

Although not affected by this ban because it is a Canadian concern, McIntyre was discounting similar action by the dominion government.

Some of the industrial pivotals, fractionally higher at the opening later entered minus territory and near the fourth hour losses, mostly fractional, outnumbered gains by a small margin.

Taxation matters and indications Japan was fighting for a fresh foothold in the Solomons were regarded by brokers as factors in the buying pause.

Homestake came back a bit after a five-point drop and McIntyre erased part of a two-point dip. Moderately lower most of the time were Montgomery Ward, Santa Fe, Public Service of N. J., North American and Goodyear. Steadier were Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Boeing and Cerro De Pasco. Allied Chemical pushed up about a point.

Bonds were steady and commodities uneven.

Garbage Begins to Move

Newark, N. J., Oct. 7 (AP)—Six hundred city employes returned to their tasks in the public works department today, beginning the cleanup of garbage that had accumulated during a five-day strike of C. I. O. workers. The union charged, however, that several leaders had not been reemployed by the city. There was no statement by the administration, but police continued to escort trash trucks.

American Army's Morals Are Found To Be Excellent

ciate with some of the toughest, most slovenly women of the streets represents the men who have no breeding and weren't much good back home.

"When you raise an army of a million men you don't go into their morals," remarked the colonel dryly. "You get a mixture of all sorts, from extremely religious to the bad.

"You can't raise a man's morals by putting a uniform on him.

"A good boy in our army can keep good. He is given every opportunity for good environment.

"But you can't say he must stay beside a piano and sing songs."

Rogers explained a lot of the difficulty in London was due to bad bootleg liquor which is being circulated. Some of that one per cent of our men get bowled over and do things they otherwise wouldn't do. British and American authorities are trying to stamp this traffic out.

"When a man brings discredit to his uniform," said the Colonel, "our military police pick him up. But the police aren't trying to ride the boys."

No Worse Than America

Chaplain Blakeney was quite clear on the point that the situation here is no worse than it has been in America.

"There are a lot of girls in Piccadilly," he said grudgingly, "but there have been the same conditions around our camps in America.

"We always find what we are looking for—bad women and liquor or good homes and high morals. When we make a move I tell the men 'Where we are going it's no different from where we are.'

"British people are hospitable, cordial and very wonderful. Their churches and homes are open to us. Some of the bad homes are also open and some of our boys do not miss them."

The chaplain was frank about this subject of morals which, he said, "a lot of folks do not want to face." He told me he had questioned hundreds of boys who at first had fallen for the song of the street walker and had found their reaction one of extreme disgust.

Our soldiers feel the responsibility of keeping up the honor of their country. They want the people over here to respect our folks back home.

Many of our boys are being invited into some of the best homes in Britain, and they do honor to the army.

"They are gentlemen," said the padre with satisfaction, and at the end he made a remark which rather pushes the unhappy one per cent of bad ones into the background:

Associations of the other 99 per cent with the British is improving relations of the two peoples. Our boys are getting to like the British. The British are getting to like them. That's different from what it was in 1918, during the last war.

Well that is the story of our army's morals. As Chaplain Blakeney puts its:

"There's nothing to be alarmed about in the moral situation."

mileage they may run and the minimum loads they must carry.

The certificates are being mailed from Detroit to all persons who were registered on December 31, 1941, as the owners of commercial vehicles.

At the same time, O. D. T. and the Department of Agriculture announced jointly, that the 3,022 county war boards set up by the agriculture department would assist farm truck operators and others engaged in hauling farm products, in filling out the application blanks. Three days have been set aside for the work, October 22, 23 and 24.

About 1,500,000 of the nation's trucks and commercial cars affected are engaged in transporting farm products and equipment.

As the mailing of application forms is completed in each area, the states and counties covered will be announced, O. D. T. said. Any operator who has not received his application blank when the mailing is announced as complete was instructed to apply to the nearest field office of the O. D. T. division of motor transport for the necessary forms.

The places where farm truck operators will be able to get assistance will be announced locally.

Among the states and counties where mailing has been finished and the appropriate district office of the division of motor transport for each group of counties, are:

Connecticut—Hartford and Tolland counties: District Office, 119 Ann street, Hartford. Fairfield county: District Office, New Haven, address not yet established.

New York — Sullivan, Ulster, Dutchess and Rockland counties: District Office, Peekskill, address not yet established.

Searchers Intensify Hunt for Two Bodies

the dress the woman wore, her shoes and a brooch she had pinned to her dress.

Today three boats were cruising the reservoir hunting for the missing two bodies. One boat was in charge of Sergeant James J. Cunningham of the state troopers; another in charge of Trooper Ray Dunn, and the third in charge of Deputy Sheriff Herbert Seglken.

It was in the upper basin of the reservoir that the body was found.

Word of the finding of a body spread rapidly and Sheriff Howard Anderson, Deputy Sheriff Clayton Vredenburgh and Troopers Frank Maish and Ray Dunn hurried to the scene.

Following the examination of the body by Coroner McHugh it was removed to the Pulling Funeral Home in Ellenville.

Authorities in finding the body of Mrs. Van Demark floating in the reservoir are led to believe that all three persons were freed from the enclosed automobile and that the two missing bodies may be found floating.

First Report

First report of the car leaving the road was received by the authorities when Karl Smith, Jr., of Dobbs Ferry, reported that while riding toward Phoenicia about 6 o'clock Sunday evening, September 27, his car was struck by the car containing the three persons, after rounding a curve near the Winne garage at Cold Brook. The car then swerved and crashed through a guard rail and plunged into the raging waters of the Esopus creek and was rapidly swept downstream.

Since the search was started several small pieces of the vanished automobile together with a bird cage were found by the authorities.

Gas Ration Books Soon to Be Issued

Rationing Board Places Applications in Mail

Gas ration books "B" and "C" expire on October 22, and today the Kingston War Price and Rationing Board placed in the mails approximately 2,500 renewal applications to those who hold these books.

These forms must be filled out and returned to the board as promptly as possible, so that the board may act upon them. Each application will be considered by the board, and the board will notify each applicant by mail when to appear at the board office to receive the new ration books.

Dominic A. Cioni, executive secretary of the local board, said today that it would be useless for applicants to call at the board office for their new ration books until they had received a written notice fixing the time they are to call for them.

Secretary Cioni said that enclosed with each application renewal form is a postcard. The applicant is to write his name and address on this postcard and return it in the same envelope in which he mails back the renewal form.

This postcard later will be mailed back to the applicant with the date on which he is to call at the board's office for his new ration book.

New Struggle Is Begun for Base

President Roosevelt's personal emissary, concluded his fifth talk with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek in Chungking, China's wartime capital, and then left for an undisclosed destination, presumably the front.

Before setting out, Willkie called on the United Nations for an "all-out armed offensive everywhere," saying he was convinced that the time had arrived for the allies to strike. He stressed that this was his personal opinion, not to be linked with his official status as Mr. Roosevelt's envoy.

"We are ready to deliver some knockout punches if I can believe what I have seen with my own eyes," he said.

FIRE PREVENTION

Kingston's fire loss for 1941 was $20,886 out of a national total of $303,895,000, according to figures released by the National Fire Protection Association in calling attention to the importance of Fire Prevention Week, which is now being observed. There were 406 fire alarms and 166 building fires in this city, the report discloses.

The country's rising loss shows an increase of $6,539,000 during the first half of 1942 compared with the same period of 1941. Fire safety experts claim that this increase is neither inevitable nor excusable on the basis of rising industrial activity. It is pointed out that cities which have observed Fire Prevention Week in the past report a 45.3 per cent reduction in fire losses during that week, the preceding week and the week following, indicating that a continuous program of fire safety education would greatly reduce fire losses throughout the year.

Fire safety education, which is taking the lead in the Fire Prevention Week observance this year involves two ideas—fire prevention and fire control. Fire prevention means eliminating fire hazards by such means as cleaning up rubbish and repairing defective heating and electrical equipment. Fire control, on the other hand, means knowing what to do when a fire breaks out.

Winter will soon be on its way, bringing with it some of the greatest fire hazards, which are responsible for thousands of deaths and the destruction of millions of dollars worth of property. And these hazards can be corrected.

Winter hazard number one is your heating plant. Before long it will be subjected to maximum load. Any defect, any weakness, may result in a disastrous fire. This is true of furnaces, stoves, fireplaces and everything which has to do with creating and conveying heat. A qualified repairman will do the job now, which may save a life, a home or a factory.

Another hazard is exposed electric wiring. Cords fray, and fixtures get out of whack. Here again a qualified mechanic could do the job now.

Every citizen should continue to increase his efforts to prevent fire for by so doing he is truly playing a vital part in the war effort.

THRIFT

Foreigners used to criticize American wastefulness, and with some justice. So bountiful have been this country's resources that it was easy to throw away or only half use them, saying, "There's plenty more where that came from." The movement for the conservation of natural wealth, which began in the early part of the century and with which public figures like Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania are associated, arose out of a reaction against this attitude. It saved valuable raw materials which today the nation is profoundly glad to have.

Now lavishness of any sort is out. Americans are learning to look carefully at every activity, every use of materials, every expenditure. They are learning a new thrift. The country is coming to an ideal motto for these trying days: "Do without!"

WASTE AND IDLENESS

A reporter for The Seattle Times got a job in a shipyard near Seattle, and after two weeks of observation reported that there was a great deal of idleness. Men were not employed at full capacity, but had plenty of time to visit friends in various parts of the yard, to do over again work which had been done before, to look busy by poring over blueprints of which the workman knew nothing, to mill around the exit gates several minutes before closing time.

These are serious indictments, especially as the reporter declared that he was convinced the condition was not local—that it existed in other shipyards in Puget Sound and in the shipyards of Oregon and California. Also that it existed in other war industries, not only on the Pacific Coast but elsewhere in the United States.

There are times, of course, when yards and factories are kept waiting for necessary parts. In these circumstances perhaps men who frankly play checkers cannot be criticized. They are ready to go ahead with the work at any moment. Top notch management, however, might be able to devise useful work to fill such interims.

Two things about such waste become appalling. One is the deterioration of character of the men themselves, idle and cheating their country. The other is the waste of lives on battlefronts because needed materials do not arrive in time.

U. S. troops have occupied the islands where Darwin decided that men and monkeys are brothers under the skin. Whaddayo know about that?

An American jail reports a stock of 15,000 pounds of coffee. Better be careful; foreigners will be coming over and trying to break in.

Statesmanship seems to be a game in which both sides are allowed to brag that they got what they wanted.

"Show us here the mettle of your pasture," said King Richard. Huh! He should see our farm boys bringing in the iron.

"The more haste, the less speed," was the old motto. But now it's more speed and less palaver.

HEART DISEASE

It is interesting to see how our various health agencies tackle the various health problems one by one, and, sometimes rapidly and other times slowly, achieve such gratifying results.

It is not more than thirty years since the problem of tuberculosis occupied the minds and energies of health departments and the battle has been now won.

Once it was realized that tuberculosis, so widespread yet everywhere concentrated among poor people, was largely the responsibility of health departments, constructive steps were taken, one after another, by health officers and physicians so that within one generation tuberculosis institutions can accommodate more patients than apply.

It is with the above picture of the conquering of tuberculosis in mind, that the Metropolitan Insurance Company, in its information service, points out the need for a similar campaign against the ravages of heart disease.

"Heart disease is the country's outstanding medical problem today and will become increasingly serious as increasing number of people, owing to gradually lowering death rate, reach the advanced ages when heart disease is more common." A joining of forces by the private physician and the public health officer, which served so well to put down tuberculosis, is necessary if similar results are to be obtained."

How can heart disease be prevented? What can physicians and health agencies do about heart disease?

"Public health agencies must now intensify their preventive efforts against rheumatic fever and syphilis which are most important causes of heart disease in children and young adults." Also the problem of proper handling of the large number of cases of chronic heart disease in older persons must be worked out. Many of these useful lives can be prolonged.

Most of us can do our share in preventing heart disease by plenty of bed rest during and after an illness, and by the removal of infected tonsils, teeth, gall bladder, or other infection, in ourselves or our family.

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

The play "The Old Dairy Homestead" was presented on January 20, 1927, under the auspices of the Immanuel Mixed Choir of the Livingston Street Lutheran Church, and proved one of the most entertaining amateur performances presented here in some time.

Among the members of the cast were W. J. C. Buddenhagen, Charles Petri, Jr., George C. Bode, Charles Petri, Sr., Albert Studt, Mildred Thiel, Betty Ehnes, Frances Wiedeman and Freda Ehnes.

I also recall that on January 17 and 18, 1927, St. Peter's Dramatic Circle presented with great success the play "A Full House" in St. Peter's Hall.

In the cast were Paul Sass, Rita Ketterer, Agnes Bruck, Carrie Streble, Marie Ketterer, William Houghtaling, George Reis, Frank Leiry, Andrew Juhl, Walter Houghtaling, William Cole, Gertrude Disch, Dolorita Rist and Marie Reis.

When E. J. Dempsey became mayor of the city in 1927 following the death of Mayor Morris Block, he later resigned as alderman-at-large, and the Common Council at a special meeting elected Alderman C. Ray Everett of the Eleventh ward as head of the council.

This left a vacancy in the council which was filled on January 17, 1927, when Mayor Dempsey appointed Abram D. Relyea of Pine street to serve as alderman of the Eleventh ward.

There were two interesting events in January, 1907, the first being the presentation of the big show "Parada" in the old Kingston Opera House under the auspices of Wiltwyck Chapter, D. A. R. This proved one of the finest amateur entertainments ever staged in Kingston. The same month the congregation of the Wurts Street Baptist Church extended a call to the Rev. William Pringle to become pastor of the church.

The Rev. Mr. Pringle accepted the call and he served the church for a number of years. He became very active in the Citizen's League which sought to clean up conditions brought to Ulster county by the construction of the Ashokan reservoir.

Later Mr. Pringle became superintendent of the league, retiring from the ministry.

One of the most active men in the league who I recall was the late Dr. C. O. Sahler, who for years conducted the old Sahler Sanitarium on Wall street. Dr. Sahler was also active in the Ulster County Prohibition Party and for a number of years the annual party meetings were held in the sanitarium.

This brings the number of stars in the service flag to 10.

The Ladies Aid Society will hold a card party at the community hall in Ulster Park, October 15. The public is invited. Refreshments will be served and ice cream will be on sale. Proceeds will be added to the fund for a new church roof.

Boy Scouts in New South Wales undertook to make a five-mile climb with each piece of salvage when they agreed to bring in the valuable parts of a plane that crashed in a valley.

Facts About Newspapers

The first American newspapers were "news letters," usually published by postmaster who had an opportunity to learn first of news, sent in letters from other parts of the country.

During the World War I, "underground newspapers" published in Belgium proved one of the most important factors in fostering opposition to the German occupation.

When the first Congress assembled on March 4, 1789, it felt the need of a newspaper and ordered establishment of "The Gazette of the United States," earliest of a series of administrative organs.

Benjamin Franklin's famous cartoon, "Unite or Die," is said to be the first illustration to appear with reading matter in newspapers. Showing the need for union among the colonies, it appeared in 1754.

Horace Greeley, founder of the New York Tribune in 1841, has been called the "Father of American Journalism."

Many present-day newspapers were started in the nineteenth century as religious organs.

There are 51 daily newspapers issued in tabloid format in the United States.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 7—Relations between the United States and Soviet Russia are supposed to be on an intimate basis. And yet the world witnesses the unusual disclosure, through a press statement, that the head of the Russian government does not feel that the United States government has lived up to its obligations in the matter of war aid.

Candor on both sides is essential. What Premier Stalin has said is regarded as a sincere expression of his point of view. It is equally important that the American viewpoint be stated, and it is regrettable that our officials do not as yet see the wisdom of expressing their perplexity over the whole course of Russian-American relations.

For one thing, allies are supposed to trust one another and exchange information frankly. If there is hesitation, it gives ground for uneasiness. Perhaps the officials in Moscow do not realize the extent to which their hesitation to trust American officials has created an atmosphere of uncertainty and puzzlement. Perhaps the Russian government does not know how profoundly important Americans feel it to be that they know more than they do about the whole Russian military situation from Moscow to Vladivostok.

There is every determination here to send lend-and-lease aid to Russia just as there is every desire to send such aid to Britain. But the British tell the American officials what they want, when they want it and why they want it and they also tell us everything they can about military and naval operations so we can plan to be of the most effective aid.

The Russian government, doubtless for reasons that seem justified to it, has not exchanged information that would be as helpful as it might be. Thus our officials are very much in the dark about the whole Siberian area, which at any moment might be attacked by the Japanese, leaving the Alaskan area open to attack from Russian bases. Is this really the way allies should behave toward one another?

It is understandable why the Russian government wants a second front in western Europe but do the Russians understand how important a second front against the Japanese would be to our whole Pacific operation? Premier Stalin has publicly said that the American offensive in the Solomons has been beneficial to Russia by engaging the attention of large Japanese naval forces. If this reasoning is carried forward, wouldn't an American offensive that could rely on Russian bases be of even more help to the Russian people?

It is almost an open secret in Washington that our experts on the Board of Economic Warfare have had great difficulty in getting information about the Russians and their reserves or needs for raw materials. Large Russian armies are mobilized in Siberia. Are they being supplied directly from the United States across the Pacific, as they should be, or are the Russians carrying carloads of supplies across the lengthy trans-Siberian railroad?

Also it is important to find out whether the convoys which are going into Murmansk under such heavy risks and at such great sacrifices nowadays are being given sufficient protection by land-based planes in the Murmansk area from the Russian side. Both the American and British escort vessels would have much less to do and could probably aid in landing troops on a second front in France if they were not engaged in protecting the dangerous routes to Murmansk.

Doubtless there are good reasons for all these decisions, and it is a fact that Russian-American relations are growing more instead of less satisfactory every day. The intimacy that should prevail between allies is beginning to develop. But it is also a fact that much work remains to be done and there should be a clearing of the air as between officials even if it cannot be done yet between the peoples.

To put it another way, many Americans would like to see Russia open up a second front in Siberia now—next summer may be too late. It is considered by some expert observers that blows struck now would demoralize Japanese naval operations and assist indirectly an American offensive. But if the Russians decline for reasons analogous perhaps to those which are causing the British and American military leaders to hesitate about opening a second front now in France, it would be invaluable if an intimate exchange of views revealed to both Moscow and Washington the basic problems involved so that at least preparations could be made for certain contingencies that might arise if the enemy takes the initiative.

It has been announced that Admiral Standley, our ambassador to Russia, is coming home to report to President Roosevelt and that he is bringing his military and naval attaches with him. This is an encouraging sign, for when he goes back he may be able to take with him a large military and naval staff to coordinate Russian-American operations. They really need coordination and mutual explanation—not for the public necessarily—but for those otherwise concerned with vital decisions and plans.

Washington In Wartime

By Jack Stinnett

Washington — When Congress gets around to voting medals for this war, it ought to strike off one for one of its own—Sen. Prentiss M. Brown of St. Ignace, Mich.

Senator Brown turning his back on personal interests—perhaps his very political future—picked up the Administration's sword and carried it through what threatened to be the most bitter legislative fight since World War II started. Senator Brown was author and sponsor of the Administration-approved anti-inflation bill.

It was filled with political dynamite. It drew the fire of the powerful farm bloc, of which Senator Brown ordinarily is a member, and in which are many of his closest friends and associates. At its inception, there was no way of telling what repercussions it would have among the farm votes.

And Senator Brown, from the farm section of Micigan, the peninsula country, is facing reelection in November. His Republican opposition is Detroit's popular crusader against the rackets, Homer Ferguson. Senator Brown will need every farm vote he can get if he is to win. If he gave his personal interests a thought, it was not apparent in what he did or in what he said. He brought the Administration anti-inflation bill to the floor of the Senate. And he opened the debate on it in one of the most sincere and moving speeches that has been made in the Capitol chambers in months.

That Senator Brown knew what he was doing was apparent only in his solemn intensity throughout that speech. He faced the scowls of his friends. He pleaded in an atmosphere of tension that he could not help but feel. He took his colleagues by the collar and shook them and begged them to see the light.

It is said that no congressman's vote is ever changed by a speech. That is probably true. The legislative machinery just doesn't work that way. But the spadework that Senator Brown did in that address undoubtedly bore some fruit in the 82-0 vote by which his bill was finally passed.

In that long Thursday afternoon session, Brown didn't smile once. Even after adjournment, his face was clouded until in the halls a weather-beaten man walked up "to him and grasped his hand. "Senator, I'm a farmer, an Indiana corn and hog farmer, and by God I'm for you." It was then that Brown smiled.

Brown came to the Senate in 1936. He had served two terms in the House, before he ran for the Senate. He had been the Mackinac county prosecutor for 12-years. He had interests in banking and lake shipping.

Both in the house and senate he has been a quiet, genial fellow, given to hard work (he's a member of six committees and chairman of the committee on claims).

The anti-inflation measure is undoubtedly the most important piece of legislation he has sponsored. His handling of it proved his years here haven't been wasted.

Tom Mix's Tony, 40, Will Suffer No Longer

San Francisco, Calif., Oct. 7 (AP)—Tony hasn't much to live for, anyway.

Tony, you see, was an old, decrepit horse two years ago when his master died, and he hasn't taken much interest in life since. So today they're going to put him to death humanely, and that will be the last of the famous team—Tom Mix and Tony the horse—that thrilled uncounted thousands of movie-going youngsters, and adults, too, over a long span of years.

Tony is around 40 years old now, and had been living in retirement for quite a while when his master, the old western film star, was killed in an auto accident. That really was Tony's finish, also. He was entrusted to the care of Ivan D. Parker, friend of Mix, and lived the horse's version of the life of Riley, but it didn't seem to matter.

He hasn't eaten well, his rheumatism has grown upon him, and he's nearly blind. So today, Parker has reluctantly decided, will be the last for Tony.

Mix bought Tony, so the story goes, for $12 from a junk dealer. Mix used to credit the animal largely for his own rise to screen fame, which at its height saw the tea mearning $10,000 a week.

But now:

"It's a choice of seeing Tony's sufferings grow or putting him to rest," says Parker.

And who can say Tony hasn't earned his rest?

THANK "WE THE PEOPLE" FOR THIS

To the Axis nations the U. S. A. must seem a queer land. A land of inquiring reporters, of quiz programs, of vox pops. A land where people are free to think and say what they please, and actually to govern themselves. ✶ And greatest of the freedoms is that on which all American progress and strength is founded—free speech. Freedom to express one's own viewpoints, freedom to criticize one another, the freedom of a political campaign. ✶ It is from this most important of all freedoms that America draws its greatness and strength. Greatness which offers education and information to all the people. Strength which in peace promotes the welfare of all; and in war safeguards us with resourcefulness and ability which only an educated and informed people can possess.

City's Buildings Are Insured for Possible War Harm

Mayor William F. Edelmuth sent in a communication to the Common Council Tuesday night calling attention to the fact that all of the public buildings in the city had now been insured against war damage. The mayor said that policies in the sum of $644,000 had been placed on the public buildings and that the premium amounted to $579.60 which had been paid.

At the last meeting of the council the mayor had sent in a communication urging that such a step be taken and requesting the council to appropriate $800 for that purpose which was done.

The mayor wrote that balance of $220, was left of the $800 that had been appropriated.

The communication was filed.

Buyer Is Ahead When Buying Apples in Season

Ithaca—From fall until spring, at least one New York state apple of good quality is on the market. Marketing of the many different varieties of apples in their season of best flavor pays the grower and provides the consumer with fresh fruit over a long season, according to G. P. Scoville of the New York State College of Agriculture.

Studies of sales of apples by growers in all three major fruit areas of the state show that fall and early winter sales of McIntosh, Wealthy, Jonathan, and other early or midseason apples provide the best margin above costs.

Growers find it pays to store until spring only Northern Spy, Baldwin, Delicious and Rome Beauty apples, of the commercial varieties grown in the state. These apples ripen slowly, and keep their quality late in the storage season.

McIntosh apples sold in the fall and early winter usually bring a higher price than Baldwin apples. As they mature more quickly than Baldwin apples in ordinary refrigerated storage, they do not bring the higher price in the spring months.

McIntosh apples kept in controlled atmosphere storage, keep well into the spring months, but few storages of this kind have yet been built.

Slain in Theatre

Marian Oliver, 20, was beaten to death in the back-stage section of a New Brunswick, N. J., motion picture theatre, apparently while a large audience watched a film. Her nude body was thrown into a lot from the second story window at the rear of the building. John Swan, 26, powerful Negro porter, was charged with the slaying. The Middlesex county prosecutor said Swan had confessed killing her after she resisted his advances.

First Degree Charges Are Placed Against Two

New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—Two bewildered boys, stripped of arragance by a sudden burst of reality, were under indictment today on first degree murder charges in the slaying of a Brooklyn high school teacher.

Police said Joseph Annunziatta, 18, and Neil Simonelli, 16, confessed shooting Irwin Goodman last Friday after the teacher scolded them for smoking in a school washroom.

The youths were indicted yesterday by the Kings County grand jury, arraigned in county court and remanded to prison without bail when formal pleas of innocent were entered for them.

At their arraignment they appeared dazed until Judge John J. Fitzgerald told them "you are in serious trouble and if convicted you may forfeit your lives."

Asked if he had retained counsel, Annunziatta replied:

"I don't know what the word means."

The clerk then asked if he had hired a lawyer and the defendant said he had but wanted to "talk things over with my family first."

Thomas C. Hughes, acting district attorney, said he would try to move the case for trial within two weeks before a blue ribbon jury.

At the time of their arrest, the youths were dressed in "zoot suits," and bragged of their popularity with girls.

Trails Seen On Way Back

Pierre, S. D. (AP) — The war may return some of the romantic color to the old west. Old timers envision the return of cattle trails over which live stock will be driven to market or railroad sidings instead of being hauled in motor trucks. Roundup time next year will see possibly 40 per cent of the present motor carriers off the road unless new tires and parts are available, said Walter P. Cotton, South Dakota agricultural experiment station research worker, after a survey.

And so Mrs. Cotter met her brother after 58 years — even though during that time they lived only a few miles away. Maples had left home when a boy and had not returned.

Solution Of Yesterday's Puzzle

Women Head Chautauqua County DHIA Testers

Ithaca, N. Y. — Appointment of Miss Eileen Zahn as a dairy herd improvement tester in Chautauqua county makes this county D. H. I. A. association the first in New York to be staffed entirely by women.

Four women testers are now at work in the county, having taken the places of men called to armed service or to other work during the past year and one-half. They are: Lois Hoyle, who completed a year of dairy testing in June; Grace Saxton and Margaret Gustafson, who started work in July; and Miss Zahn.

All four women testers, along with five others working in other associations in the state, are graduates of a two-week refresher training course at the New York State College of Agriculture. Most of them had previous experience in testing milk in high school dairy courses or in milk plants.

Women testers are now working in the Cattaraugus, Steuben, Tompkins, Delaware and Onondaga county associations, as well as in Chautauqua county. Eight of the 13 graduates of the September 14 to 26 training courses given by G. W. Tailby of the college, were girls.

To train more women, as well as younger boys and older men, to take the place of young men who are fast leaving their jobs as dairy testers, the New York State College of Agriculture provides a two week course in dairy testing work every other month. Next scheduled school is for November 9 to 23.

The first railway opened in Scotland in 1812 was worked by horses.

The Seven Days Of Man

Our hero was the common sort,
when all is said and done,
He worked his head off daily and
was out to get the—Mon.
The reason for his diligence was commonplace, 'tis true—
He tried to swell his salary so
'twould suffice for—Tue.
And maybe that's the reason why
one day he lost his head,
And falling on his knees, he cried:
"Oh, maiden, wilt thou—Wed.
He may have thought this sudden,
but it seemed not so to her;
She lisped a quick acceptance and said emphatically, "Yeth,—Thur.
But when they went to keeping house he feared that he would die;
For, oh, that modern maiden
could neither bake nor—Fri.
She could not run a bungalow, or even run a flat,
So on many sad occasions in a restaurant they—Sat.
But he forgave her everything—
as man has always done—
When she presented to him one day a bouncing baby—Sun.

Liza—Waffo yo' sharp-ening dat razor, Rastus?

Rastus—Woman, there's a pair o' genmun's shoes under yore bed. Ef they ain't nobody in dem shoes, den Ah's gonna shave.

War Stamps are also another new thing thieves are stealing now. Keep your hands on them.

Brenda—I was waiting for a bus when a fellow walked up and kissed me!

Emily—The fresh thing! What did you say to him?

Brenda—What could I say? He was a total stranger to me.

It is just as important that householders enter into the blackout regulations as those engaged in enforcing them. Obey all orders promptly when the blackout is called so that it may be done smoothly if and when there is an actual air raid.

Joe—Did you hear about Pete? He drank some sulphuric acid by mistake!

Moe—Hurt him?

Joe—No, he said the only thing he noticed was that he made holes in his handkerchief every time he blew his nose.

Troubles of a father whose daughter is just beginning to have beaus were related to us the other day:

Father (confessing)—Darned if I know just how to act. If I'm over-friendly with him, I'm liable to lose my dignity and make him feel we are trying to pal-off the girl. And if I'm not dignified, I'm liable to be considered a stuffed-shirt, which I'm decidedly not.

Necessity is the spice of life.

Bachelor Bill—Marriage is like cafeteria service. You help yourself to what you think you want at the moment, and pay for it after you get it.

A small girl who was carrying a small baby was stopped by a social worker.

Social Worker—Isn't he a fine, big boy? What's his name?

Girl (indignantly)—It ain't a boy! Everybody thinks it is a boy!

Girl (hugging baby closer, saying soothingly)—They ain't got much opinion of you, have they?

We in this country have not yet begun to realize the sacrifices which we will have to make to win this war.

Judge (to man in court)—Have you ever been up before me?

Prisoner—I don't know, Judge, what time do you get up?

With the large crop of marriages now being harvested here, there must be a lot of amusing incidents connected with the honeymoons. We went to the railroad station the other day to see how the departing newlyweds were doing.

A young couple stepped up to the ticket window.

Young Man—One ticket to Detroit.

The Girl (tugging his arm)—Darling, aren't you forgetting something?

Young Man — Darned if I haven't. I have been so interested in you that I even forgot to buy a ticket for myself.

Once there was a woman driver who went to heaven—

She knocked off one of the gates going in.

The army officer was talking about bravery to his men:

Officer (addressing one of his men)—Now, Snodgrass, can you tell us the difference between caution and cowardice?

Snodgrass—Yes, sir. When I'm scared I'm cautious. When you're scared its cowardice.

No Hospital Was Ever Built Big Enough.

THOUGHTS / / / / Nowadays, if the lamb wanted to keep up with Mary, he'd have to walk in his sleep / / / / An ideal wife is one who worries more over her husband losing his appetite than she does over the loss of his job or his money / / / / Another reason why young folks don't stay home nights is that they are afraid to stay home alone / / / /

Many a genius has been slow of growth. Oaks that flourish for a thousand years do not spring up into beauty like a reed.

It is also embarrasing, we imagine, when the painted legs begin to run.

"Zip Your Lip" is how some American business firms are advising their workers to be silent on war movements. Zip YOUR Lip.

Customer—Have you a book called, "Man, the Master of Women?"

Sales Girl—The fiction department is on the other side, sir.

Native Grapes Stand Near Head as October Food

Ithaca—Grapes stand near the head of the list of native New York foods for October. Their natural flavor and sweetness adapt them to eating fresh and as juice, with little or no need to use sugar.

The Empire State grape crop this year is expected to be larger than in 1941, but still 9 per cent less than the average crop of the past five years.

A combination of several different kinds of grapes, washed, chilled, and arranged in a bowl makes a fall dessert that will suit many tastes, says the New York State College of Home Economics. Blue Concord grapes, red Catawbas, and white Niagaras are a good mixture. New York ranks third among the states in grape production, and is surpassed only by California and Michigan.

Grapes are excellent for quenching thirst, as they are more than 90 per cent water. Like apples and pears, they contain several minerals and vitamins.

To make grape juice sweet without sugar, use only fully ripened grapes, the college suggests. If the juice is not sweet enough, the sugar can be added when the juice is served.

Juice can be canned without boiling, by heating it to about 175 degrees, after it has been pressed from the cooked berries in a jelly bag. The full jars or bottles should then be processed 20 minutes, also at 175 degrees. Too much heat makes a bitter flavor in the juice.

Tartaric acid crystals form naturally in the juice after a time. To remove them, strain the juice after it is 3 or 4 months old and pasteurize it again.

WORLD HAS TWO PARTS

Moscow (AP)—A 15-year-old Russian boy who escaped from a German military school at Kharkov told a reporter for "Red Star" that a new German system of Geography is being taught Soviet youths. The boy said the Germans have divided the world into two parts—lands belonging to Germany and lands that will belong to Germany. The latter included what Nazi teachers referred to as "harmful America." Odessa, the boy reported, has been renamed "Antonescu." Russian youths from conquered territory are recruited for the schools which hope to train them for duty on the front, destroying mines, or in Africa.

Russian war prisoners building Nazi coastal defenses in Belgium have been slipped cigarettes, clothing and foodstuffs by the Belgians.

American Pilots Complete Month Against Japanese With Excellent Average

Headquarters Alaska Defense Command, Oct. 6 (Delayed) (AP)—American fighter pilots who never saw Japanese planes in the air before September 1 have finished their first month of combat against the Nipponese invaders with the remarkable average of 22 enemy planes downed for every American lost.

This figure was revealed today by Col. Phineas K. Morrill, commanding all fighter units in the Aleutian war.

Details of the 30 days of combat strengthen the theory that United States and Canadian pilots when given any kind of a break are more than a match for the Japanese.

Two pilots, First Lieut. Pat M. Deberry, Route 2, Austin, Tex., and Capt. Arthur T. Rice of Farmington, Utah, lead the list of successful airmen. They engaged in such out of the ordinary activities as chasing a company of Japs down a Kiska hillside to get in a burst of machinegun fire. Another time 14 enemy airmen jumped from burning planes at a 50 foot altitude under the guns of this group.

The two, not long out of flying school, ended the month with two Jap planes credited to each. Deberry got his when, with most of his guns overheated and jammed and with five shells left in his one remaining weapon, he blasted two Japanese float ships in a dogfight. He then flew home with his guns empty.

Rice took part in a September 28 raid in which he strafed ships and ground troops so thoroughly that he drew the enemy's anti-aircraft fire.

In answer to a question, he read parts of the sanitation code relating to the responsibility of health officers and local health boards, in securing the abatement of public nuisances that are a menace to health.

Ann Cassidy announced that all preparations had been made for the first Child Health Consultation to be held in the Town Hall, on Tuesday Oct. 13, from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. Miss Cassidy was glad to report that the help of the dental hygienist, Miss Rose Mantino, had been secured. All mothers of children under school age are urged to take advantage of these consultations which are free.

Miss Isabel Doughty read the announcement of the Annual Meeting of the Ulster County Nursing Committee to be held at the Stuyvesant Hotel, Kingston, October 28. There will be round table discussions in the morning, a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock, and in the afternoon, Dr. F. S. Shear and Dr. John Kingsbury will speak.

Helmut Leiner Is Indicted by Jury On Treason Charge

New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—A federal grand jury today returned an indictment charging treason against Helmut Leiner, 33, Queens gardener and German citizen, one of five New Yorkers arrested for allegedly aiding eight submarine-landed Nazi saboteurs on the United States coast last June.

Conviction under the indictment carries a possible death penalty.

Leiner, the second of three alleged aides to be charged with treason, was born in Germany, came to the United States in 1929 and has been a member of the Nazi party since 1928, U. S. Attorney Mathias F. Correa said.

The other man under indictment on a charge of treason is Anthony Cramer, of Manhattan.

Today's indictment charged that Leiner aided Edward John Kerling and Werner Thiel, two of six Nazi spies executed after a court martial in Washington recently. Kerling and Thiel landed on the Florida coast.

Reign of Terror Begun by Nazis

Ten Norwegians Are Slain and 700 Are Held by Secret Police

London, Oct. 7 (AP)—Nazi Commissioner Josef Terboven and new contingents of the German secret police enforced a reign of terror in the Norwegian province of Trondheim today after executing 10 prominent Norwegians and arresting an estimated 700 more in an effort to stem a rising tide of sabotage, reports to Scandinavian circles here said.

A state of emergency has been proclaimed in Trondheim and a coastal strip 400 miles long. Terboven announced severe punishment would follow the slightest insubordination. Terboven had been in Trondheim only a few hours yesterday when a Nazi firing squad claimed the lives of the first ten victims.

Among those executed, Stockholm dispatches said, were Henry Greditsch, well known theatre manager; Harald Langhelle, city councilman and Social Democratic editor; and Per Lykke, shipowner.

Norwegian circles here said a bank director, two lawyers, a civil engineer and a building contractor also were among those executed. The property of all the victims was confiscated. All were said to be from Trondheim, Roeros and Orkanger.

"They seem to have come down and haphazardly picked out prominent citizens and shot them as a form of intimidation of the population," the Norwegian Telegraph Agency here said. Norwegian government quarters said the official German report of the shooting claimed the "men were shot as an atonement" for several acts of sabotage.

None of the men was under arrest, accused of any specific crime or even held as a hostage, these sources said.

Announcing that the new measures were instituted to "break the sabotage threatening the country's supply system," Terboven was reported to have declared:

"My generosity is finished. Nothing will change my uncompromising decision to smash the enemy's manipulations and provocations."

The tide of resentment against German domination swept little Denmark into the storm and Danish sources here expressed the fear the nation would vanish soon into a German federation of North Sea countries.

Stockholm dispatches to a London newspaper said the Germans had demanded from King Christian X control of the Danish police and key posts in the ministry of justice. Other reports said the Danes had declined a German invitation to become a "model state" in a Nazi Europe.

Mead Says U. S. Gains Against Subs

Senator Andrews Remarks Navy's Out on Top

Miami, Fla., Oct. 7 (AP)—Senator James M. Mead (D-NY) asserted today that the United States Navy is "gaining very rapidly on the submarine menace" and his colleague, Senator Charles O. Andrews, (D-Fla) observed that this nation's Navy has not lost a battle in the war.

They made their statements while in Miami to observe trials for two gnat-sized craft submitted by the nation's small boat industry for possible use by the Navy for submarine chaser work. Mead is a member of the general appropriations committee, the Truman committee to probe the war effort, and the small business committee. Andrews is a member of the Naval affairs committee.

"I am very proud of the way the Navy has handled everything since Pearl Harbor," said Senator Andrews. "We now have a unity of command, a wonderful synchronization of the air force, the surface Navy and the Army."

Both Senators, agreed that the war picture looks better today than it ever has.

"The submarine menace is diminishing," said Senator Mead. "We are gaining on them very rapidly, and soon will combat them on even terms."

Rear Admiral David M. Le Breton, chief of the Navy's board of inspection and survey, witnessed the test of the two minature subchasers, which dropped depth charges, fired machine guns and cavorted on the Atlantic off Miami Beach. He reserved his opinion until further studies could be made.

The boats were built in Miami by the National Boat Builders' Association and Forest E. Johnson boat yard, and represents small yards' hopes of playing a major part in the war effort.

Tommy's to Wed Again

New Rochelle, N. Y., Oct. 7 (AP)—Tommy Manville has intentions again. Twenty-year-old actress Wilhelmina (Billy) Boze of Andrews, S. C., showed up with the 48-year-old marriage slip knot champion at the office of City Clerk Charles U. Combes and obtained a license today. She's Tommy's third announced choice for bride No. 6. Instead of the customary jewels and orchids from the dean of night clubs, the blonde actress sported a fistful of war bonds. The wedding, Manville said, was set for 4:30 p. m. Sunday in Tommy's pagoda-like premium point estate with Mayor Stanley W. Church officiating. The bride-elect said she had attended Mary Baldwin College, Staunton, Va., and Duke University.

Mrs. Lorina Craig, of Brighton, England, who was 101 when she died last February, left her $36,500 estate to her daughter, Constance Craig.

Mayor Vetoes Two Council Proposals

Council by a one member majority, when Dorr E. Monroe resigned as alderman of the Eighth Ward and Mayor Edelmuth appointed Leonard Miller of Wurts street, a Democrat, to the post.

This was the second ordinance that the aldermen had adopted in regard to leasing property owned by the city, and both had been vetoed by the mayor, but no action had been taken on the first veto, since it was tabled at a recent meeting of the council, and a similar ordinance had been introduced by Alderman Monroe.

This ordinance designed to take away from the Board of Public Works the authority to award concessions in the public parks to the highest bidders and place it in the hands of the council was introduced by the Republican majority of the council during the summer months when action taken by the city authorities had left the fate of holding the annual Ulster county fair in the balance.

The fair authorities had been notified that the custom of selling refreshments on the fair grounds would not be permitted this year, and only the man holding the concession in Forsyth Park would be allowed to sell refreshments the day of the annual fair.

The officials of the fair on being so notified promptly called a meeting of the directors to discuss whether the fair should be held or not, which led the city authorities to back step on the proposition and notify the fair officials that they could proceed as in other years.

The Lenihan resolution was also twice introduced and after the first veto of the mayor the aldermen introduced a new resolution "recommending that the salary of July he paid the alderman as a moral obligation."

Alderman Lenihan joined the armed forces in June of this year.

Mayor Edelmuth in his veto last night said that the resolution set forth it was a "moral obligation" but as yet no one had attempted to explain what "the moral obligation was."

Alderman Black moved that the council adopt "the mayor's recommendations."

Alderman Zucca of the First Ward said that "the city is not giving anything away by paying Lenihan his July salary as the money was in the budget."

Alderman Black contended that the mayor was right and that the city had no legal authority to pay the Lenihan salary.

The council then, by a vote of 7 to 6 voted to sustain the mayor's vetoes. The seven Democratic aldermen voted as a bloc as did the six Republican aldermen in opposing the mayor's vetoes.

Snow Removal Cost Given as $10,341.58

Kingston's snow removal bill for the winter of 1941-42 amounted to $10,341.58, it was revealed in a claim filed by the Board of Public Works, which was accepted by the Common Council Tuesday night, and the money ordered raised by issuing a certificate of indebtedness.

For several years it has been the custom to place the sum of $1,000 in the annual budget for snow removal purposes, and that after the final costs of snow removal had been ascertained at the close of the winter season the board would be reimbursed for any sum they had expended in excess of the thousand dollars.

The claim filed last night amounted to $9,341.58.

Willkie Calls Upon Allies For an All-Out Offensive

to wonder where our boasted production has gone. It is only natural for them to wonder how much longer they will have to eat like children at the second table."

Willkie issued his statement only a few hours after he had an unprecedented six-hour conference with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, his fourth meeting with the Chinese leader.

China and Russia, his statement declared, have each "contributed to the defeat of the Axis aggressors some 5,000,000 of their finest men in casualties."

"Each has engaged and held with heroic tenacity powerful and ruthless enemies. It is both just and wise for us to see to it that they secure an equitable share of our arms production."

Willkie said a clear and simple statement should be made assuring the people of Asia that the present war means "an end to the empire of nations over other nations."

Willkie returned to the generalissimo's home for a fifth conference today after his morning press conference.

Willkie's visit coincided with a freak heat spell and the big American has probably suffered more than anyone else since he has been without question the busiest man here.

A young official of the Chungking foreign office attached to Willkie's staff for the duration of his visit gasped when he walked into Willkie's room and found him sitting naked at his desk, writing out his statement for the press, perspiration streaming from his face.

Chinese newspapers again filled their columns with news about Willkie and Ta Kung Pao expressed the hope that after seeing the Chinese front Willkie would "cry for help for China so an attack can be made against Burma."

"It would be even more appropriate to advocate utilization of the winter vacation on the Soviet front for an attack on Japan," the paper said.

Crewmen of the 32,581-ton liner Columbus, once a West Indies cruise ship, scuttled the vessel off Virginia to avoid capture by the British destroyer Hyperion, robbing the Reich of its third biggest cargo ship and destroying $2,000,000 worth of goods.

The two latest seizures of German merchantmen—the Uruguayan capture of the Tacoma, once fueler for the Graf Spee, and the British interception of the Wartenfels at Diego Suarez after her crew tried to dynamite her—raised to 56 the announced number of captured Nazi ships, a total of 316,420 tons.

Aside from seizures, Hitler lost 42 merchantmen by scuttling; 35 to surface warships; 32 to submarines; 15 to aircraft; 14 in explosions of mines; and 24 under varied circumstances, including blackout crashes.

Senate Rejects LaFollette's Plan

Rejection Comes After Taft Statement Taxation Might Lose War

Washington, Oct. 7 (AP) — The Senate rejected today a proposal by Senator LaFollette (Prog-Wis) to boost corporation taxes $219,000,000 yearly by increasing normal and surtax rates to a combined total of 50 per cent.

It acted after LaFollette's proposal provoked an assertion by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) that too stiff taxation would destroy initiative and "might wreck the success of the war."

Taft took the floor after LaFollette had charge that the Senate finance committee, which he termed "conservative," had produced a revenue bill which placed "an unfair and dangerous share of the increased tax burden upon lower income groups."

The LaFollette proposal was to increase the combined rate of normal and surtaxes to 50 per cent on corporations with net incomes in excess of $25,000. The House had fixed a scale of 45 per cent on corporations earning more than $50,000 and the Senate committee lowered this to 40 per cent.

Taft told the Senate that the pending bill proposed to take about $9,000,000,000 in taxes out of a corporation net income of $17,000,000,000 for the year, but would take only about $10,000,000,000 out of the $95,000,000,000 gross annual income of individuals.

He said the finance committee had been advised that 155 of the leading corporations of the country would pay 73 per cent of their net incomes in taxes under rates approved by the House. These corporations had 2,408,000 stockholders and paid 47 per cent of their dividends to persons with incomes of less than $5,000 a year, Vandenberg added.

A Guide to the Correct use of Various Coal Sizes

EGG	Heaters with Firepots not less than 24" in dia., at least 16" deep.
STOVE	Heaters with Firepots not less than 16" wide and 12" deep.
CHEST-NUT	Heaters with Firepots 10" to 16" deep and up to 20" in diameter.
PEA	Ideal for Water Heaters and Kitchen Ranges. Can often be substituted for Chestnut and Stove.

Use the right size of coal, as each size of coal is prepared to perform at its best in certain sizes of heating plants. Your D&H Dealer will advise you Avoid wasteful overheating and underheating. Use accurate thermostat or manual control to ensure a uniform temperature at all times.

Keep the ash pit clean. A clean ash pit improves the draft and operation of your heater and lengthens the life of the grates

Shake grates gently. Stop shaking when a red glow appears in the ash pit to prevent unburned coal dropping into the ash pit.

Use the red spot method of firing. The exposed live coals convert the natural gases arising from the fresh coal into useful heat Put ENOUGH coal on the fire. A deep fire bed reduces fuel consumption, lengthens the time between firing periods and reduces heater attention.

Fireplace flues should be tightly closed when not in operation. Doors leading to the bedrooms should be closed when windows are open.

Heat losses can be reduced by the application of insulation, weather stripping and the closing of all unnecessary openings

Insulate the boiler and pipes. Insulation improves the operation of the boiler and serves to reduce heat loss.

Cut off unused rooms by turning off the radiator. This will increase the radiation and heating capacity of your furnace and reduce fuel consumption.

Burn D&H Anthracite. It is superior due to inherent characteristics. Careful, scientific preparation is your guarantee of obtaining higher quality coal.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 7, 1942.

FIRE PREVENTION

Kingston's fire loss for 1941 was $20,886 out of a national total of $303,895,000, according to figures released by the National Fire Protection Association in calling attention to the importance of Fire Prevention Week, which is now being observed. There were 406 fire alarms and 166 building fires in this city, the report discloses.

The country's rising loss shows an increase of $6,539,000 during the first half of 1942 compared with the same period of 1941. Fire safety experts claim that this increase is neither inevitable nor excusable on the basis of rising industrial activity. It is pointed out that cities which have observed Fire Prevention Week in the past report a 45.3 per cent reduction in fire losses during that week, the preceding week and the week following, indicating that a continuous program of fire safety education would greatly reduce fire losses throughout the year.

Fire safety education, which is taking the lead in the Fire Prevention Week observance this year involves two ideas—fire prevention and fire control. Fire prevention means eliminating fire hazards by such means as cleaning up rubbish and repairing defective heating and electrical equipment. Fire control, on the other hand, means knowing what to do when a fire breaks out.

Winter will soon be on its way, bringing with it some of the greatest fire hazards, which are responsible for thousands of deaths and the destruction of millions of dollars worth of property. And these hazards can be corrected.

Winter hazard number one is your heating plant. Before long it will be subjected to maximum load. Any defect, any weakness, may result in a disastrous fire. This is true of furnaces, stoves, fireplaces and everything which has to do with creating and conveying heat. A qualified repairman will do the job now, which may save a life, a home or a factory.

Another hazard is exposed electric wiring. Cords fray, and fixtures get out of whack. Here again a qualified mechanic could do the job now.

Every citizen should continue to increase his efforts to prevent fire for by so doing he is truly playing a vital part in the war effort.

THRIFT

Foreigners used to criticize American vastefulness, and with some justice. So bountiful have been this country's resources hat it was easy to throw away or only half se them, saying, "There's plenty more vhere that came from." The movement for he conservation of natural wealth, which bean in the early part of the century and with hich public figures like Gifford Pinchot of ennsylvania are associated, arose out of a eaction against this attitude. It saved valable raw materials which today the nation profoundly glad to have.

Now lavishness of any sort is out. Americans are learning to look carefully at every ctivity, every use of materials, every exendiiure. They are learning a new thrift. he country is coming to an ideal motto for ese trying days: "Do without!"

WASTE AND IDLENESS

A reporter for The Seattle Times got a b in a shipyard near Seattle, and after two eeks of observation reported that there was great deal of idleness. Men were not emoyed at full capacity, but had plenty of me to visit friends in various parts of the rd, to do over again work which had been one before, to look busy by poring over ueprints of which the workman knew nothg, to mill around the exit gates several mines before closing time.

These are serious indictments, especially the reporter declared that he was connced the condition was not local—that it isted in other shipyards in Puget Sound d in the shipyards of Oregon and Calirnia. Also that it existed in other war instries, not only on the Pacific Coast but sewhere in the United States.

There are times, of course, when yards d factories are kept waiting for necessary rts. In these circumstances perhaps men who frankly play checkers cannot be criticized. They are ready to go ahead with the work at any moment. Top notch management, however, might be able to devise useful work to fill such interims.

Two things about such waste become appalling. One is the deterioration of character of the men themselves, idle and cheating their country. The other is the waste of lives on battlefronts because needed materials do not arrive in time.

U. S. troops have occupied the islands where Darwin decided that men and monkeys are brothers under the skin. Whaddayo know about that?

An American jail reports a stock of 15,000 pounds of coffee. Better be careful; foreigners will be coming over and trying to break in.

Statesmanship seems to be a game in which both sides are allowed to brag that they got what they wanted.

"Show us here the mettle of your pasture," said King Richard. Huh! He should see our farm boys bringing in the iron.

HEART DISEASE

It is interesting to see how our various health agencies tackle the various health problems one by one, and, sometimes rapidly and other times slowly, achieve such gratifying results.

It is not more than thirty years since the problem of tuberculosis occupied the minds and energies of health departments and the battle has been now won.

Once it was realized that tuberculosis, so widespread yet everywhere concentrated among poor people, was largely the responsibility of health departments, constructive steps were taken, one after another, by health officers and physicians so that within one generation tuberculosis institutions can accommodate more patients than apply.

It is with the above picture of the conquering of tuberculosis in mind, that the Metropolitan Insurance Company, in its information service, points out the need for a similar campaign against the ravages of heart disease.

"Heart disease is the country's outstanding medical problem today and will become increasingly serious as increasing number of people, owing to gradually lowering death rate, reach the advanced ages when heart disease is more common." A joining of forces by the private physician and the public health officer, which served so well to put down tuberculosis, is necessary if similar results are to be obtained."

How can heart disease be prevented? What can physicians and health agencies do about heart disease?

"Public health agencies must now intensify their preventive efforts against rheumatic fever and syphilis which are most important causes of heart disease in children and young adults." Also the problem of proper handling of the large number of cases of chronic heart disease in older persons must be worked out. Many of these useful lives can be prolonged.

Most of us can do our share in preventing heart disease by plenty of bed rest during and after an illness, and by the removal of infected tonsils, teeth, gall bladder, or other infection, in ourselves or our family.

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

The play "The Old Dairy Homestead" was presented on January 20, 1927, under the auspices of the Immanuel Mixed Choir of the Livingston Street Lutheran Church, and proved one of the most entertaining amateur performances presented here in some time.

Among the members of the cast were W. J. C. Buddenhagen, Charles Petri, Jr., George C. Bode, Charles Petri, Sr., Albert Studt, Mildred Thiel, Betty Ehnes, Frances Wiedeman and Freda Ehnes.

I also recall that on January 17 and 18, 1927, St. Peter's Dramatic Circle presented with great success the play "A Full House" in St. Peter's Hall.

In the cast were Paul Sass, Rita Ketterer, Agnes Bruck, Carrie Streble, Marie Ketterer, William Houghtaling, George Reis, Frank Leiry, Andrew Juhl, Walter Houghtaling, William Cole, Gertrude Disch, Dolorita Rist and Marie Reis.

When E. J. Dempsey became mayor of the city in 1927 following the death of Mayor Morris Block, he later resigned as alderman-at-large, and the Common Council at a special meeting elected Alderman C. Ray Everett of the Eleventh ward as head of the council.

This left a vacancy in the council which was filled on January 17, 1927, when Mayor Dempsey appointed Abram D. Relyea of Pine street to serve as alderman of the Eleventh ward.

There were two interesting events in January, 1907, the first being the presentation of the big show "Parada" in the old Kingston Opera House under the auspices of Wiltwyck Chapter, D. A. R. This proved one of the finest amateur entertainments ever staged in Kingston. The same month the congregation of the Wurts Street Baptist Church extended a call to the Rev. William Pringle to become pastor of the church.

The Rev. Mr. Pringle accepted the call and he served the church for a number of years. He became very active in the Citizen's League which sought to clean up conditions brought to Ulster county by the construction of the Ashokan reservoir.

Later Mr. Pringle became superintendent of the league, retiring from the ministry.

One of the most active men in the league who I recall was the late Dr. C. O. Sahler, who for years conducted the old Sahler Sanitarium on Wall street. Dr. Sahler was also active in the Ulster County Prohibition Party and for a number of years the annual party meetings were held in the sanitarium.

Facts About Newspapers

The first American newspapers were "news letters," usually published by postmaster who had an opportunity to learn first of news, sent in letters from other parts of the country.

During the World War I, "underground newspapers" published in Belgium proved one of the most important factors in fostering opposition to the German occupation.

When the first Congress assembled on March 4, 1789, it felt the need of a newspaper and ordered establishment of "The Gazette of the United States," earliest of a series of administrative organs.

Many present-day newspapers were started in the nineteenth century as religious organs.

There are 51 daily newspapers issued in tabloid format in the United States.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 7—Relations between the United States and Soviet Russia are supposed to be on an intimate basis. And yet the world witnesses the unusual disclosure, through a press statement, that the head of the Russian government does not feel that the United States government has lived up to its obligations in the matter of war aid.

Candor on both sides is essential. What Premier Stalin has said is regarded as a sincere expression of his point of view. It is equally important that the American viewpoint be stated, and it is regrettable that our officials do not as yet see the wisdom of expressing their perplexity over the whole course of Russian-American relations.

For one thing, allies are supposed to trust one another and exchange information frankly. If there is hesitation, it gives ground for uneasiness. Perhaps the officials in Moscow do not realize the extent to which their hesitation to trust American officials has created an atmosphere of uncertainty and puzzlement. Perhaps the Russian government does not know how profoundly important Americans feel it to be that they know more than they do about the whole Russian military situation from Moscow to Vladivostok.

There is every determination here to send lend-and-lease aid to Russia just as there is every desire to send such aid to Britain. But the British tell the American officials what they want, when they want it and why they want it and they also tell us everything they can about military and naval operations so we can plan to be of the most effective aid.

The Russian government, doubtless for reasons that seem justified to it, has not exchanged information that would be as helpful as it might be. Thus our officials are very much in the dark about the whole Siberian area, which at any moment might be attacked by the Japanese, leaving the Alaskan area open to attack from Russian bases. Is this really the way allies should behave toward one another?

It is understandable why the Russian government wants a second front in western Europe but do the Russians understand how important a second front against the Japanese would be to our whole Pacific operation? Premier Stalin has publicly said that the American offensive in the Solomons has been beneficial to Russia by engaging the attention of large Japanese naval forces. If this reasoning is carried forward, wouldn't an American offensive that could rely on Russian bases be of even more help to the Russian people?

It is almost an open secret in Washington that our experts on the Board of Economic Warfare have had great difficulty in getting information about the Russians and their reserves or needs for raw materials. Large Russian armies are mobilized in Siberia. Are they being supplied directly from the United States across the Pacific, as they should be, or are the Russians carrying carloads of supplies across the lengthy trans-Siberian railroad?

Also it is important to find out whether the convoys which are going into Murmansk under such heavy risks and at such great sacrifices nowadays are being given sufficient protection by land-based planes in the Murmansk area from the Russian side. Both the American and British escort vessels would have much less to do and could probably aid in landing troops on a second front in France if they were not engaged in protecting the dangerous routes to Murmansk.

Doubtless there are good reasons for all these decisions, and it is a fact that Russian-American relations are growing more instead of less satisfactory every day. The intimacy that should prevail between allies is beginning to develop. But it is also a fact that much work remains to be done and there should be a clearing of the air as between officials even if it cannot be done yet between the peoples.

To put it another way, many Americans would like to see Russia open up a second front in Siberia now—next summer may be too late. It is considered by some expert observers that blows struck now would demoralize Japanese naval operations and assist indirectly an American offensive. But if the Russians decline for reasons analogous perhaps to those which are causing the British and American military leaders to hesitate about opening a second front now in France, it would be invaluable if an intimate exchange of views revealed to both Moscow and Washington the basic problems involved so that at least preparations could be made for certain contingencies that might arise if the enemy takes the initiative.

It has been announced that Admiral Standley, our ambassador to Russia, is coming home to report to President Roosevelt and that he is bringing his military and naval attaches with him. This is an encouraging sign, for when he goes back he may be able to take with him a large military and naval staff to coordinate Russian-American operations. They really need coordination and mutual explanation—not for the public necessarily—but for those otherwise concerned with vital decisions and plans.

Washington In Wartime

By Jack Stinnett

Washington — When Congress gets around to voting medals for this war, it ought to strike off one for one of its own—Sen. Prentiss M. Brown of St. Ignace, Mich.

Senator Brown turning his back on personal interests—perhaps his very political future—picked up the Administration's sword and carried it through what threatened to be the most bitter legislative fight since World War II started. Senator Brown was author and sponsor of the Administration-approved anti-inflation bill.

It was filled with political dynamite. It drew the fire of the powerful farm bloc, of which Senator Brown ordinarily is a member, and in which are many of his closest friends and associates. At its inception, there was no way of telling what repercussions it would have among the farm votes.

And Senator Brown, from the farm section of Michigan, the peninsula country, is facing re-election in November. His Republican opposition is Detroit's popular crusader against the rackets, Homer Ferguson. Senator Brown will need every farm vote he can get if he is to win. If he gave his personal interests a thought, it was not apparent in what he did or in what he said. He brought the Administration anti-inflation bill to the floor of the Senate. And he opened the debate on it in one of the most sincere and moving speeches that has been made in the Capitol chambers in months.

That Senator Brown knew what he was doing was apparent only in his solemn intensity throughout that speech. He faced the scowls of his friends. He pleaded in an atmosphere of tension that he could not help but feel. He took his colleagues by the collar and shook them and begged them to see the light.

It is said that no congressman's vote is ever changed by a speech. That is probably true. The legislative machinery just doesn't work that way. But the spadework that Senator Brown did in that address undoubtedly bore some fruit in the 82-0 vote by which his bill was finally passed.

In that long Thursday afternoon session, Brown didn't smile once. Even after adjournment, his face was clouded until in the halls a weather-beaten man walked up to him and grasped his hand. "Senator, I'm a farmer, an Indiana corn and hog farmer, and by God I'm for you." It was then that Brown smiled.

Brown came to the Senate in 1935. He had served two terms in the House, before he ran for the Senate. He had been the Mackinac county prosecutor for 12 years. He had interests in banking and lake shipping.

Both in the house and senate he has been a quiet, genial fellow, given to hard work (he's a member of six committees and chairman of the committee on claims).

The anti-inflation measure is undoubtedly the most important piece of legislation he has sponsored. His handling of it proved his years here haven't been wasted.

MOUNTAINS OF SCRAP
WILL SAVE
THOUSANDS OF LIVES!

Stockpiles like this are needed all over the country so that our Government can plan our armament program — and our mills and plants can deliver the fighting tools!

Get in on the drive that starts today. Get the unused metal out of your cellar, your attic, your garage, your place of business. Without this scrap the Nation's steel mills must shut down, for all new steel is 50% scrap, and the mills have not enough for even 30 days more.

And one more thing. Help to stop the story — spread by innocents and ill-wishers alike — that there is lots of scrap already on hand. They point to junk yards, auto graveyards, and salvage depots that have not been cleaned out, as proof that there is no shortage. KILL THIS TALK BEFORE IT KILLS OUR BOYS!

WHOSE BOY
WILL DIE BECAUSE YOU FAILED ?

In spite of the terrible lack of scrap, here is why you may still find full junk yards and scrap depots — and why they must be kept that way!

Remember if these places become empty, the mills shut down — and we lose the war!

1. All scrap must be sorted, stripped, and broken up by scrap dealers before it can be used. Their yards are full because they are busy—preparing your scrap for the mills as fast as they possibly can!

2. Auto graveyards strip autos, keep the usable parts and junk the rest—turning out 450,000 tons of scrap in a typical month. Each must scrap within 60 days as many cars as he buys—that is the law!

3. Scrap collections sometimes have to stay around because the dealers can't handle them all immediately. Even if they could, the mills could not store it all. The local salvage depot is a stockpile—where your scrap is available for instant use as soon as it's needed. And it will be needed!

So get out your scrap and help your neighbors with theirs. It's the greatest single contribution you can make right now to win the war!

Good Taste Today

FRILLS ON CHOP BONES

The frill on a lamb chop is solely "for looks" intended to hide a bare ugly bone. This answers a man who asks:

"Doesn't the frill on a lamb chop mean that it is permissible to pick the chop up after most of the meat has been eaten off with the knife and fork? My wife says no, but I think that is why some farsighted person invented the frills in the first place. No one can deny—not even my wife—that the best morsels are the bites nearest the bones."

The best bites are nearest the chicken's bones too, but good table manners do not permit "Picking bones" at table. How much you care about good manners which prevent full enjoyment of flavors—with lapses permitted only at picnics—is a question that must be asked of you.

Unimportant Mistakes

Dear Mrs. Post: When I sent out my wedding announcements some weeks ago, I did not address the second envelope because I thought this was only done on the second envelopes of the wedding invitations. Evidently I made a mistake in having the tissue paper over the engraving?

Answer: Both mistakes are unimportant. The second envelope should have had Mr. and Mrs. Smith or Miss Smith and nothing more, and if the ink was hard and dry then the tissue papers should be taken out. On the other hand, in damp climates or if the ink has not had time to dry, papers are necessarily left in—so this last was perhaps not a mistake.

A Toast to the Bride and Groom

Dear Mrs. Post: When those at the bridal table drink a toast to the bride and bridegroom, does the bridegroom as well as the bride remain seated? If so, as I believe you have said they do, then why is it proper for the bridegroom to remain seated when the ladies at the table rise?

Answer: When the toast is drunk to the bride, the bridegroom rises. When the toast is drunk to them together, then they both remain seated. One never rises when a toast is being drunk to oneself.

What To Call Father

Dear Mrs. Post: My mother would like to know the correct way to refer to my father when she is talking to my friends. My friends are in their teens if that makes any difference.

Answer: "My husband" to those who are grown. But if she is talking to boys and girls in their lower mid-teens, it would be proper to say "Mr. Jones."

Tom Mix's Tony, 40, Will Suffer No Longer

San Francisco, Calif., Oct. 7 (AP)—Tony hasn't much to live for, anyway.

Tony, you see, was an old, decrepit horse two years ago when his master died, and he hasn't taken much interest in life since. So today they're going to put him to death humanely, and that will be the last of the famous team—Tom Mix and Tony the horse—that thrilled uncounted thousands of movie-going youngsters, and adults, too, over a long span of years.

Tony is around 40 years old now, and had been living in retirement for quite a while when his master, the old western film star, was killed in an auto accident. That really was Tony's finish, also. He was entrusted to the care of Ivan D. Parker, friend of Mix, and lived the horse's version of the life of Riley, but it didn't seem to matter.

He hasn't eaten well, his rheumatism has grown upon him, and he's nearly blind. So today, Parker has reluctantly decided, will be the last for Tony.

Mix bought Tony, so the story goes, for $12 from a junk dealer. Mix used to credit the animal largely for his own rise to screen fame, which at its height saw the tea mearning $10,000 a week.

But now:

"It's a choice of seeing Tony's sufferings grow or putting him to rest," says Parker.

And who can say Tony hasn't earned his rest?

DOG LOVERS HAVE LICENSE NUMBERS

Baltimore (AP)—The guy who pays extra coin to get auto license number TM203 because the letters are his initials and the numerals his house number has his counterparts among dog lovers.

License officials report numbers 1 and 2 have been going to the same dogs for years. Other pet numbers that adorn the same old pooches are 711—after the galloping dominoes; 14—in defiance of all superstition, and 23 — perhaps a hangover from the "23 skidoo" days in football.

City's Buildings Are Insured for Possible War Harm

Mayor William F. Edelmuth sent in a communication to the Common Council Tuesday night calling attention to the fact that all of the public buildings in the city had now been insured against war damage. The mayor said that policies in the sum of $644,000 had been placed on the public buildings and that the premium amounted to $579.60 which had been paid.

At the last meeting of the council the mayor had sent in a communication urging that such a step be taken and requesting the council to appropriate $800 for that purpose which was done.

The mayor wrote that balance of $220, was left of the $800 that had been appropriated.

The communication was filed.

Buyer Is Ahead When Buying Apples in Season

Ithaca—From fall until spring, at least one New York state apple of good quality is on the market. Marketing of the many different varieties of apples in their season of best flavor pays the grower and provides the consumer with fresh fruit over a long season, according to G. P. Scoville of the New York State College of Agriculture.

Studies of sales of apples by growers in all three major fruit areas of the state show that fall and early winter sales of McIntosh, Wealthy, Jonathan, and other early or midseason apples provide the best margin above costs.

Growers find it pays to store until spring only Northern Spy, Baldwin, Delicious and Rome Beauty apples, of the commercial varieties grown in the state. These apples ripen slowly, and keep their quality late in the storage season.

McIntosh apples sold in the fall and early winter usually bring a higher price than Baldwin apples. As they mature more quickly than Baldwin apples in ordinary refrigerated storage, they do not bring the higher price in the spring months.

McIntosh apples kept in controlled atmosphere storage, keep well into the spring months, but few storages of this kind have yet been built.

Leonardtown, Md. (AP) — The name is St. Nickolas Roman Catholic Church, but for the duration it will serve Catholic and Protestant Navy men alike. To produce authentic atmosphere for both religious groups, the Navy constructed and installed a revolving altar—one half of it Catholic, the other half Protestant.

Slain in Theatre

Marian Oliver, 20, was beaten to death in the back-stage section of a New Brunswick, N. J., motion picture theatre, apparently while a large audience watched a film. Her nude body was thrown into a lot from the second story window at the rear of the building. John Swan, 26, powerful Negro porter, was charged with the slaying. The Middlesex county prosecutor said Swan had confessed killing her after she resisted his advances.

First Degree Charges Are Placed Against Two

New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—Two bewildered boys, stripped of arragance by a sudden burst of reality, were under indictment today on first degree murder charges in the slaying of a Brooklyn high school teacher.

Police said Joseph Annunziatta, 18, and Neil Simonelli, 16, confessed shooting Irwin Goodman last Friday after the teacher scolded them for smoking in a school washroom.

The youths were indicted yesterday by the Kings County grand jury, arraigned in county court and remanded to prison without bail when formal pleas of innocent were entered for them.

At their arraignment they appeared dazed until Judge John J. Fitzgerald told them "you are in serious trouble and if convicted you may forfeit your lives."

Asked if he had retained counsel, Annunziatta replied:

"I don't know what the word means."

The clerk then asked if he had hired a lawyer and the defendant said he had but wanted to "talk things over with my family first."

Thomas C. Hughes, acting district attorney, said he would try to move the case for trial within two weeks before a blue ribbon jury.

At the time of their arrest, the youths were dressed in "zoot suits," and bragged of their popularity with girls.

Spain has electrified the narrow-guage railway line from Calahorra to Amedo, inoperative since 1935, and it will again serve a district producing cereals, sugar beets, and wine.

Trails Seen On Way Back

Pierre, S. D. (AP) — The war may return some of the romantic color to the old west. Old timers envision the return of cattle trails over which live stock will be driven to market or railroad sidings instead of being hauled in motor trucks. Roundup time next year will see possibly 40 per cent of the present motor carriers off the road unless new tires and parts are available, said Walter P. Colton, South Dakota agricultural experiment station research worker, after a survey.

THANK "WE THE PEOPLE" FOR THIS
To the Axis nations the U. S. A. must seem a queer land. A land of inquiring reporters, of quiz programs, of vox pops. A land where people are free to think and say what they please, and actually to govern themselves. ✶ And greatest of the freedoms is that on which all American progress and strength is founded—free speech. Freedom to express one's own viewpoints, freedom to criticize one another, the freedom of a political campaign. ✶ It is from this most important of all freedoms that America draws its greatness and strength. Greatness which offers education and information to all the people. Strength which in peace promotes the welfare of all; and in war safeguards us with resourcefulness and ability which only an educated and informed people can possess.

Scrap-Pile Parts Save Tons of Steel for War

Ithaca, N. Y. — Farmers who remove parts from old farm machines before turning them in for scrap are saving the nation tons of new steel and other metal.

Most farm machines wear out in certain parts first, says C. N. Turner of the New York State College of Agriculture, and the farmer who keeps on hand duplicate parts that are removed from machines past use can assure longer trouble-free operation to his present equipment, if parts are interchangeable.

Parts from plows, mowers, harrows, sprayers, grain binders, trucks and tractors and potato diggers are much in demand, he says. Kept on the home farm, or used on the equipment owned by a neighbor or farm machinery dealer, the parts from scrapped machines are saving many times their weight in new metal that would otherwise be demanded by farmers in the form of new parts or entire new machines.

Angle iron, flat strip-iron, and nuts and bolts that are easy to remove from old machines are also proving their value on the farms instead of on the scrap piles. Many farmers use this metal to put together home-made wooden equipment, such as a buck rake, that can save the metal needed for a hayloader and a wagon.

Women Head Chautauqua County DHIA Testers

Ithaca, N. Y. — Appointment of Miss Eileen Zahn as a dairy herd improvement tester in Chautauqua county makes this county D. H. I. A. association the first in New York to be staffed entirely by women.

Four women testers are now at work in the county, having taken the places of men called to armed service or to other work during the past year and one-half. They are: Lois Hoyle, who completed a year of dairy testing in June; Grace Saxton and Margaret Gustafson, who started work in July; and Miss Zahn.

All four women testers, along with five others working in other associations in the state, are graduates of a two-week refresher training course at the New York State College of Agriculture. Most of them had previous experience in testing milk in high school dairy courses or in milk plants.

Women testers are now working in the Cattaraugus, Steuben, Tompkins, Delaware and Onondaga county associations, as well as in Chautauqua county. Eight of the 13 graduates of the September 14 to 26 training courses given by G. W. Tailby of the college, were girls.

To train more women, as well as younger boys and older men, to take the place of young men who are fast leaving their jobs as dairy testers, the New York State College of Agriculture provides a two week course in dairy testing work every other month. Next scheduled school is for November 9 to 23.

The Seven Days Of Man

Our hero was the common sort,
when all is said and done,
He worked his head off daily and
was out to get the—Mon.
The reason for his diligence was commonplace, 'tis true—
He tried to swell his salary so
'twould suffice for—Tue.
And maybe that's the reason why
one day he lost his head,
And falling on his knees, he cried:
"Oh, maiden, wilt thou—Wed.
He may have thought this sudden,
but it seemed not so to her;
She lisped a quick acceptance and said emphatically, "Yeth,—Thur.
But when they went to keeping house he feared that he would die;
For, oh, that modern maiden
could neither bake nor—Fri.
She could not run a bungalow, or
even run a flat,
So on many sad occasions in a restaurant they—Sat.
But he forgave her everything—
as man has always done—
When she presented to him one day a bouncing baby—Sun.

Liza—Waffo yo' sharp-ening dat razor, Rastus?

Rastus—Woman, there's a pair o' genmun's shoes under yore bed. Ef they ain't nobody in dem shoes, den Ah's gonna shave.

War Stamps are also another new thing thieves are stealing now. Keep your hands on them.

Brenda—I was waiting for a bus when a fellow walked up and kissed me!

Emily—The fresh thing! What did you say to him?

Brenda—What could I say? He was a total stranger to me.

It is just as important that householders enter into the blackout regulations as those engaged in enforcing them. Obey all orders promptly when the blackout is called so that it may be done smoothly if and when there is an actual air raid.

Joe—Did you hear about Pete? He drank some sulphuric acid by mistake!

Moe—Hurt him?

Joe—No, he said the only thing he noticed was that he made holes in his handkerchief every time he blew his nose.

Troubles of a father whose daughter is just beginning to have beaus were related to us the other day:

Father (confessing)—Darned if I know just how to act. If I'm over-friendly with him, I'm liable to lose my dignity and make him feel we are trying to pal-off the girl. And if I'm not dignified, I'm liable to be considered a stuffed-shirt, which I'm decidedly not.

Necessity is the spice of life.

Bachelor Bill—Marriage is like cafeteria service. You help yourself to what you think you want at the moment, and pay for it after you get it.

A small girl who was carrying a small baby was stopped by a social worker.

Social Worker—Isn't he a fine, big boy? What's his name?

Girl (indignantly)—It ain't a boy! Everybody thinks it is a boy!

Girl (hugging baby closer, saying soothingly)—They ain't got much opinion of you, have they?

We in this country have not yet begun to realize the sacrifices which we will have to make to win this war.

Judge (to man in court)—Have you ever been up before me?

Prisoner—I don't know, Judge, what time do you get up?

With the large crop of marriages now being harvested here, there must be a lot of amusing incidents connected with the honeymoons. We went to the railroad station the other day to see how the departing newlyweds were doing.

A young couple stepped up to the ticket window.

Young Man—One ticket to Detroit.

The Girl (tugging his arm)—Darling, aren't you forgetting something?

Young Man — Darned if I haven't. I have been so interested in you that I even forgot to buy a ticket for myself.

Once there was a woman driver who went to heaven—

She knocked off one of the gates going in.

The army officer was talking about bravery to his men:

Officer (addressing one of his men)—Now, Snodgrass, can you tell us the difference between caution and cowardice?

Snodgrass—Yes, sir. When I'm scared I'm cautious. When you're scared its cowardice.

Many a genius has been slow of growth. Oaks that flourish for a thousand years do not spring up into beauty like a reed.

It is also embarrassing, we imagine, when the painted legs begin to run.

"Zip Your Lip" is how some American business firms are advising their workers to be silent on war movements. Zip YOUR Lip.

Customer—Have you a book called, "Man, the Master of Women?"

Native Grapes Stand Near Head as October Food

Ithaca—Grapes stand near the head of the list of native New York foods for October. Their natural flavor and sweetness adapt them to eating fresh and as juice, with little or no need to use sugar.

The Empire State grape crop this year is expected to be larger than in 1941, but still 9 per cent less than the average crop of the past five years.

A combination of several different kinds of grapes, washed, chilled, and arranged in a bowl makes a fall dessert that will suit many tastes, says the New York State College of Home Economics. Blue Concord grapes, red Catawbas, and white Niagaras are a good mixture. New York ranks third among the states in grape production, and is surpassed only by California and Michigan.

Grapes are excellent for quenching thirst, as they are more than 90 per cent water. Like apples and pears, they contain several minerals and vitamins.

To make grape juice sweet without sugar, use only fully ripened grapes, the college suggests. If the juice is not sweet enough, the sugar can be added when the juice is served.

Juice can be canned without boiling, by heating it to about 175 degrees, after it has been pressed from the cooked berries in a jelly bag. The full jars or bottles should then be processed 20 minutes, also at 175 degrees. Too much heat makes a bitter flavor in the juice.

Tartaric acid crystals form naturally in the juice after a time. To remove them, strain the juice after it is 3 or 4 months old and pasteurize it again.

WORLD HAS TWO PARTS

Moscow (AP)—A 15-year-old Russian boy who escaped from a German military school at Kharkov told a reporter for "Red Star" that a new German system of Geography is being taught Soviet youths. The boy said the Germans have divided the world into two parts—lands belonging to Germany and lands that will belong to Germany. The latter included what Nazi teachers referred to as "harmful America." Odessa, the boy reported, has been renamed "Antonescu." Russian youths from conquered territory are recruited for the schools which hope to train them for duty on the front, destroying mines, or in Africa.

Russian war prisoners building Nazi coastal defenses in Belgium have been slipped cigarettes, clothing and foodstuffs by the Belgians.

Teachers' College News

President Talks

Dr. van den Berg announced last week at the Freshman Forum the possibility that an accelerated program might be offered to this class. The reason for this would be to aid the men of the class to complete their college course before being called into service. This course would consist of three years of regular work and three summer sessions of eight weeks each. Each of the latter would credit the student with 10 hours work, totaling 30 hours credit altogether. These credits, combined with the 96 given for the regular three years' work, would give the requirements for graduation. This would take place at the end of the third summer.

There would be no extra fee charged for the summer sessions. However, there would be the regular fees for room and board. More definite plans concerning this program will be announced at a later date.

Inter-Sorority Meets

The Inter-Sorority Council met Monday afternoon and discussed matters relative to the coming rush period. Conflict parties will be held in the respective sorority houses this year in accordance with war conservation. No sorority member is permitted to visit a freshman house and no freshman may enter a sorority house except during their designated rush period.

Instruments on Display

Jesse Phillips Robertson displayed his collection of ancient musical instruments during the assembly program last week. The collection of instruments were mostly reproductions or originals excavated from ancient civilizations. Some were the flute, silver trumpet, cymbols, twinkling cymbols. Mr. Robertson sang native songs.

Social Evening Planned

The Music Association starts the new semester by holding a social evening tonight (October 6) in the school auditorium. All people eligible for membership are invited. Officers of the association are Evelyn Bardsley, president; Jean Rogers, vice president; Ruth Bergman, secretary, and Helen Randall, treasurer. During the year the association will put on several Lyceum programs as well as its annual spring concert.

Lecture Is Planned

Martin De Muth, artist, lecturer, was scheduled to speak on the topic, "Our Allies," in the assembly Tuesday morning (October 6). Ten trips around the world, visiting all of the countries which are included in the United Nations and studying the characteristics of their people, have provided Mr. De Muth with an insight into the people who are fighting for democracy's cause around the globe.

He is a graduate of the Arts Students League of New York and the California School of Fine Arts and also studied at the University of California and Columbia.

Will Publish Directory

From President Wayne Van Tassel of Delta Kappa Fraternity comes the news that the annual Student Directory will be published. Each year the Directory is given to each college student and each member of the faculty with the compliments of Delta Kappa Fraternity. Included in the Directory are the names of each student his boarding house, the telphone of the house and his home. Other useful facts contained in the Bible of the telephone table, are: The names, positions, and telephone numbers, street address of each faculty member.

Contributions Necessary

Although Delta Kappa Fraternity writes, compiles and publishes the Directory, it is made possible only by the contributions of the Sororities and its advertisers.

Each year the Directory is dedicated to a member of the faculty. Last year's Directory was dedicated to Mr. Charles Huntington. The dedication of this year's Directory will be announced when the Directory is released for use.

Dedication Listed

In the past the Directory has been dedicated to Dr. Lawrence H. van den Berg, Miss Emily Z. Liebergeld, Mr. Edgar Beebe, Mr. Benjamin Matteson, Miss Ilene Compton, Dr. Ronald G. Will, Mr. Richard Rhoades, and Mr. Charles Huntington. The first Kappa Directory was published in 1935. Publishing a Directory by the Delta Kappa Fraternity is considered a national function by the organization. Each chapter of the fraternity, whether located in Buffalo State Teachers College, Oswego State Teachers College, or elsewhere is responsible to the fraternity.

Book Club Meets

"Book Club" will meet at Miss Ruth M. Haven's home Tuesday evening, October 13.

Mr. Evans an artist living in one of the "old stone houses" on Huguenot Street will speak on the topic, "First Editions."

Book Club is an organization open to all students interested. The group meets every two weeks to discuss modern literature. Club funds are utilized to purchase new books voted by the club members. After these editions have been read by Book Club members they are presented to the library.

Help In Canning

Pick, peel, scrub, cut, cook, wash cans that were donated by interested townspeople, and in general, assist with the canning of nearly 175 cans of tomatoes and apples, marked the afternoon and evening activities of more than 50 different individuals associated with a community idea of preserving good products for the future.

Miss G. Barbara Pfaff, associated with the English Department was organizer of the affair, however she was assisted by several other members of the faculty, including Miss Ruth Bennett, Miss Marion H. Harding, Miss Edith Holt, Miss Jessie Prisch, Miss Gertrude Thompson, and Miss Mary Ellen Rich. All of these members of the staff aided and supervised the picking and the canning activities. Not only did the faculty help but there were also interested townspeople who fostered an early interest in the projects. Mrs. Thompson and Miss Dorothy Brown were included in this group.

Food for Needy

The purpose for doing all of the canning was to provide extra food for those of the Practice School populace who will need it next winter. This activity is one that is very similar to the doings of the Community Chest as a functional program.

Both the students and faculty met in the Kitchen of the Practice School on four different occasions to learn and practice the process of canning. Due to the efforts of these individuals there are now 68 quarts of tomato juice and about 80 quarts of apple sauce.

In conceiving the idea Miss Plaff's first problem was to receive permission for the college students to pick a large field of tomatoes that was going to waste because of the lack of sufficient labor. Mr. Arthur Kurtz, who owned the 7-acre tomato patch that was mentioned above, very graciously consented to allow the college students to carry out his enterprise and to pick the tomatoes on the patch. After getting the tomatoes and securing help to can them the next problem on the floor was to obtain cans to preserve the tomatoes in for safe keeping. Miss Elizabeth LeFevre, who is the editor of The Independent, the local paper placed a notice in last week's paper asking for contribution by the townspeople of the glass cans. The many community-minded townspeople donated liberally many cans. With all of this help the faculty and students incorporated the raw material into a usable finished product.

New Faculty Member

The opening of the new college term has brought with it a new faculty member, Miss Mary J. Kelly, of the English Department.

Miss Kelly, who did her undergraduate work at the College of the Lady of Good Council at White Plains, received her Masters Degree at New York University.

Before coming to New Paltz, Miss Kelly was principal of the Union Grove School. She was also one of the original members of the Newburgh Civic Theatre Group.

Recently, Miss Kelly became a charter member of A. W. V. S. in Newburgh and was chairman of the committee, which was to outline the material to be included in the various courses, such as the First Aid Course.

Miss Kelly was also a member of the Newburgh Night Schools faculty, teaching dramatics.

Farewell Party Planned

Questions, answers, guesses, a round of dancing, frolicking and feasting will mark the first Delta Kappa House Party of the year, this coming Saturday night. Joseph Mosher, a member of the class of 1945 is the chairman of the affair. Miss Rebecca McKenna and Mrs. Charlotte Taylor will attend as the honored guests.

"Questioning" is Theme

"Question. Who knows the answer?" is the theme of the party and will serve as the main attraction throughout the evening. This social occasion h[illegible] at the Kappa House will [illegible] farewell party for such Kap[illegible]en of past year as James C[illegible]ran, George Manolakes, F[illegible] Mulroy, and Elmer Pelh[illegible]. All of these men will leave shortly to participate in far wider circles than New Paltz now offers. As well as being a farewell party it is a welcoming party for the male members of the Freshmen Class, who will also be the guests of the Delta Kappa Fraternity.

Committees Listed

William Burns has been delegated to act as culinary expert to prepare the food, while Louis Christensen has been chosen to provide the entertainment and act as Master of Ceremonies. Lester Parkes has been placed in charge of decorations. Chop Carroll is to be responsible for the "after the party doings."

A statement from the fraternity and house are prepared to keep the honorary guests and guests guessing throughout the course of the evening.

Dr. Will Is Named

At the June meeting of the General Synod of the Dutch Reformed Church of America, Dr. Roland G. Will was made a member of the Board of Education.

The Board of Education has charge of higher education, missionary schools and the publications of the Reformed Church of America. Such schools as Central College and Hope College in Holland, Michigan and missionary schools in Tennessee, Kentucky and a normal school in Alabama are in this group. He was elected member of the execution committee of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

This organization at the present time is intensely interested in and active in its program for a just and durable peace. In pursuance of this aim, it will hold its Bi-Annual meeting in Cleveland, Ohio, from September 8 to 12. Dr. Will is a delegate to that meeting.

Slight Changes Are Seen In Monthly Price Levels

Albany — Prices received by New York farmers for principal farm products on September 15 were not far from August 15 levels. Prices of corn, oats, barley, and buckwheat declined slightly, while potatoes dropped 20 cents per bushel and apples dropped 10 cents. Live hogs declined 15 cents per 100 pounds and beef cattle dropped 10 cents per hundred weight. Dry beans, hay, horses, sheep, and wool remained without price change, while a slight increase took place in wheat. Live chickens for meat increased about 1 cent per pound, while eggs increased 4 cents per dozen, farm-churned butter 2 cents per pound, veal calves 80 cents per 100 pounds and lambs 35 cents per 100 pounds. Milk cows were higher by about $10 each. Milk, with September prices not yet available, was no doubt somewhat higher than in August. Both milk and eggs normally have a pronounced seasonal swing in prices from a spring and early summer low to a fall and early winter high, the exact amount of this varying from year to year.

Compared to a year earlier, however, the September 1942 listed farm prices in New York were higher, with few exceptions, according to a federal-state report issued from the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets. For example, corn had advanced 8 cents per bushel in the year, barley 5 cents per bushel buckwheat 15 cents per bushel, potatoes 20 cents per bushel, apples 25 cents per bushel. Horses gained $15 per head and milk cows $43 per head in the 12-month period. Live hogs increased nearly 3 cents per pound, chickens 3.6 cents, beef cattle (live) 2.6 cents per pound, sheep 0.9 cents per pound, and live lambs 2.9 cents per pound. Wool was 3 cents per pound higher than a year ago.

On the other hand, dry beans dropped 81 cents a bushel in the year and hay declined $2.80 per ton.

Wanta Start Something? It's the Right Year!

Wide World Features

Numerologists may be able to find something significant, on this anniversary of Columbus Day, in this coincidence:

This year marks the sixth time in the Christian era that the combination of numbers 1, 9, 4 and 2 has occurred. Each of the six years marked a beginning of a great historical event:

1249—Louis IX (St. Louis) of France started the seventh crusade, capturing Damietta in Egypt.

1294—King Edward I planned Britain's first Parliament.

1492—Columbus discovered the rim of a new world.

1924—Stalin succeeded at Lenin's death in Russian political leadership; Hitler was imprisoned and began "Mein Kampf."

1942—? ? ?

After this year we'll have to wait until 2149 beofre somebody will have to figure all this out again.

Jewelry for Fighting Men

Wide World Features

If you're thinking of a gift of jewelry for your favorite soldier, sailor or marine, better check up on regulations as to what Uncle Sam permits him to wear. Here's the list:

For a Navy officer, you may buy: Gold cuff links or a seven-piece dress set (including waistcoat buttons) of plain gold; a huge gold belt buckle; a waterproof watch (this comes first on the Navy gift preference list) or a simple ring. Any gems in the ring should be dark blue sapphires (the traditional sea color) or a small, flat diamond in modern cut—no flash!

For an Army officer, you may buy: Gold dress set of seven pieces in a design which looks like oversized shoe buttons; gold sleeve links; plain gold waterproof wrist watch, or ring. A good choice for the Army officer's ring is one of the new brown diamonds, now called khaki brown, set in a plain yellow gold setting.

For any man in any branch of the service you may buy a rodinized silver wrist identification tag which doesn't tarnish, a watch, a windproof cigarette lighter or a pen.

Officers, by tradition, wear everything real. A Navy officer wears 20 pieces of insignia not counting the brass buttons, pays around $25 for them.

Jewelry gifts may have the Army, Navy or Marine insignia but for service men overseas regimental insignia is banned.

If your soldier gets home on leave, here's a gift for the toe of his Christmas sock: A little ten-cent bottle of colorless nail polish with which to coat all his brass buttons and braid; keeps them from tarnishing. The Navy boys discovered this one.

A POUND OF SCRAP MAKES TWO POUNDS OF FIGHTING WEAPONS

A crisis exists in our war production program which can be solved only by the patriotic cooperation of you, you and YOU.

Our country is faced with a serious shortage of steel scrap, rubber, and other vital materials. For instance, the steel industry operates on a basis of half-and-half—about 50 per cent new metal, and 50 per cent remelted scrap metal. Unless the mills get this scrap, many of them may be obliged to cease operation.

The Nation needs our scrap . . . desperately . . . right now! What are we waiting for?

American Pilots Complete Month Against Japanese With Excellent Average

Headquarters Alaska Defense Command, Oct. 6 (Delayed) (AP)—American fighter pilots who never saw Japanese planes in the air before September 1 have finished their first month of combat against the Nipponese invaders with the remarkable average of 22 enemy planes downed for every American lost.

This figure was revealed today by Col. Phineus K. Morrill, commanding all fighter units in the Aleutian war.

Details of the 30 days of combat strengthen the theory that United States and Canadian pilots when given any kind of a break are more than a match for the Japanese.

Two pilots, First Lieut. Pat M. Deberry, Route 2, Austin, Tex., and Capt. Arthur T. Rice of Farmington, Utah, lead the list of successful airmen. They engaged in such out of the ordinary activities as chasing a company of Japs down a Kiska hillside to get in a burst of machinegun fire. Another time 14 enemy airmen jumped from burning planes at a 50 foot altitude under the guns of this group.

The two, not long out of flying school, ended the month with two Jap planes credited to each. Deberry got his when, with most of his guns overheated and jammed and with five shells left in his one remaining weapon, he blasted two Japanese float ships in a dogfight. He then flew home with his guns empty.

Rice took part in a September 28 raid in which he strafed ships and ground troops so thoroughly that he drew the enemy's anti-aircraft fire.

Helmut Leiner Is Indicted by Jury On Treason Charge

New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—A federal grand jury today returned an indictment charging treason against Helmut Leiner, 33, Queens gardener and German citizen, one of five New Yorkers arrested for allegedly aiding eight submarine-landed Nazi saboteurs on the United States coast last June.

Conviction under the indictment carries a possible death penalty.

Leiner, the second of three alleged aides to be charged with treason, was born in Germany, came to the United States in 1929 and has been a member of the Nazi party since 1928, U. S. Attorney Mathias F. Correa said.

The other man under indictment on a charge of treason is Anthony Cramer, of Manhattan.

Today's indictment charged that Leiner aided Edward John Kerling and Werner Thiel, two of six Nazi spies executed after a court martial in Washington recently. Kerling and Thiel landed on the Florida coast.

Reign of Terror Begun by Nazis

Ten Norwegians Are Slain and 700 Are Held by Secret Police

London, Oct. 7 (AP)—Nazi Commissioner Josef Terboven and new contingents of the German secret police enforced a reign of terror in the Norwegian province of Trondheim today after executing 10 prominent Norwegians and arresting an estimated 700 more in an effort to stem a rising tide of sabotage, reports to Scandinavian circles here said.

A state of emergency has been proclaimed in Trondheim and a coastal strip 400 miles long. Terboven announced severe punishment would follow the slightest insubordination. Terboven had been in Trondheim only a few hours yesterday when a Nazi firing squad claimed the lives of the first ten victims.

Among those executed, Stockholm dispatches said, were Henry Greditsch, well known theatre manager; Harald Langhelle, city councilman and Social Democratic editor; and Per Lykke, shipowner.

Norwegian circles here said a bank director, two lawyers, a civil engineer and a building contractor also were among those executed. The property of all the victims was confiscated. All were said to be from Trondheim, Roeros and Orkanger.

"They seem to have come down and haphazardly picked out prominent citizens and shot them as a form of intimidation of the population," the Norwegian Telegraph Agency here said. Norwegian government quarters said the official German report of the shooting claimed the "men were shot as an atonement" for several acts of sabotage.

None of the men was under arrest, accused of any specific crime or even held as a hostage, these sources said.

Announcing that the new measures were instituted to "break the sabotage threatening the country's supply system," Terboven was reported to have declared:

"My generosity is finished. Nothing will change my uncompromising decision to smash the enemy's manipulations and provocations."

The tide of resentment against German domination swept little Denmark into the storm and Danish sources here expressed the fear the nation would vanish soon into a German federation of North Sea countries.

Stockholm dispatches to a London newspaper said the Germans had demanded from King Christian X control of the Danish police and key posts in the ministry of justice. Other reports said the Danes had declined a German invitation to become a "model state" in a Nazi Europe.

Mead Says U. S. Gains Against Subs

Senator Andrews Remarks Navy's Out on Top

Miami, Fla., Oct. 7 (AP)—Senator James M. Mead (D-NY) asserted today that the United States Navy is "gaining very rapidly on the submarine menace" and his colleague, Senator Charles O. Andrews, (D-Fla) observed that this nation's Navy has not lost a battle in the war.

They made their statements while in Miami to observe trials for two gnat-sized craft submitted by the nation's small boat industry for possible use by the Navy for submarine chaser work. Mead is a member of the general appropriations committee, the Truman committee to probe the war effort, and the small business committee. Andrews is a member of the Naval affairs committee.

"I am very proud of the way the Navy has handled everything since Pearl Harbor," said Senator Andrews. "We now have a unity of command, a wonderful synchronization of the air force, the surface Navy and the Army."

Both Senators agreed that the war picture looks better today than it ever has.

"The submarine menace is diminishing," said Senator Mead. "We are gaining on them very rapidly, and soon will combat them on even terms."

Rear Admiral David M. Le Breton, chief of the Navy's board of inspection and survey, witnessed the test of the two minature subchasers, which dropped depth charges, fired machine guns and cavorted on the Atlantic off Miami Beach. He reserved his opinion until further studies could be made.

The boats were built in Miami by the National Boat Builders' Association and Forest E. Johnson boat yard, and represents small yards' hopes of playing a major part in the war effort.

Tommy's to Wed Again

New Rochelle, N. Y., Oct. 7 (AP)—Tommy Manville has intentions again. Twenty-year-old actress Wilhelmina (Billy) Boze of Andrews, S. C., showed up with the 48-year-old marriage slip knot champion at the office of City Clerk Charles U. Combes and obtained a license today. She's Tommy's third announced choice for bride No. 6. Instead of the customary jewels and orchids from the dean of night clubs, the blonde actress sported a fistful of war bonds. The wedding, Manville said, was set for 4:30 p. m. Sunday in Tommy's pagoda-like premium point estate with Mayor Stanley W. Church officiating. The bride-elect said she had attended Mary Baldwin College, Staunton, Va., and Duke University.

Mrs. Lorina Craig, of Brighton, England, who was 101 when she died last February, left her $36,500 estate to her daughter, Constance Craig.

Mayor Vetoes Two Council Proposals

Council by a one member majority, when Dorr E. Monroe resigned as alderman of the Eighth Ward and Mayor Edelmuth appointed Leonard Miller of Wurts street, a Democrat, to the post.

This was the second ordinance that the aldermen had adopted in regard to leasing property owned by the city, and both had been vetoed by the mayor, but no action had been taken on the first veto, since it was tabled at a recent meeting of the council, and a similar ordinance had been introduced by Alderman Monroe.

This ordinance designed to take away from the Board of Public Works the authority to award concessions in the public parks to the highest bidders and place it in the hands of the council was introduced by the Republican majority of the council during the summer months when action taken by the city authorities had left the fate of holding the annual Ulster county fair in the balance.

The fair authorities had been notified that the custom of selling refreshments on the fair grounds would not be permitted this year, and only the man holding the concession in Forsyth Park would be allowed to sell refreshments the day of the annual fair.

The officials of the fair on being so notified promptly called a meeting of the directors to discuss whether the fair should be held or not, which led the city authorities to back step on the proposition and notify the fair officials that they could proceed as in other years.

The Lenihan resolution was also twice introduced and after the first veto of the mayor the aldermen introduced a new resolution "recommending that the salary of July he paid the alderman as a moral obligation."

Alderman Lenihan joined the armed forces in June of this year.

Mayor Edelmuth in his veto last night said that the resolution set forth it was a "moral obligation" but as yet no one had attempted to explain what "the moral obligation was."

Alderman Black moved that the council adopt "the mayor's recommendations."

Alderman Zucca of the First Ward said that "the city is not giving anything away by paying Lenihan his July salary as the money was in the budget."

Alderman Black contended that the mayor was right and that the city had no legal authority to pay the Lenihan salary.

The council then, by a vote of 7 to 6 voted to sustain the mayor's vetoes. The seven Democratic aldermen voted as a bloc as did the six Republican aldermen in opposing the mayor's vetoes.

Snow Removal Cost Given as $10,341.58

Kingston's snow removal bill for the winter of 1941-42 amounted to $10,341.58, it was revealed in a claim filed by the Board of Public Works, which was accepted by the Common Council Tuesday night, and the money ordered raised by issuing a certificate of indebtedness.

For several years it has been the custom to place the sum of $1,000 in the annual budget for snow removal purposes, and that after the final costs of snow removal had been ascertained at the close of the winter season the board would be reimbursed for any sum they had expended in excess of the thousand dollars.

The claim filed last night amounted to $9,341.58.

Willkie Calls Upon Allies For an All-Out Offensive

to wonder where our boasted production has gone. It is only natural for them to wonder how much longer they will have to eat like children at the second table."

Willkie issued his statement only a few hours after he had an unprecedented six-hour conference with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, his fourth meeting with the Chinese leader.

China and Russia, his statement declared, have each "contributed to the defeat of the Axis aggressors some 5,000,000 of their finest men in casualties."

"Each has engaged and held with heroic tenacity powerful and ruthless enemies. It is both just and wise for us to see to it that they secure an equitable share of our arms production."

Willkie said a clear and simple statement should be made assuring the people of Asia that the present war means "an end to the empire of nations over other nations."

Willkie returned to the generalissimo's home for a fifth conference today after his morning press conference.

Willkie's visit coincided with a freak heat spell and the big American has probably suffered more than anyone else since he has been without question the busiest man here.

A young official of the Chungking foreign office attached to Willkie's staff for the duration of his visit gasped when he walked into Willkie's room and found him sitting naked at his desk, writing out his statement for the press, perspiration streaming from his face.

Chinese newspapers again filled their columns with news about Willkie and Ta Kung Pao expressed the hope that after seeing the Chinese front Willkie would "cry for help for China so an attack can be made against Burma."

"It would be even more appropriate to advocate utilization of the winter vacation on the Soviet front for an attack on Japan," the paper said.

Crewmen of the 32,581-ton liner Columbus, once a West Indies cruise ship, scuttled the vessel off Virginia to avoid capture by the British destroyer Hyperion, robbing the Reich of its third biggest cargo ship and destroying $2,000,000 worth of goods.

The two latest seizures of German merchantmen—the Uruguayan capture of the Tacoma, once fueler for the Graf Spee, and the British interception of the Wartenfels at Diego Suarez after her crew tried to dynamite her—raised to 56 the announced number of captured Nazi ships, a total of 316,420 tons.

Aside from seizures, Hitler lost 42 merchantmen by scuttling; 35 to surface warships; 32 to submarines; 15 to aircraft; 14 in explosions of mines; and 24 under varied circumstances, including blackout crashes.

Senate Rejects LaFollette's Plan

Rejection Comes After Taft Statement Taxation Might Lose War

Washington, Oct. 7 (AP) — The Senate rejected today a proposal by Senator LaFollette (Prog-Wis) to boost corporation taxes $219,000,000 yearly by increasing normal and surtax rates to a combined total of 50 per cent.

It acted after LaFollette's proposal provoked an assertion by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) that too stiff taxation would destroy initiative and "might wreck the success of the war."

Taft took the floor after LaFollette had charge that the Senate finance committee, which he termed "conservative," had produced a revenue bill which placed "an unfair and dangerous share of the increased tax burden upon lower income groups."

The LaFollette proposal was to increase the combined rate of normal and surtaxes to 50 per cent on corporations with net incomes in excess of $25,000. The House had fixed a scale of 45 per cent on corporations earning more than $50,000 and the Senate committee lowered this to 40 per cent.

Taft told the Senate that the pending bill proposed to take about $9,000,000,000 in taxes out of a corporation net income of $17,000,000,000 for the year, but would take only about $10,000,000,000 out of the $95,000,000,000 gross annual income of individuals.

He said the finance committee had been advised that 155 of the leading corporations of the country would pay 73 per cent of their net incomes in taxes under rates approved by the House. These corporations had 2,408,000 stockholders and paid 47 per cent of their dividends to persons with incomes of less than $5,000 a year, Vandenberg added.

radwell Urges All-Out Support By Local Lions

aying an official visit as Dis-ict Governor to the Kingston ions Club at the Governor Clin-n Hotel Tuesday, Charles E. radwell of Woodstock urged the oup to coordinate their commun-y service efforts in such a man-er that they will be of maximum d in the civilian participation in e war program.

"Never was time and circum-ances more opportune" he said, for Lions club members who re-ain in the civilian ranks to be-ome leaders in the civilian de-ense effort and thereby justify heir existence as a service or-anization.

"At the present time," he con-inued, "about ten per cent of the ountry's population is working as olunteers to protect their com-munities in air raids and to overcome the multitude of new com-munity problems which have sprung from our war effort. In fact today they are carrying the burden for the other 90 per cent who make up our civilian population.

"But 10 per cent will never win this war. Our nation must have 100 per cent participation and then that 'just a little more' which free men always seem able to give when they know that their freedom is in peril. This war is not a spectacle for our people. It is a fight for the survival of our people and it will not be won except by our people—all of them.

"Keeping fit is no longer a personal matter, it is an obligation to the nation. Good health at home send out more courage and confidence to the men at the front, produces more munitions. Good health builds good blood and good blood donated to a plasma center is a gift of strength direct from your heart to that of the man wounded in battle.

"Facts are bullets on the home front. Well informed skeptical people are the armored forces operating against Axis propaganda. It is their duty to know and recognize the Axis 'line' and to encounter it in daily life.

"Perhaps no war work will earn higher dividends than that done bv children. The only decoration they ask is the ribbon of praise upon which to hang the medallion of their accomplishment.

"Very soon America is going to be more than ankle deep in this war. We are going to be knee deep, waist deep and up to our necks.

"If we do not get in up to our necks we are not going to win. If we do not win we shall be either dead or slaves. That relization has got to bring the war into 'the shade of our own vines,' as Tom Paine said, or we are licked."

Moss Is Restrained

New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—A show cause order has been signed in State Supreme Court temporarily restraining License Commissioner Paul Moss from interfering with the sale and circulation of four publications which feature data on horse racing. The order, signed yesterday, affected the "Morning Telegraph," the "Daily Racing Form," the "Daily Racing Guide" and "The New York Daily Tab," which were banned from licensed news stands by Moss Saturday. The ban was in line with a campaign against gambling ordered by Mayor F. H. LaGuardia.

Democrats' Move To Fill Jobs Hit By 2 Councilmen

Aldermen Renn and Zucca Attack Minority Report of Committee and Issue Stays Open

"It is a piece of underhanded work," declared Alderman Fred L. Renn of the Tenth ward while Alderman Paul A. Zucca of the First ward declared it was "unprecedented in the history of the Common Council" as they attacked the action of the two Democratic members of the building and supply committee in filing a minority committee report Tuesday night with the Common Council.

"Just because the Democrats now have control of the council is no reason why they should not play fair," declared Alderman Zucca after Deputy City Clerk Harry Seitz had read the minority report signed by Aldermen Thomas F. Coughlin of the Seventh ward and Matthew J. Jordan of the Thirteenth ward, which the two aldermen recommended that Arthur Miller of Chapel street and William Dunbar of Hunter street, be appointed firemen at the municipal heating plant for the winter.

"I have never heard of a minority report of any council committee being filed without the report being first called to the attention of the chairman of the committee," said Alderman Zucca, who is chairman of the building and supply committee.

"Here is the story," continued Alderman Zucca, and he said that there were two vacancies to be filled at the municipal heating plant and to discuss the filling of them the committee met and discussed the situation for a quarter of an hour without reaching a decision. At that time it developed that three of the members of the committee favored re-appointing the men who had served in the job last winter and whose work had been satisfactory, while each of the two Democratic members of the committee had a candidate.

"After talking the matter over," said Alderman Zucca, "the majority members of the committee suggested as a solution that the minority members pick one man and the majority members a man which would fill the two positions. We arrived at no agreement that night and we met again before the meeting tonight. That is why the council was delayed in starting its meeting. We could not reach an agreement and it was decided by all of us that we would hold the matter up until after the meeting of the council tonight.

"Instead of the minority members keeping their word they try to slip this over just because they have a majority in the council."

Alderman Zucca suggested that no action be taken on any report, and proposed the matter be held over so that the building committee could get together again after the council session.

Suggests Recess

Alderman Paul Black of the Sixth Ward said that in the absence of a majority report he believed the council should vote on the minority report, or that a recess be taken and the committee bring in a majority report.

Alderman Renn obtained the floor and launched his attack on the two Democratic members of the building committee, saying "that it was a low piece of work," and that the two members of the committee before trying to "slip something over" should at least have recognized the chairman of the committee before attempting to slip through a report.

President Schwenk ruled that the minority report was not a committee report, and after some discussion Alderman James E. Connelly of the Ninth ward suggested that Alderman Black's suggestion be accepted and a recess taken to give the building committee an opportunity to bring in a report and then the matter could be thrashed out on the council floor.

The recess was declared by President Schwenk, and the building committee, after meeting for five minutes, returned to the meeting without a majority report. The council continued with its regular business with no action taken on the recommendation of Aldermen Coughlin and Jordan to name Messrs. Miller and Dunbar.

The three Republican members of the building committee favored for the job of fireman of the heating plant John Sharp of the Seventh ward.

In addition to Aldermen Jordan and Coughlin the other members of the building committee are: Alderman Zucca, Renn, and Eugene Cornwell.

It is expected that a temporary fireman will be appointed until the building committee decides upon which two men will be selected to fill the jobs.

President Will Talk

Washington, Oct. 7 (AP)—President Roosevelt plans to make a brief radio talk some time in the next week or ten days but he does not expect it will be a review of the war. At his press conference yesterday, the President said a half dozen or perhaps a dozen topics would be selected from a list of 40 or 50 which he said various persons had asked him to discuss. He might touch briefly on his recent cross country inspection tour, he said, although he added that there was little news left in that. Date of the speech will be announced later.

Council Approves Purchase of Flag

Mayor William F. Edelmuth's request that the Common Council authorize the purchase of a city's service flag was unanimously approved by the Common Council Tuesday night, and the sum of $150 appropriated for that purpose.

The mayor in his communication said that the flag would bear a single large star with numerals under it denoting the number of those in the armed service. Then from time to time as the number increased the numbers could be changed to conform.

The service flag will be displayed at the city hall.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE —

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10¢ and 25¢.

Your Guide for Overseas Mail— Remember That Deadline: Nov. 1

(Wide World Features)

Washington—Here are the Post Office Department's recommendations for Christmas mail to service men outside the United States:

1. Parcels, letters and cards should be mailed between October 1 and November 1—the sooner the better, regardless of where you live or where the article is going. Delivery cannot be guaranteed if it is postmarked after November 1.

2. Gift packages should be marked "Christmas Parcel."

3. Parcels should not exceed 11 pounds in weight or 18 inches in length or 42 inches in length and girth combined. If possible, hold them to six pounds and the size of a shoebox.

4. Don't send food (except hard candies) or clothing. Service men have plenty of both. Don't send anything inflammable like matches or lighter fluid. Don't send intoxicants.

5. Wrap packages substantially but fix them so they may be easily opened for censorship inspection. Be sure that smaller packages, inside the big package, are tightly packed.

6. Postage must be fully prepaid. Consult your post office for Parcel Post rates. Better insure packages.

7. Such messages as "Merry Christmas," "Do Not Open Until Christmas," etc., are permitted if they do not interefere with the address.

8. Don't send cash gifts. Use money orders. Some countries have a law against importing foreign money, but money orders may be cashed anywhere.

MISS SANTA — She chooses her soldier's gift with utility, weight, in mind.

SHE LETS IT BE GAY—Bright wrappings add to the charm of gift.

LAST STEP—Properly wrapped and addressed, it'll arrive on time.

MOUNTAINS OF SCRAP
WILL SAVE
THOUSANDS OF LIVES!

Stockpiles like this are needed all over the country so that our Government can plan our armament program — and our mills and plants can deliver the fighting tools!

Get in on the drive that starts today. Get the unused metal out of your cellar, your attic, your garage, your place of business. Without this scrap the Nation's steel mills must shut down, for all new steel is 50% scrap, and the mills have not enough for even 30 days more.

And one more thing. Help to stop the story — spread by innocents and ill-wishers alike — that there is lots of scrap already on hand. They point to junk yards, auto graveyards, and salvage depots that have not been cleaned out, as proof that there is no shortage. KILL THIS TALK BEFORE IT KILLS OUR BOYS!

WHOSE BOY

In spite of the terrible lack of scrap, here is why you may still find full junk yards and scrap depots — and why they must be kept that way!

Remember if these places become empty, the mills shut down — and we lose the war!

1. All scrap must be sorted, stripped, and broken up by scrap dealers before it can be used. Their yards are full because they are busy—preparing your scrap for the mills as fast as they possibly can!

2. Auto graveyards strip autos, keep the usable parts and junk the rest—turning out 450,000 tons of scrap in a typical month. Each must scrap within 60 days as many cars as he buys—that is the law!

3. Scrap collections sometimes have to stay around because the dealers can't handle them all immediately. Even if they could, the mills could not store it all. The local salvage depot is a stockpile—where your scrap is available for instant use as soon as it's needed. And it will be needed!

So get out your scrap and help your neighbors with theirs. It's the greatest single contribution you can make right now to win the war!

WHERE THE MONEY GOES

No money can be paid for scrap deposited on Town Scrap Piles as the cost of collection and delivery to dealers is prohibitive. Scrap collected from Town Scrap Piles will be sold to dealer paying highest price. Scrap received will be credited to each town and the money received for it less expenses will be returned to the Supervisor and used for Civilian Defense purposes or other town expenses.

FRILLS ON CHOP BONES

The frill on a lamb chop is solely "for looks" intended to hide a bare ugly bone. This answers a man who asks:

"Doesn't the frill on a lamb chop mean that it is permissible to pick the chop up after most of the meat has been eaten off with the knife and fork? My wife says no, but I think that is why some farsighted person invented the frills in the first place. No one can deny—not even my wife—that the best morsels are the bites nearest the bones."

The best bites are nearest the chicken's bones too, but good table manners do not permit "Picking bones" at table. How much you care about good manners which prevent full enjoyment of flavors—with lapses permitted only at picnics—is a question that must be asked of you.

Unimportant Mistakes

Dear Mrs. Post: When I sent out my wedding announcements some weeks ago, I did not address the second envelope because I thought this was only done on the second envelopes of the wedding invitations. Evidently I made a mistake in having the tissue paper over the engraving?

Answer: Both mistakes are unimportant. The second envelope should have had Mr. and Mrs. Smith or Miss Smith and nothing more, and if the ink was hard and dry then the tissue papers should be taken out. On the other hand, in damp climates or if the ink has not had time to dry, papers are necessarily left in—so this last was perhaps not a mistake.

A Toast to the Bride and Groom

Dear Mrs. Post: When those at the bridal table drink a toast to the bride and bridegroom, does the bridegroom as well as the bride remain seated? If so, as I believe you have said they do, then why is it proper for the bridegroom to remain seated when the ladies at the table rise?

Answer: When the toast is drunk to the bride, the bridegroom rises. When the toast is drunk to them together, then they both remain seated. One never rises when a toast is being drunk to oneself.

What To Call Father

Dear Mrs. Post: My mother would like to know the correct way to refer to my father when she is talking to my friends. My friends are in their teens if that makes any difference.

Answer: "My husband" to those who are grown. But if she is talking to boys and girls in their lower mid-teens, it would be proper to say "Mr. Jones."

(Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

If you're puzzled about any point of correct table setting, you'll want to read Mrs. Post's booklet, "The Etiquette of Table Setting." Send for it, enclosing ten cents in coins and a three-cent stamp to cover postage and handling. Address Mrs. Post, care of Kingston Daily Freman, Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y.

Freeman League Results

At the Immanuel alleys Monday night Team No. 1 vaulted into first place by winning all three games from Team No. 4 in The Freeman Bowling League. The losers were forced to bowl with two blind scores.

Walt Kirchofer, who is proving to be one of the mainstays in the average column, sparked the No. 1 team again with a cool 487 triple on marks of 167, 180 and 140. Milfred Buddenhagen took high honors in the single with 188 but in a losing cause. Other high scores posted in the match were Harry Frey's 168, Dick Gruver's 165, Walt Scharp's 164 and Art Carroll's 161.

Last night at the Immanuel alleys in The Freeman Bowling League Johnny Slizewski and John Haas took the spotlight with their 200 scores. Slizewski unloaded his powerful 215 in the final game and sparked Team No. 2 to a 774 team game, just nipping Team No. 2 by a pin to win.

Slizewski opened his fireworks with a 179 single and slipped to 116 in the second but blasted away with that 215 in the final game to mount up a 510 triple. His 215 single is high for the year in the league. Meanwhile, Hass started off with 160 and came on with 145 in the middle game and finished with a power-laden 209 single in the third to post a high 514 triple of the night.

Haas' efficient kegling last night paced No. 3 to two triumphs and vaulted that club to a second place spot with three wins in six starts for the season. No. 1, capturing three games Monday night, holds on to first place with five out of six triumphs.

Cardinals Greeted By 15,000 Fans at WildHome-Coming

Missouri's Governor and St. Louis' Mayor Also on Hand, Welcoming Victors Back Home

St. Louis, Oct. 7 (AP)—Most baseball clubs be content just listening to the applause for this year's accomplishments—but not those saucy St. Louis Cardinals.

They arrived home yesterday, these new world champions, and the highlight of the improptu show put on by 15,000 fans was Manager Billy Southworth's promise: "We hope to give you another championship club next year."

The band blurted out with "Hail, Hail, The Gang's All Here," as bands always do, when the train bearing the Cardinals hissed to a stop. The idea was good, but not quite accurate. Missing were outfielder Stan Musial, catcher Ken O'Dea and pitcher Lloyd Moore, all of whom had dropped off at their respective homes.

Hopp Scouts Crowd

First to pop out of the train was first baseman Johnny Hopp. Apparently he was sent out as a scout, to see what the team could expect, for the others held back while Hopp was pummelled, backslapped and congratulated by the happy fans.

When they saw Hopp escape with his life, the rest ventured forth to be greeted by Missouri's Governor, Forrest C. Donnell, and St. Louis' Mayor, William D. Becker.

Practically everyone made a speech, none of which is expected to be included in "famous orations of history." But the good humored crowd found it all wonderful.

Mike Gonzales, the coach who found his way from Cuba to St. Louis, got a big hand for his remarks. Mused Mike: "They no surprise me. best club in baseball. Only half United States know it September 27. Now everybody, he know it."

The greatest ovation was saved for pitcher Johnny Beazley. His pitching accounted for two of the four victories over the New York Yankees.

Joe Messinger Hits 268 In Central Rec League

Powders Eight Straight Strikes After Spare in First; Other High Scores

Joe Messinger, one of the city's up and coming bowling greats, enjoyed the best night of his young career at the Central Recreation alleys last night when for the Unknowns, he blasted out a sensational 268 single in the first game of the match between his team and Hercules. It was his first league game of the season.

Messinger opened last night's activities with a spare in the first frame and then settled back and peeled off eight straight strikes before uncorking another spare in the final frame to mount up the gaudy total of 268, a mark which looks like a record for some time to come.

Joe, after breezing through with that power-laden single, followed up with 168 in the second game and then posted 155 in his final for a 586 triple, the second highest series posted in the Central Rec League last night in the opening matches.

Other Great Scores

A couple of other great scores ear-marked the opening games last night and second to Messinger's sparkler was Hod Spaulding's 243 single and 597 series. He posted other marks of 155 and 199. His 243 came in the final game between the Crystals and Ulsters.

Despite Spaulding's good kegling the Crystals dropped all three games to the Ulsters who clicked off a sensational 1057 single in the third game and finished up with a 2820 team triple. Every bowler hit the 500 column with Ernie Magnusson leading the way with 577. George Robinson had 576, Lou Guadagnola had 574, Phil Masters 556 and Coke Costello 537.

Continuing along in the circuit Herb VanDeusen sparked the Gov. Clintons to two wins over the Sangi Pickups with his 576 triple and 212 single. E. Cunningham followed VanDeusen for the winners with 563. Johnny "Red" Sangi just missed the high series with his 575 on scores of 171, 204 and 200.

George Dawkins took over for his club with a 216 single and 575 series and proceeded to win two games from the Bulls. Phil Corrado had 551, L. VanLoan 550 and Jack Dawkins 541. Fassenbender and Weber sparked the losers with 560 and 553.

Change of Card Players Brought Quick Results

Discovery of Kurowski and Beazley Made the Redbirds Hottest Team in League

By JUDSON BAILEY

New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—One of the reasons the St. Louis Cardinals were able to spring a surprise on the New York Yankees in the World Series, and on a lot of other people including the Brooklyn Dodgers, was that they finished with a different team than the fluttering Redbirds who started last spring.

When the Cardinals came streaking down the stretch in the National League, their rivals consoled themselves with remembrances of the earlier Redbirds and figured they would return to their previous pace.

It took the World Series to prove that winning 43 of their last 52 scheduled games was nearer the natural gait of the Cards than their performance in the first half of the season when they reached the All-Star game intermission with a record of 43 won and 29 lost.

At the start of the season the St. Louis infield had rookie Ray Sanders on first, Frank Crespi on second, Martin Marion at short and Jimmy Brown at third. The experts were saying the Cardinals had sold away their penant chance by letting big John Mize go to the New York Giants.

Kurowski Gets Chance

George (Whitey) Kurowski, whose homer in the fifth game of the World Series clinched the championship for the Cards, was considered likely timber for Rochester or Columbus, or some other Redbird farm. His short right arm, from which three inches of bone were removed in a childhood operation, made him a dead left-field hitter.

Kurowski rode the bench for weeks and it was not until his closest friend, Crespi, failed to hit that the Reading, Pa., rookie received his chance.

The Cards dropped a doubleheader on May 24 and at that point had won only 19 games to 17 lost. Manager Billy Southworth decided the time was ripe to start masterminding.

The next day Brown moved to second and Kurowski became the regular custodian of the hot corner. The team won four straight.

Then came the next step in the revitalization of the Redbirds. On May 27 Johnny Hopp was installed permanently at first base. The change would have been made sooner except that Hopp had injured a thumb soon after the season started.

However, right along about here the Cards received a rude setback because their two southpaw stars, Ernie White and Howie Pollet, developed arm trouble. A lump as big as a chestnut swelled up on White's left arm and he could not raise his hand to throw the ball.

He pitched an eight-hitter and won on the day Kurowski made his debut, May 25. But from then until June 19 he never got into another ball game and he never won another game until July 1.

Beazley as Starter

This pitching problem helped lead to the discovery of Johnny Beazley. He was going into games as a relief pitcher, holding the foe scoreless for four or five innings and he finally convinced Southworth it was a mistake to spot the other teams three or four runs before putting in Beazley.

So the manager made up his mind to make the lanky rookie a starting pitcher and a week later sold Lon Warneke to the Chicago Cubs for waiver money $7,500 in a deal that shocked the baseball front. Some folks thought the Cards were conceding the pennant to the Dodgers. It was just the other way around. From the day the Cards made this misunderstood deal they won 63 games and lost just 19.

In every respect it was a managerial triumph for Southworth, who took the material that was given him by the front office and knitted it into a world championship.

As one fan said after the Series, "now the Yanks know what the Dodgers were up against!"

Montgomery Loses To Max Shapiro in Philadelphia Ring

Philadelphia, Oct. 7 (AP)—The myth of Bobcat Bob Montgomery's greatness was exploded last night, and today, in squat, game little Maxie Shapiro, a tough guy from New York's east side, the fight world hails a new ranking contender for the throne of lightweight champion Sammy Angott.

The flashy negro bobcat, who whipped Lew Jenkins in a non-title bout when Jenkins wore the crown, was battered to unexpected defeat by milling Maxie, a 5 to 1 underdog, in 10 riotous rounds that kept the crowd of 6,730 on its feet almost constantly.

Shapiro won by a split decision, Referee Benny Leonard casting the deciding vote. He weighed in at 132¾, a quarter pound less than the Philadelphian.

Montgomery held a slight edge until the third round, when Shapiro landed a right to the chin that virtually decided the fight. Montgomery staggered, Shapiro went in flailing and the bobcat went down for one count. Montgomery went half way through the ropes, came back, went down again for one, bobbed up, and was floored a third time for three.

Then, for fully two minutes, while the once-mighty bobcat sagged against the ropes helpless, not landing a blow, Shapiro pummelled him at full strength. He stopped from sheer exhaustion—and with the bobcat still standing.

Montgomery revived in the fourth and fifth, but his punches lacked steam. From the sixth on, it was Shapiro's all the way.

Shapiro, who knocked out 26 of his 71 previous opponents, probably now will be matched with Ray "Sugar" Robinson, New welterweight. Promoter Herman Taylor had said Sugar would fight the winner.

Conwicke Plans on Long Practices for Maroon Gridders

Much Improvement Must Be Made in Attack of Maroon Eleven; Port Is Strong

Although the coming week-end will find Coach Ted Conwicke's Kingston High School football team idle, the new gridiron mentor isn't letting his boys take advantage of that fact. After last Friday's terrific pasting by Mont Pleasant of Schenectady by 33 to 0, the Maroon gridders will be in for plenty of work from now on in.

Kingston will be free from any actual combat with opponents but the local squad must do a lot of improving before Port Jervis comes into the municipal stadium next Friday night, October 16 for Kingston's second and final home night game of the 1942 campaign. Following the Port arclight encounter, Sammy Kalloch lugs his Poughkeepsie High warriors into the stadium Saturday, October 24, in Kingston's final home contest of the season.

Long Drills Listed

In face of these two hard battles Coach Conwicke has shaped up a tough schedule for his Maroon hopefuls. Port Jervis, a member of the DUSO League, defeated Liberty High School this past week-end by 12 to 0 and clearly indicates that the Red Raiders will only spell trouble for Kingston a week hence. Poughkeepsie, well, that school speaks for itself. Always a tough nut for any club to crack and with Don Hempe back in action again the Bridge City club looks very formidable.

Everything backfired in the face of the Kingston squad last Friday night at the uptown ball orchard. The vaunted aerial attack which took a toll of Amsterdam the week before while the club was winning an easy 24 to 0 conquest, proved somewhat off the "beam." However, the big loss to Kingston was its feeble running attack which never did have a chance to open up.

Nothing too much was known about Coach Conwicke's running game but it was quite apparent that this department offered little if anything against Mont Pleasant. Time after time the upstaters would rush and topple the Maroons for losses and when this wasn't taking place, the ball carrier was nabbed before stepping across the line of scrimmage.

In all fairness to Kingston the gridders of Mont Pleasant had too much beef and played superior ball all the way through. Still, the local team has a couple of pretty fair backs in Leland Boice, "Rocky" Maxson and Tom Heneberry but all of these were shackled. Maxson, according to experts, is one of Kingston's one of Kingston's ace backs but he was of little use once the hard-charging Schenectady club started to wade through the sieve-like Kingston defense.

Tough Struggles Ahead

Taking one game at a time, Coach Ted Conwicke finds that he has another tough customer for the next opponent. This also will be a DUSO League tussle and that means someting in the local's books. The competition against league teams is so scarce that every single game means everything. So Kingston finds itself on the rock waiting for a chance to redeem itself after that absorbing 33-0 loss last Friday.

Although Eddie Rutan, one of Port's chief mail carriers of 1941 is missing this season, the Tri-Staters will come here with a power-laden aggregation. A writer watching the Portsters routing Liberty last Saturday said, "the Port Jervis big Red team that took the field last Saturday afternoon has definitely proven itself as a dangerous threat to most any team that it will meet this year. Driving hard all afternoon it completely bottled up the running attack of the Liberty Indians and kept the ball in Liberty territory all afternoon. Port Jervis drove hard for eight first downs against Liberty's four through the air.

While Port was taking a 12 to 0 victory, one department was lacking. Liberty totaled 88 yards in passing to Port's 42 and it was apparent that Port's chief weakness was defending aerials.

Port Jervis will come in with Adams, Lynch Salmon and Bullock forming a pretty fair backfield. All are well seasoned. The forward line has Clark and D. Greer at ends, Myers and Norman at tackles, Steward and Grathwohl at guards and Phillips at the pivot position.

St. James Church Pastor Resigns

Rev. Dr. Joseph W. Chasey Gives Health as Reason

REV. DR. J. W. CHASEY

Due to ill health, the Rev. Dr. Joseph W. Chasey, pastor of St. James Methodist Church of this city, has submitted his resignation to the church. He will terminate his duties here October 31. The Rev. Mr. Chasey's formal resignation was tendered Monday evening at the regular monthly meeting of the official board of St. James Church.

Dr. and Mrs. Chasey expect to leave on November 1 for Interlaken, near Asbury Park, on the New Jersey coast, where they will make their home, for the present at least. A daughter, Margaret, entered the New Jersey College for Women, at New Brunswyck, N. J., this fall and a second daughter, Mrs. Esten Tickner, resides in Washingtonville.

Dr. Chasey came to the pastorate of St. James Church in April, 1940, after a long and successful record in the ministry, this being his 35th year in the active ministry. In addition to that, however, he preached for four or five years as a local preacher and during his college course.

His pastoral record began in 1908, when he was assigned to the Washingtonville-Salisbury Mills charge; 1910-13, Milton; 1914-16, Liberty; 1917-20, Metropolitan Temple, New York city. From 1921-26 he was at Chester Hill and Mt. Vernon, in the New York East Conference, and in 1927 at Waterville in the Maine Conference. Returning to the New York Conference he was again assigned to the Liberty charge, where he was stationed from 1928 to '33; was district superintendent of the Kingston District from 1934 to '39 and in April, 1940, became pastor of St. James.

Voicing the general sentiment the Rev. Dr. A. G. Carroll, superintendent of the Kingston District, says "The membership of St. James Church joins with the official board in wishing Godspeed, with renewed health and happiness to Dr. Chasey and his family, as he retires from active service in the ministry.

County Treasurer Busy Collecting Township Taxes

The County Treasurer's office in the Court House is a busy place these days as taxpayers in the various towns of the county call to pay their town taxes for the current year. The County Treasurer is anxious to have all taxpayers know that the month of October is the limit within which such taxes may be paid before they are prepared for advertising at the forthcoming tax sale which will be held the latter part of December.

The Board of Supervisors authorized the County Treasurer to accept the current year's taxes until October 31 without the addition of any penalty except the usual five per cent collection fee. After November 1 interest at the rate of 10 per cent per annum from last February 1 to date of payment, besides the additional cost of the tax sale advertising will have to be added. The county treasurer will send a bill to anyone requesting one to avoid a personal call at the Treasurer's office.

Poletti Asks Plants Be Guarded Carefully

Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 7 (AP) —Lieut. Governor Charles Poletti urged New York industrialists today to strive for "protection against the impossible" in safeguarding plants against sabotage and air attack.

Opening the first of a series of "plant protection" schools, Poletti, coordinator of state war plans, said protection of war factories is "the responsibility of each individual plant executive and his workers."

"The factory which burns to the ground because of carelessness is in no different category from the plant which is bombed to destruction by the enemy," he declared.

The school, sponsored by the State War Council, is the first of a series that will be continued October 21 and 22 in Rochester and November 4 and 5 at New York city. Several of the states largest war industries are cooperating in the discussions, designed to develop wartime safeguards for both workers and factories.

Experts report that no temperate-zone rubber plant offers promise of approaching hevea, the native of Amazonia, as a low-cost natural source of rubber, and they believe that with it Brazil will be able to compete with Far East rubber after the war.

Dewey Will Make 2nd State Tour, But Not to Talk

Republican Candidate Is to Meet Voter Groups in North Country, Manager Says

New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey, making a second stab at the governorship as the Republican candidate, will go on a two-day upstate tour this week, his campaign chief announced today —but he won't make any political speeches.

Campaign Director Herbert Brownell, Jr., said the former New York county district attorney, who ran unsuccessfully against Herbert H. Lehman in 1938, merely would meet voters groups and confer with party leaders at points various.

Dewey has made similar journeys since his nomination.

Next Tuesday, however, he is scheduled to start on another upstate trip that will take him into the formal opening of his campaign with the delivery of his first political address at Rochester Wednesday evening.

He will start on the first tour Friday, going first to Albany, then to Glens Falls where he will attend a dinner that night.

After meeting with a group in Schenectady, the candidate and his party will leave Saturday morning for Malone. Other stops will be made at Massena and Ogdensburg. Then Dewey will go to Canton to visit St. Lawrence University where he received an honorary law degree last year. He also will visit Gouverneur and Watertown before returning to New York Sunday.

Before going to Rochester next week for his opening campaign talk, he will stop at Niagara Falls, Lockport, Medina and Albion. Also on that trip, he will visit Palmyra, Newark, Lyons, Geneva, Seneca Falls and Auburn and will deliver another address at a Syracuse rally Thursday.

All other candidates on the Republican ticket are scheduled to appear at the Rochester and Syracuse gatherings.

Dewey registered last night for the November 3 election, and asserted:

"One thing every citizen can do is to register, because in this election, when all the people really go to the polls they are proving we can mobilize for total war and at the same time remain free."

Bartlett Is Kept Under $2,500 Bond

Bridgeport, Conn., Oct. 7 (AP) — Acquitted of a manslaughter charge in connection with the fatal shooting of a White Plains, N. Y., man, Edwin S. Bartlett, 38, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., was kept under $2,500 bond today while the prosecution studied the possibility of an appeal.

A superior court jury, deliberating only 25 minutes, freed Bartlett yesterday in the case involving his friend, Gunnar Hummel, 38-year-old cement salesman, who was killed last June 10 by a pistol shot fired by Bartlett.

Hummel was visiting Bartlett, who was supervising a construction job here, and the defense contended that the White Plains man challenged his friend to shoot his pistol at a small metal ball hanging in the construction company office.

Bartlett missed the first shot and as he fired the second, the defense argued, Hummel stepped into the line of fire and received the slug in the center of the forehead. He died instantly.

The pair had been friends for ten years and frequently engaged in target shooting together, witnesses said. Bartlett said he carried the weapon because he frequently had charge of his firm's large payroll.

State's attorney, Lorin W. Willis asked Judge Kenneth Wynne to continue Bartlett's bail for 48 hours pending a possible appeal.

Agriculture Forecast

Washington, Oct. 7 (AP)—The Agriculture Department forecast today that farmers would receive about $16,000,000,000 from their products in 1943 compared with $15,000,000,000 this year. The 1943 estimate was based on present price levels and the expectation that livestock production would be larger than this year and the volume of crops would be less.

America Hustles Up Its Scrap; Reports Encouraging

(By The Associated Press)

It was like a roll call of the nation with states, cities and little whistle-stops chanting: "Look what we're doing."

America, deep in the job of gathering every bit of steel and iron junk for ravenous war mills, today poured in heartening reports on progress in the 21-day special metal salvage drive led by the nation's newspapers.

The reports, although unofficial and incomplete, showed the country really bending an elbow to get old metal started on the way to its eventual abode in planes, ships, guns, tanks.

This was part of the story: 10 states alone have collected so far in the campaign—which started September 28 and ends October 17—an estimated 260,000 tons of scrap, or 520,000,000 pounds if figured at the rate of 2,000 pounds to the ton.

Those figures were released by the National Newspapers' United Scrap Metal Drive Committee in New York which said it was receiving hourly information showing the total metal salvage was becoming tremendous.

Pennsylvania was leading so far on a tonnage and per capita basis, according to the committee, with 283,770,000 pounds collected, or 28.6 pounds for every man, woman and child in the state.

The other nine of those 10 reported states—with the job they have done so far listed first on a per capita basis in pounds and then by tonnage—were:

Michigan: 15.2—40,000; Maryland: 13—12,834; Virginia: 10.5—14,000; Missouri: 9—17,000; Oklahoma: 6.9—7,706; West Virginia: 6.5—6,218; Maine: 6—2,530; Iowa: 58.8—7,368; Massachusetts: 5.5—12,000.

In New York city's five boroughs collections so far have been made only in two—Queens and Richmond. The Queens total was 33,729,000 pounds, or better than 28 per capita; Richmond, estimated at 12,000,000 pounds, or 56 per capita.

Other sections of New York state reporting: Albany, about 1,500,000 pounds, or 11 per capita; Saratoga Springs, 600,000 pounds, or 40 per capita; Schenectady, 3,020,000 pounds, or 21 per capita; Onondaga county (Syracuse), 3,020,000 pounds, or 21 per capita.

'Strangler' Lewis May Do It to Japs

Bone-Crusher Would Like to Be Comando

Philadelphia, Oct. 7 (AP)—Ed "Strangler" Lewis, the bone-crusher who has wrestled 6,000 matches, claimed the world's record five times and begun a comeback at 51, is about ready to give it all up now—and start breaking up Japs.

The Strangler, just a shadow of his former self at 290 pounds, came here for an exhibition battle and said he wanted to be a Commando.

And if Uncle Sam rules him out, he added, he'll ask permission to teach soldiers Jiu-Jitsu on the theory that "once they see how simple it is, they won't worry about the Japs using it on them."

Lewis, whom the years have treated well financially, said he "played a trick on those little fellows" himself on his last trip to the Orient.

"Outside Kobe our ship passed their fleet and I got up on the bridge and made movies of it," he explained. "The captain said they'd jail me for life—but I walked ashore carrying the camera—and photographed the Imperial Paltce.

"They arrested my chauffeur, but not me. I guess I was just so big they were flabbergasted. They said nothing to me, and all my film is now in the hands of our government."

The Strangler said he had reduced 90 pounds in eight months "by God's exercise—walking" and felt more fit than ever.

Health Rule Is Drink Cold Water

Don't Use It for Bathing, Physicians Say

Kansas City, Oct. 7 (AP)—If you want to remain healthy this winter, even though shivering, drink cold water—don't bathe in it.

And if you're inclined to worry over the war, tire and gasoline rationing may help you ward off stomach ulcers.

That's the comment on current problems brought to the Southwest Clinical Conference yesterday by Drs. Thomas E. Carmody of Denver and R. L. Saunders of Memphis.

"Never pass up a water fountain," Dr. Carmody said. "Take a drink. The average person should drink at least three quarts of fluid a day."

Dr. Carmody isn't very enthusiastic about cold baths for inuring the body to the 65 degree temperatures recommended for homes this winter. He prefers to bathe tepidly, himself.

And as for the tire and gasoline rationing vs. stomach ulcers, here's Dr. Saunders' theory:

While civilians may worry more over the war and kindred events, they'll have to spend more time at home where they'll get proper food and rest.

There'll be less opportunity to get out to cocktail parties and other functions where the guests miss out on sleep and consume large amounts of alcohol, tobacco and highly seasoned foods, all contributing factors to the development of ulcers.

Despite this counterbalancing benefit, he expects a large increase in such ailments in the next five years.

It's a direct result of wartime tension.

Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly Heads Nurses' Aide Group

Appointment of Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly as chairman of the local Red Cross Committee on Volunteer Nurse's Aides was announced today by the chairman of the Ulster county chapter. Mrs. Connelly is replacing Mrs. George W. Ross who has served as chairman of the committee for the past year.

This committee is responsible for the selection, enrollment, instruction and placing of women offering to serve in the local Volunteer Nurse's Aide Corps to assist graduate nurses in local hospitals and health agencies. The American Red Cross is cooperating with the Office of Civilian Defense which recently made a nationwide appeal for 100,000 women to volunteer for this work in their communities to offset an acute shortage of nurses for civilian health instructions. Women from 18 to 50, able to give a minimum of 150 hours service every year without remuneration are eligible for the intensive 80 hours instruction course sponsored by the Red Cross.

To Address Youth

DR. FRANK G. LANKARD

Methodist youth from all parts of the Kingston district of the Methodist Church will assemble Saturday for a three-day Youth Conference at Clinton Avenue Methodist Church.

Dr. Frank Glenn Lankard, dean of Brothers College, Drew University, Madison, N. J., will be the keynote speaker and will address the conference Saturday evening, Sunday morning and Monday morning. Dr. Lankard is a well known educator, author and lecturer in the department of Biblical literature.

Others on the program are Russell Perry of Peekskill, and president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the New York Conference of the Methodist Church; Miss Isabelle Maynard, talented violinist; the Drew University quartet; Dr. Arthur G. Carroll, superintendent of the Kingston district; the Rev. William R. Peckham, pastor of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church; the Rev. Roscoe S. Strivings, dean of the conference and pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, of Kingston. Several discussion groups in charge of ministers of the Kingston district will be conducted on the conference theme, "Victory With Christ." One of these groups will be led by two laymen, Dr. Julian I. Gifford and Arthur J. Laidlaw, superintendent of Kingston Schools.

The area from which delegates will come includes Saugerties, Catskill, Coxsackie, Ravena, Stamford, Franklin, Walton, Delhi, Margaretville, Fleischmanns, Phoenicia, Kingston and other towns near them. Delegates will be high school and college age young people. They will be entertained by Kingston Methodists who are opening their homes as hosts of this special event for youth.

Worship services will be based on great works of religious art and will be conducted by a youth worship committee. A religious sound motion picture, "The Spreading Flame," will depict the fidelity of the early Christians to the "Gospel of Love" even though it meant martyrdom at the hands of Rome. On Saturday night the church will serve a banquet to the assembled conference group. An eventful three days will come to a close Monday afternoon with Holy Communion and a consecration service directed by the district superintendent, Dr. Carroll.

White Sox Score Series Win Again Over Chicago Cubs

Eighth Straight City Title for American League Club; Wins Four Out of Five

Chicago, Oct. 7 (AP)—Winning the Chicago city series is still strictly a White Sox habit.

The American Leaguers did it again last night at Comiskey Park, defeating the National League Cubs, 4 to 1, to score their eighth straight city championship.

Johnny Humphries, who gave the Cubs six hits in winning last Friday night, turned back the northsiders with five last night. Lon Warneke attempted to stop the Sox, but gave way after pitching the first five innings. It was the Sox fourth victory in the series that went six games.

Total attendance was 45,818. The receipts were $46,428.50, of which $16,924.86 went into the players pool.

Bennett Speaks In Six Counties

Campaigning Candidate Makes Brief Stops in Several Cities

Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 7 (AP).—Encouraged by mounting reports of party unity behind him, the Democratic candidate for governor, John J. Bennett, Jr., moved eastward to wind up a campaign visit to six upstate counties.

Brief stops are scheduled in Herkimer county, at Herkimer, Ilion and Little Falls, and he will appear in Fulton county tonight at a meeting in Gloversville.

Still fresh in his ears were reports given him yesterday in Oswego and last night in Cayuga county, among them favorable word on what has become a party theme: That the Republican opposition will lose at least some of the plurality it enjoyed upstate four years ago.

Typical of statements which heartened the attorney general was the prediction of Mayor John J. Scanlon of Oswego that his city would go for Bennett by "a record majority." The present Democratic record is the 3,200 vote margin given Alfred E. Smith in 1922, Mayor Scanlan said. Of five Oswego county delegates to the Democratic convention in August, Mayor Scanlan was one of three who supported James M. Mead, whom Bennett defeated for the gubernatorial nomination after a tense floor fight. Oswego county is normally Republican.

At Auburn, in Cayuga county, where supporters assured him the normal Republican plurality would dip sharply, Bennett spoke at a rally last night. His address touched lightly on partisan politics, in contrast to the previous night when he took his opposition sharply to task for what he said was its lack of a program to develop the state's power resources.

Last night he appealed to all to register and vote in the November 3 election.

"Let nothing interfere with your performing this paramount duty of popular government," Bennett declared.

In another point he confidently predicted his victory by referring to January 1, 1943, when there will be "the new Democratic governor down in Albany."

Preceding the rally last night Attorney General Bennett was guest at a dinner of war veterans, both Democratic and Republican.

Other speakers at the rally which followed included Mrs. Flora D. Johnson, Syracuse, Democratic candidate for congressman - at - large, and William O. Dapping, managing editor of the Auburn Citizen-Advertiser, who spoke in behalf of Charles D. Osborne, Democratic nominee for congress from the 36th congressional district.

Teamsters' Union Ends 'Holiday'; Trucks Move

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 7 (AP)—With resumption of contract negotiations tentatively set for today, members of an A. F. L. teamsters union voted yesterday to end a "holiday" they began Monday and started moving freight trucks through Albany.

The 700 freight handlers involved voted unanimously to return to work, Peter Postma, business agent for Local 294, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, reported.

About 25 per cent of the men were back at work last night, John Vogel, trucking company operator said.

Union officials said the strike was unauthorized and emphasized that as far as they knew transportation of war goods or defense materials had not been held up.

Postma said the men were seeking a pay increase from 75 to 90 cents an hour, adding that other divisions of the local had obtained 10-cents-an-hour increases.

A glossary of Scottish words and phrases was typed by the head of the Y. M. C. A. in a South England town, for the use of local tradesmen when a Scot regiment was there, because the tradesmen had difficulty understanding what the Scots said when making purchases.

Scrap-Pile Parts Save Tons of Steel for War

Ithaca, N. Y. — Farmers who remove parts from old farm machines before turning them in for scrap are saving the nation tons of new steel and other metal.

Most farm machines wear out in certain parts first, says C. N. Turner of the New York State College of Agriculture, and the farmer who keeps on hand duplicate parts that are removed from machines past use can assure longer trouble-free operation to his present equipment, if parts are interchangeable.

Parts from plows, mowers, harrows, sprayers, grain binders, trucks and tractors and potato diggers are much in demand, he says. Kept on the home farm, or used on the equipment owned by a neighbor or farm machinery dealer, the parts from scrapped machines are saving many times their weight in new metal that would otherwise be demanded by farmers in the form of new parts or entire new machines.

Angle iron, flat strip-iron, and nuts and bolts that are easy to remove from old machines are also proving their value on the farms instead of on the scrap piles. Many farmers use this metal to put together home-made wooden equipment, such as a buck rake, that can save the metal needed for a hayloader and a wagon.

Teachers' College News

President Talks

Dr. van den Berg announced last week at the Freshman Forum the possibility that an accelerated program might be offered to this class. The reason for this would be to aid the men of the class to complete their college course before being called into service. This course would consist of three years of regular work and three summer sessions of eight weeks each. Each of the latter would credit the student with 10 hours work, totaling 30 hours credit altogether. These credits, combined with the 96 given for the regular three years' work, would give the requirements for graduation. This would take place at the end of the third summer.

There would be no extra fee charged for the summer sessions. However, there would be the regular fees for room and board. More definite plans concerning this program will be announced at a later date.

Inter-Sorority Meets

The Inter-Sorority Council met Monday afternoon and discussed matters relative to the coming rush period. Conflict parties will be held in the respective sorority houses this year in accordance with war conservation. No sorority member is permitted to visit a freshman house and no freshman may enter a sorority house except during their designated rush period.

Instruments on Display

Jesse Phillips Robertson displayed his collection of ancient musical instruments during the assembly program last week. The collection of instruments were mostly reproductions or originals excavated from ancient civilizations. Some were the flute, silver trumpet, cymbols, twinkling cymbols. Mr. Robertson sang native songs.

Social Evening Planned

The Music Association starts the new semester by holding a social evening tonight (October 6) in the school auditorium. All people eligible for membership are invited. Officers of the association are: Evelyn Bardsley, president; Jean Rogers, vice president; Ruth Bergman, secretary, and Helen Randall, treasurer. During the year the association will put on several Lyceum programs as well as its annual spring concert.

Lecture Is Planned

Martin De Muth, artist, lecturer, was scheduled to speak on the topic, "Our Allies," in the assembly Tuesday morning (October 6). Ten trips around the world, visiting all of the countries which are included in the United Nations and studying the characteristics of their people, have provided Mr. De Muth with an insight into the people who are fighting for democracy's cause around the globe.

He is a graduate of the Arts Students League of New York and the California School of Fine Arts and also studied at the University of California and Columbia.

Help In Canning

Pick, peel, scrub, cut, cook, wash cans that were donated by interested townspeople, and in general, assist with the canning of nearly 175 cans of tomatoes and apples, marked the afternoon and evening activities of more than 50 different individuals associated with a community idea of preserving good products for the future.

Miss G. Barbara Pfaff, associated with the English Department was organizer of the affair, however she was assisted by several other members of the faculty, including Miss Ruth Bennett, Miss Marion H. Harding, Miss Edith Holt, Miss Jessie Prisch, Miss Gertrude Thompson, and Miss Mary Ellen Rich. All of these members of the staff aided and supervised the picking and the canning activities. Not only did the faculty help but there were also interested townspeople who fostered an early interest in the projects. Mrs. Thompson and Miss Dorothy Brown were included in this group.

Food for Needy

The purpose for doing all of the canning was to provide extra food for those of the Practice School populace who will need it next winter. This activity is one that is very similar to the doings of the Community Chest as a functional program.

Both the students and faculty met in the Kitchen of the Practice School on four different occasions to learn and practice the process of canning. Due to the efforts of these individuals there are now 68 quarts of tomato juice and about 80 quarts of apple sauce.

In conceiving the idea Miss Pfaff's first problem was to receive permission for the college students to pick a large field of tomatoes that was going to waste because of the lack of sufficient labor. Mr. Arthur Kurtz, who owned the 7-acre tomato patch that was mentioned above, very graciously consented to allow the college students to carry out his enterprise and to pick the tomatoes on the patch. After getting the tomatoes and securing help to can them the next problem on the floor was to obtain cans to preserve the tomatoes in for safe keeping. Miss Elizabeth LeFevre, who is the editor of The Independent, the local paper placed a notice in last week's paper asking for contribution by the townspeople of the glass cans. The many community-minded townspeople donated liberally many cans. With all of this help the faculty and students incorporated the raw material into a usable finished product.

New Faculty Member

The opening of the new college term has brought with it a new faculty member, Miss Mary J. Kelly, of the English Department.

Miss Kelly, who did her undergraduate work at the College of the Lady of Good Council at White Plains, received her Masters Degree at New York University.

Before coming to New Paltz, Miss Kelly was principal of the Union Grove School. She was also one of the original members of the Newburgh Civic Theatre Group.

Recently, Miss Kelly became a charter member of A. W. V. S. in Newburgh and was chairman of the committee, which was to outline the material to be included in the various courses, such as the First Aid Course.

Miss Kelly was also a member of the Newburgh Night Schools faculty, teaching dramatics.

Slight Changes Are Seen In Monthly Price Levels

Albany — Prices received by New York farmers for principal farm products on September 15 were not far from August 15 levels. Prices of corn, oats, barley, and buckwheat declined slightly, while potatoes dropped 20 cents per bushel and apples dropped 10 cents. Live hogs declined 15 cents per 100 pounds and beef cattle dropped 10 cents per hundred weight. Dry beans, hay, horses, sheep, and wool remained without price change, while a slight increase took place in wheat. Live chickens for meat increased about 1 cent per pound, while eggs increased 4 cents per dozen, farm-churned butter 2 cents per pound, veal calves 80 cents per 100 pounds and lambs 35 cents per 100 pounds. Milk cows were higher by about $10 each. Milk, with September prices not yet available, was no doubt somewhat higher than in August. Both milk and eggs normally have a pronounced seasonal swing in prices from a spring and early summer low to a fall and early winter high, the exact amount of this varying from year to year.

Compared to a year earlier, however, the September 1942 listed farm prices in New York were higher, with few exceptions, according to a federal-state report issued from the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets. For example, corn had advanced 8 cents per bushel in the year, barley 5 cents per bushel buckwheat 15 cents per bushel, potatoes 20 cents per bushel, apples 25 cents per bushel. Horses gained $15 per head and milk cows $43 per head in the 12-month period. Live hogs increased nearly 3 cents per pound, chickens 3.6 cents, beef cattle (live) 2.6 cents per pound, sheep 0.9 cents per pound, and live lambs 2.9 cents per pound. Wool was 3 cents per pound higher than a year ago.

On the other hand, dry beans dropped 81 cents a bushel in the year and hay declined $2.80 per ton.

Mining has almost ceased in French Morocco.

Wide World Features

Numerologists may be able to find something significant on this anniversary of Columbus Day, in this coincidence:

This year marks the sixth time in the Christian era that the combination of numbers 1, 9, 4 and 2 has occurred. Each of the six years marked a beginning of a great historical event:

1249—Louis IX (St. Louis) of France started the seventh crusade, capturing Damietta in Egypt.
1294—King Edward I planned Britain's first Parliament.
1429—Joan of Arc began her military career at the Battle of Orleans.
1492—Columbus discovered the rim of a new world.
1924—Stalin succeeded at Lenin's death in Russian political leadership; Hitler was imprisoned and began "Mein Kampf."
1942—? ? ?

After this year we'll have to wait until 2149 beofre somebody will have to figure all this out again.

For an Army officer, you may y: Gold dress set of seven eces in a design which looks e oversized shoe buttons; gold eeve links; plain gold waterproof ist watch, or ring. radwell Urges All-Out Support By Local Lions aying an official visit as Dis- ict Governor to the Kingston ons Club at the Governor Clin- n Hotel Tuesday, Charles E. radwell of Woodstock urged the oup to coordinate their commun- y service efforts in such a man- er that they will be of maximum d in the civilian participation in e war program.

"Never was time and circum- ances more opportune" he said, or Lions club members who re- nain in the civilian ranks to be- ome leaders in the civilian de- ense effort and thereby justify heir existence as a service or- anization.

"At the present time," he con- nued, "about ten per cent of the ountry's population is working as olunteers to protect their communities in air raids and to over- ome the multitude of new com- munity problems which have prung from our war effort. In act today they are carrying the burden for the other 90 per cent who make up our civilian population.

"But 10 per cent will never win this war. Our nation must have 100 per cent participation and then that 'just a little more' which free men always seem able to give when they know that their freedom is in peril. This war is not a spectacle for our people. It is a fight for the survival of our people and it will not be won except by our people—all of them.

"Keeping fit is no longer a personal matter, it is an obligation to the nation. Good health at home send out more courage and confidence to the men at the front, produces more munitions. Good health builds good blood and good blood donated to a plasma center is a gift of strength direct from your heart to that of the man wounded in battle.

"Facts are bullets on the home front. Well informed skeptical people are the armored forces operating against Axis propaganda. It is their duty to know and recognize the Axis 'line' and to encounter it in daily life.

"Perhaps no war work will earn higher dividends than that done by children. The only decoration they ask is the ribbon of praise upon which to hang the medallion of their accomplishment.

"Very soon America is going to be more than ankle deep in this war. We are going to be knee deep, waist deep and up to our necks.

"If we do not get in up to our necks we are not going to win. If we do not win we shall be either dead or slaves. That relization has got to bring the war into 'the shade of our own vines,' as Tom Paine said, or we are licked."

Moss Is Restrained

New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—A show cause order has been signed in State Supreme Court temporarily restraining License Commissioner Paul Moss from interfering with the sale and circulation of four publications which feature data on horse racing. The order, signed yesterday, affected the "Morning Telegraph," the "Daily Racing Form," the "Daily Racing Guide" and "The New York Daily Tab," which were banned from licensed news stands by Moss Saturday. The ban was in line with a campaign against gambling ordered by Mayor F. H. LaGuardia.

Democrats' Move To Fill Jobs Hit By 2 Councilmen

Aldermen Renn and Zucca Attack Minority Report of Committee and Issue Stays Open

"It is a piece of underhanded work," declared Alderman Fred L. Renn of the Tenth ward while Alderman Paul A. Zucca of the First ward declared it was "unprecedented in the history of the Common Council" as they attacked the action of the two Democratic members of the building and supply committee in filing a minority committee report Tuesday night with the Common Council.

"Just because the Democrats now have control of the council is no reason why they should not play fair," declared Alderman Zucca after Deputy City Clerk Harry Seitz had read the minority report signed by Aldermen Thomas F. Coughlin of the Seventh ward and Matthew J. Jordan of the Thirteenth ward, which the two aldermen recommended that Arthur Miller of Chapel street and William Dunbar of Hunter street, be appointed firemen at the municipal heating plant for the winter.

"I have never heard of a minority report of any council committee being filed without the report being first called to the attention of the chairman of the committee," said Alderman Zucca, who is chairman of the building and supply committee.

"Here is the story," continued Alderman Zucca, and he said that there were two vacancies to be filled at the municipal heating plant and to discuss the filling of them the committee met and discussed the situation for a quarter of an hour without reaching a decision. At that time it developed that three of the members of the committee favored re-appointing the men who had served in the job last winter and whose work had been satisfactory, while each of the two Democratic members of the committee had a candidate.

"After talking the matter over," said Alderman Zucca, "the majority members of the committee suggested as a solution that the minority members pick one man and the majority members a man which would fill the two positions. We arrived at no agreement that night and we met again before the meeting tonight. That is why the council was delayed in starting its meeting. We could not reach an agreement and it was decided by all of us that we would hold the matter up until after the meeting of the council tonight.

"Instead of the minority members keeping their word they try to slip this over just because they have a majority in the council."

Alderman Zucca suggested that no action be taken on any report, and proposed the matter be held over so that the building committee could get together again after the council session.

Suggests Recess

Alderman Paul Black of the Sixth Ward said that in the absence of a majority report he believed the council should vote on the minority report, or that a recess be taken and the committee bring in a majority report.

Alderman Renn obtained the floor and launched his attack on the two Democratic members of the building committee, saying "that it was a low piece of work," and that the two members of the committee before trying to "slip something over" should at least have recognized the chairman of the committee before attempting to slip through a report.

President Schwenk ruled that the minority report was not a committee report, and after some discussion Alderman James E. Connelly of the Ninth ward suggested that Alderman Black's suggestion be accepted and a recess taken to give the building committee an opportunity to bring in a report and then the matter could be thrashed out on the council floor.

The recess was declared by President Schwenk, and the building committee, after meeting for five minutes, returned to the meeting without a majority report. The council continued with its regular business with no action taken on the recommendation of Aldermen Coughlin and Jordan to name Messrs. Miller and Dunbar.

The three Republican members of the building committee favored for the job of fireman of the heating plant John Sharp of the Seventh ward.

In addition to Aldermen Jordan and Coughlin the other members of the building committee are: Alderman Zucca, Renn, and Eugene Cornwell.

It is expected that a temporary fireman will be appointed until the building committee decides upon which two men will be selected to fill the jobs.

President Will Talk

Washington, Oct. 7 (AP)—President Roosevelt plans to make a brief radio talk some time in the next week or ten days but he does not expect it will be a review of the war. At his press conference yesterday, the President said a half dozen or perhaps a dozen topics would be selected from a list of 40 or 50 which he said various persons had asked him to discuss. He might touch briefly on his recent cross country inspection tour, he said, although he added that there was little news left in that. Date of the speech will be announced later.

Council Approves Purchase of Flag

Mayor William F. Edelmuth's request that the Common Council authorize the purchase of a city's service flag was unanimously approved by the Common Council Tuesday night, and the sum of $150 appropriated for that purpose.

The mayor in his communication said that the flag would bear a single large star with numerals under it denoting the number of those in the armed service. Then from time to time as the number increased the numbers could be changed to conform.

The service flag will be displayed at the city hall.

Edinburgh, Scotland, has appointed street safety marshals whose duty will be to guard children crossing traffic routes, and the marshals will keep watch at dangerous crossings for two hours each day.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10¢ and 25¢.

Your Guide for Overseas Mail— Remember That Deadline: Nov. 1

(Wide World Features)

Washington—Here are the Post Office Department's recommendations for Christmas mail to service men outside the United States:

1. Parcels, letters and cards should be mailed between October 1 and November 1—the sooner the better, regardless of where you live or where the article is going. Delivery cannot be guaranteed if it is postmarked after November 1.

2. Gift packages should be marked "Christmas Parcel."

3. Parcels should not exceed 11 pounds in weight or 18 inches in length or 42 inches in length and girth combined. If possible, hold them to six pounds and the size of a shoebox.

4. Don't send food (except hard candies) or clothing. Service men have plenty of both. Don't send anything inflammable like matches or lighter fluid. Don't send intoxicants.

5. Wrap packages substantially but fix them so they may be easily opened for censorship inspection. Be sure that smaller packages, inside the big package, are tightly packed.

6. Postage must be fully prepaid. Consult your post office for Parcel Post rates. Better insure packages.

7. Such messages as "Merry Christmas," "Do Not Open Until Christmas," etc., are permitted if they do not interefere with the address.

8. Don't send cash gifts. Use money orders. Some countries have a law against importing foreign money, but money orders may be cashed anywhere.

MISS SANTA — She chooses her soldier's gift with utility, weight, in mind.

SHE LETS IT BE GAY—Bright wrappings add to the charm of gift.

LAST STEP—Properly wrapped and addressed, gift arrive on time.

Walt Kirchofer, who is proving to be one of the mainstays in the average column, sparked the No. 1 team again with a cool 487 triple on marks of 167, 180 and 140. Milfred Buddenhagen took high honors in the single with 188 but in a losing cause. Other high scores posted in the match were Harry Frey's 168, Dick Gruver's 165, Walt Scharp's 164 and Art Carroll's 161.

Last night at the Immanuel alleys in The Freeman Bowling League Johnny Slizewski and John Haas took the spotlight with their 200 scores. Slizewski unloaded his powerful 215 in the final game and sparked Team No. 2 to a 774 team game, just nipping Team No. 2 by a pin to win.

Slizewski opened his fireworks with a 179 single and slipped to 116 in the second but blasted away with that 215 in the final game to mount up a 510 triple. His 215 single is high for the year in the league. Meanwhile, Hass started off with 160 and came on with 145 in the middle game and finished with a power-laden 209 single in the third to post a high 514 triple of the night.

Haas' efficient kegling last night paced No. 3 to two triumphs and vaulted that club to a second place spot with three wins in six starts for the season. No. 1, capturing three games Monday night, holds on to first place with five out of six triumphs.

City League to Meet

Peter Keresman, president of the City Bowling League announced last night that a meeting of this circuit would be held for captains Friday at the Y. M. C. A. starting at 8 o'clock. Last year the league operated with the Sevens, Joneses, Petersens, Generals, Jacks and Vining and Smith. Representatives or captains of all of last year's teams are invited to attend the session.

To economize on fuel Londoners have been asked to catch rainwater and use it instead of tap-water for all cleaning and washing purposes, and many tons of coal will be saved, as every ton of London tap-water has to be mechanically pumped.

Cardinals Greeted By 15,000 Fans at WildHome-Coming

Missouri's Governor and St. Louis' Mayor Also on Hand, Welcoming Victors Back Home

St. Louis, Oct. 7 (AP)—Most baseball clubs be content just listening to the applause for this year's accomplishments—but not those saucy St. Louis Cardinals.

They arrived home yesterday, these new world champions, and the highlight of the improptu show put on by 15,000 fans was Manager Billy Southworth's promise: "We hope to give you another championship club next year."

The band blurted out with "Hail, Hail, The Gang's All Here," as bands always do, when the train bearing the Cardinals hissed to a stop. The idea was good, but not quite accurate. Missing were outfielder Stan Musial, catcher Ken O'Dea and pitcher Lloyd Moore, all of whom had dropped off at their respective homes.

Hopp Scouts Crowd

First to pop out of the train was first baseman Johnny Hopp. Apparently he was sent out as a scout, to see what the team could expect, for the others held back while Hopp was pummelled, backslapped and congratulated by the happy fans.

When they saw Hopp escape with his life, the rest ventured forth to be greeted by Missouri's Governor, Forrest C. Donnell, and St. Louis' Mayor, William D. Becker.

Practically everyone made a speech, none of which is expected to be included in "famous orations of history." But the good-humored crowd found it all wonderful.

Mike Gonzales, the coach who found his way from Cuba to St. Louis, got a big hand for his remarks. Mused Mike: "They no surprise me. best club in baseball. Only half United States know it September 27. Now everybody, he know it."

The greatest ovation was saved for pitcher Johnny Beazley. His pitching accounted for two of the four victories over the New York Yankees.

Powders Eight Straight Strikes After Spare in First; Other High Scores

Joe Messinger, one of the city's up and coming bowling greats, enjoyed the best night of his young career at the Central Recreation alleys last night when for the Unknowns, he blasted out a sensational 268 single in the first game of the match between his team and Hercules. It was his first league game of the season.

Messinger opened last night's activities with a spare in the first frame and then settled back and peeled off eight straight strikes before uncorking another spare in the final frame to mount up the gaudy total of 268, a mark which looks like a record for some time to come.

Joe, after breezing through with that power-laden single, followed up with 168 in the second game and then posted 155 in his final for a 586 triple, the second highest series posted in the Central Rec League last night in the opening matches.

Other Great Scores

A couple of other great scores ear-marked the opening games last night and second to Messinger's sparkler was Hod Spaulding's 243 single and 597 series. He posted other marks of 155 and 199. His 243 came in the final game between the Crystals and Ulsters.

Despite Spaulding's good kegling the Crystals dropped all three games to the Ulsters who clicked off a sensational 1057 single in the third game and finished up with a 2820 team triple. Every bowler hit the 500 column with Ernie Magnusson leading the way with 577. George Robinson had 576, Lou Guadagnola had 574, Phil Masters 556 and Coke Costello 537.

Continuing along in the circuit Herb VanDeusen sparked the Gov. Clintons to two wins over the Sangi Pickups with his 576 triple and 212 single. E. Cunningham followed VanDeusen for the winners with 563. Johnny "Red" Sangi just missed the high series with his 575 on scores of 171, 204 and 200.

George Dawkins took over for his club with a 216 single and 575 series and proceeded to win two games from the Bulls. Phil Corrado had 551, L. VanLoan 550 and Jack Dawkins 541. Fassenbender and Weber sparked the losers with 560 and 553.

Change of Card Players Brought Quick Results

Discovery of Kurowski and Beazley Made the Redbirds Hottest Team in League

By JUDSON BAILEY

New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—One of the reasons the St. Louis Cardinals were able to spring a surprise on the New York Yankees in the World Series, and on a lot of other people including the Brooklyn Dodgers, was that they finished with a different team than the fluttering Redbirds who started last spring.

When the Cardinals came streaking down the stretch in the National League, their rivals consoled themselves with remembrances of the earlier Redbirds and figured they would return to their previous pace.

It took the World Series to prove that winning 43 of their last 52 scheduled games was nearer the natural gait of the Cards than their performance in the first half of the season when they reached the All-Star game intermission with a record of 43 won and 29 lost.

At the start of the season the St. Louis infield had rookie Ray Sanders on first, Frank Crespi on second, Martin Marion at short and Jimmy Brown at third. The experts were saying the Cardinals had sold away their penant chance by letting big John Mize go to the New York Giants.

Kurowski Gets Chance

George (Whitey) Kurowski, whose homer in the fifth game of the World Series clinched the championship for the Cards, was considered likely timber for Rochester or Columbus, or some other Redbird farm. His short right arm, from which three inches of bone were removed in a childhood operation, made him a dead leftfield hitter.

Kurowski rode the bench for weeks and it was not until his closest friend, Crespi, failed to hit that the Reading, Pa., rookie received his chance.

The Cards dropped a doubleheader on May 24 and at that point had won only 19 games to 17 lost. Manager Billy Southworth decided the time was ripe to start masterminding.

The next day Brown moved to second and Kurowski became the regular custodian of the hot corner. The team won four straight.

Then came the next step in the revitalization of the Redbirds. On May 27 Johnny Hopp was installed permanently at first base. The change would have been made sooner except that Hopp had injured a thumb soon after the season started.

However, right along about here the Cards received a rude setback because their two southpaw stars, Ernie White and Howie Pollet, developed arm trouble. A lump as big as a chestnut swelled up on White's left arm and he could not raise his hand to throw the ball.

He pitched an eight-hitter and won on the day Kurowski made his debut, May 25. But from then until June 19 he never got into another ball game and he never won another game until July 1.

Beazley as Starter

This pitching problem helped lead to the discovery of Johnny Beazley. He was going into games as a relief pitcher, holding the foe scoreless for four or five innings and he finally convinced Southworth it was a mistake to spot the other teams three or four runs before putting in Beazley.

So the manager made up his mind to make the lanky rookie a starting pitcher and a week later sold Lon Warneke to the Chicago Cubs for waiver money $7,500 in a deal that shocked the baseball front. Some folks thought the Cards were conceding the pennant to the Dodgers. It was just the other way around. From the day the Cards made this misunderstood deal they won 63 games and lost just 19.

In every respect it was a managerial triumph for Southworth, who took the material that was given him by the front office and knitted it into a world championship.

As one fan said after the Series, "now the Yanks know what the Dodgers were up against!"

Montgomery Loses To Max Shapiro in Philadelphia Ring

Philadelphia, Oct. 7 (AP)—The myth of Bobcat Bob Montgomery's greatness was exploded last night, and today, in squat, game little Maxie Shapiro, a tough guy from New York's east side, the fight world hails a new ranking contender for the throne of lightweight champion Sammy Angott.

The flashy negro bobcat, who whipped Lew Jenkins in a non-title bout when Jenkins wore the crown, was battered to unexpected defeat by milling Maxie, a 5 to 1 underdog, in 10 riotous rounds that kept the crowd of 6,730 on its feet almost constantly.

Shapiro won by a split decision, Referee Benny Leonard casting the deciding vote. He weighed in at 132¾, a quarter pound less than the Philadelphian.

Montgomery held a slight edge until the third round, when Shapiro landed a right to the chin that virtually decided the fight. Montgomery staggered, Shapiro went in flailing and the bobcat went down for one count. Montgomery went half way through the ropes, came back, went down again for one, bobbed up, and was floored a third time for three.

Then, for fully two minutes, while the once-mighty bobcat sagged against the ropes helpless, not landing a blow, Shapiro pummelled him at full strength. He stopped from sheer exhaustion—and with the bobcat still standing.

Montgomery revived in the fourth and fifth, but his punches lacked steam. From the sixth on, it was Shapiro's all the way.

Shapiro, who knocked out 26 of his 71 previous opponents, probably now will be matched with Ray "Sugar" Robinson, New welterweight. Promoter Herman Taylor had said Sugar would fight the winner.

Conwicke Plans on Long Practices for Maroon Gridders

Much Improvement Must Be Made in Attack of Maroon Eleven; Port Is Strong

Although the coming week-end will find Coach Ted Conwicke's Kingston High School football team idle, the new gridiron mentor isn't letting his boys take advantage of that fact. After last Friday's terrific pasting by Mont Pleasant of Schenectady by 33 to 0, the Maroon gridders will be in for plenty of work from now on in.

Kingston will be free from any actual combat with opponents but the local squad must do a lot of improving before Port Jervis comes into the municipal stadium next Friday night, October 16 for Kingston's second and final home night game of the 1942 campaign. Following the Port arclight encounter, Sammy Kalloch lugs his Poughkeepsie High warriors into the stadium Saturday, October 24, in Kingston's final home contest of the season.

Long Drills Listed

In face of these two hard battles Coach Conwicke has shaped up a tough schedule for his Maroon hopefuls. Port Jervis, a member of the DUSO League, defeated Liberty High School this past week-end by 12 to 0 and clearly indicates that the Red Raiders will only spell trouble for Kingston a week hence. Poughkeepsie, well, that school speaks for itself. Always a tough nut for any club to crack and with Don Hempe back in action again the Bridge City club looks very formidable.

Everything backfired in the face of the Kingston squad last Friday night at the uptown ball orchard. The vaunted aerial attack which took a toll of Amsterdam the week before while the club was winning an easy 24 to 0 conquest, proved somewhat off the "beam." However, the big loss to Kingston was its feeble running attack which never did have a chance to open up.

Nothing too much was known about Coach Conwicke's running game but it was quite apparent that this department offered little if anything against Mont Pleasant. Time after time the upstaters would rush and topple the Maroons for losses and when this wasn't taking place, the ball carrier was nabbed before stepping across the line of scrimmage.

In all fairness to Kingston the gridders of Mont Pleasant had too much beef and played superior ball all the way through. Still, the local team has a couple of pretty fair backs in Leland Boice, "Rocky" Maxson and Tom Henneberry but all of these were shackled. Maxson, according to experts, is one of Kingston's one of Kingston's ace backs but he was of little use once the hard-charging Schenectady club started to wade through the sieve-like Kingston defense.

Tough Struggles Ahead

Taking one game at a time, Coach Ted Conwicke finds that he has another tough customer for the next opponent. This also will be a DUSO League tussle and that means someting in the local's books. The competition against league teams is so scarce that every single game means everything. So Kingston finds itself on the rock waiting for a chance to redeem itself after that absorbing 33-0 loss last Friday.

Although Eddie Rutan, one of Port's chief mail carriers of 1941 is missing this season, the Tri-Staters will come here with a power-laden aggregation. A writer watching the Portsters routing Liberty last Saturday said. "The Port Jervis big Red team that took the field last Saturday afternoon has definitely proven itself as a dangerous threat to most any team that it will meet this year. Driving hard all afternoon it completely bottled up the running attack of the Liberty Indians and kept the ball in Liberty territory all afternoon. Port Jervis drove hard for eight first downs against Liberty's four through the air.

While Port was taking a 12 to 0 victory, one department was lacking. Liberty totaled 88 yards in passing to Port's 42 and it was apparent that Port's chief weakness was defending aerials.

Port Jervis will come in with Adams, Lynch Salmon and Bullock forming a pretty fair backfield. All are well seasoned. The forward line has Clark and D. Greer at ends, Myers and Norman at tackles, Steward and Grathwohl at guards and Phillips at the pivot position.

Sea Never Dry, a British seaman, who opened a savings account at the London Post Office, stands alone in the card index.

St. James Church Pastor Resigns

Rev. Dr. Joseph W. Chasey Gives Health as Reason

REV. DR. J. W. CHASEY

Due to ill health, the Rev. Dr. Joseph W. Chasey, pastor of St. James Methodist Church of this city, has submitted his resignation to the church. He will terminate his duties here October 31. The Rev. Mr. Chasey's formal resignation was tendered Monday evening at the regular monthly meeting of the official board of St. James Church.

Dr. and Mrs. Chasey expect to leave on November 1 for Interlaken, near Asbury Park, on the New Jersey coast, where they will make their home, for the present at least. A daughter, Margaret, entered the New Jersey College for Women, at New Brunswyck, N. J., this fall and a second daughter, Mrs. Esten Tickner, resides in Washingtonville.

Dr. Chasey came to the pastorate of St. James Church in April, 1940, after a long and successful record in the ministry, this being his 35th year in the active ministry. In addition to that, however, he preached for four or five years as a local preacher and during his college course.

His pastoral record began in 1908, when he was assigned to the Washingtonville-Salisbury Mills charge; 1910-13, Milton; 1914-16, Liberty; 1917-20, Metropolitan Temple, New York city. From 1921-26 he was at Chester Hill and Mt. Vernon, in the New York East Conference, and in 1927 at Waterville in the Maine Conference. Returning to the New York Conference he was again assigned to the Liberty charge, where he was stationed from 1928 to '33; was district superintendent of the Kingston District from 1934 to '39 and in April, 1940, became pastor of St. James.

Voicing the general sentiment the Rev. Dr. A. G. Carroll, superintendent of the Kingston District, says "The membership of St. James Church joins with the official board in wishing Godspeed, with renewed health and happiness to Dr. Chasey and his family, as he retires from active service in the ministry.

County Treasurer Busy Collecting Township Taxes

The County Treasurer's office in the Court House is a busy place these days as taxpayers in the various towns of the county call to pay their town taxes for the current year. The County Treasurer is anxious to have all taxpayers know that the month of October is the limit within which such taxes may be paid before they are prepared for advertising at the forthcoming tax sale which will be held the latter part of December.

The Board of Supervisors authorized the County Treasurer to accept the current year's taxes until October 31 without the addition of any penalty except the usual five per cent collection fee. After November 1 interest at the rate of 10 per cent per annum from last February 1 to date of payment, besides the additional cost of the tax sale advertising will have to be added. The county treasurer will send a bill to anyone requesting one to avoid a personal call at the Treasurer's office.

Poletti Asks Plants Be Guarded Carefully

Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 7 (AP) —Lieut. Governor Charles Poletti urged New York industrialists today to strive for "protection against the impossible" in safeguarding plants against sabotage and air attack.

Opening the first of a series of "plant protection" schools, Poletti, coordinator of state war plans, said protection of war factories is "the responsibility of each individual plant executive and his workers."

"The factory which burns to the ground because of carelessness is in no different category from the plant which is bombed to destruction by the enemy," he declared.

The school, sponsored by the State War Council, is the first of a series that will be continued October 21 and 22 in Rochester and November 4 and 5 at New York city. Several of the states largest war industries are cooperating in the discussions, designed to develop wartime safeguards for both workers and factories.

Dewey Will Make 2nd State Tour, But Not to Talk

Republican Candidate Is to Meet Voter Groups in North Country, Manager Says

New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey, making a second stab at the governorship as the Republican candidate, will go on a two-day upstate tour this week, his campaign chief announced today —but he won't make any political speeches.

Campaign Director Herbert Brownell, Jr., said the former New York county district attorney, who ran unsuccessfully against Herbert H. Lehman in 1938, merely would meet voters groups and confer with party leaders at points various.

Dewey has made similar journeys since his nomination.

Next Tuesday, however, he is scheduled to start on another upstate trip that will take him into the formal opening of his campaign with the delivery of his first political address at Rochester Wednesday evening.

He will start on the first tour Friday, going first to Albany, then to Glens Falls where he will attend a dinner that night.

After meeting with a group in Schenectady, the candidate and his party will leave Saturday morning for Malone. Other stops will be made at Massena and Ogdensburg. Then Dewey will go to Canton to visit St. Lawrence University where he received an honorary law degree last year. He also will visit Gouverneur and Watertown before returning to New York Sunday.

Before going to Rochester next week for his opening campaign talk, he will stop at Niagara Falls, Lockport, Medina and Albion. Also on that trip, he will visit Palmyra, Newark, Lyons, Geneva, Seneca Falls and Auburn and will deliver another address at a Syracuse rally Thursday.

All other candidates on the Republican ticket are scheduled to appear at the Rochester and Syracuse gatherings.

Dewey registered last night for the November 3 election, and asserted:

"One thing every citizen can do is to register, because in this election, when all the people really go to the polls they are proving we can mobilize for total war and at the same time remain free."

Bartlett Is Kept Under $2,500 Bond

Bridgeport, Conn., Oct. 7 (AP) — Acquitted of a manslaughter charge in connection with the fatal shooting of a White Plains, N. Y., man, Edwin S. Bartlett, 38, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., was kept under $2,500 bond today while the prosecution studied the possibility of an appeal.

A superior court jury, deliberating only 25 minutes, freed Bartlett yesterday in the case involving his friend, Gunnar Hummel, 38-year-old cement salesman, who was killed last June 10 by a pistol shot fired by Bartlett.

Hummel was visiting Bartlett, who was supervising a construction job here, and the defense contended that the White Plains man challenged his friend to shoot his pistol at a small metal ball hanging in the construction company office.

Bartlett missed the first shot and as he fired the second, the defense argued, Hummel stepped into the line of fire and received the slug in the center of the forehead. He died instantly.

The pair had been friends for ten years and frequently engaged in target shooting together, witnesses said. Bartlett said he carried the weapon because he frequently had charge of his firm's large payroll.

State's attorney, Lorin W. Willis asked Judge Kenneth Wynne to continue Bartlett's bail for 48 hours pending a possible appeal.

Agriculture Forecast

Washington, Oct. 7 (AP)—The Agriculture Department forecast today that farmers would receive about $16,000,000,000 from their products in 1943 compared with $15,000,000,000 this year. The 1943 estimate was based on present price levels and the expectation that livestock production would be larger than this year and the volume of crops would be less.

East Kingston Helps Nation

America Hustles Up Its Scrap; Reports Encouraging

(By The Associated Press)

It was like a roll call of the nation with states, cities and little whistle-stops chanting: "Look what we're doing."

America, deep in the job of gathering every bit of steel and iron junk for ravenous war mills, today poured in heartening reports on progress in the 21-day special metal salvage drive led by the nation's newspapers.

The reports, although unofficial and incomplete, showed the country really bending an elbow to get old metal started on the way to its eventual abode in planes, ships, guns, tanks.

This was part of the story: 10 states alone have collected so far in the campaign—which started September 28 and ends October 17—an estimated 260,000 tons of scrap, or 520,000,000 pounds if figured at the rate of 2,000 pounds to the ton.

Those figures were released by the National Newspapers' United Scrap Metal Drive Committee in New York which said it was receiving hourly information showing the total metal salvage was becoming tremendous.

Pennsylvania was leading so far on a tonnage and per capita basis, according to the committee, with 283,770,000 pounds collected, or 28.6 pounds for every man, woman and child in the state.

The other nine of those 10 reported states—with the job they have done so far listed first on a per capita basis in pounds and then by tonnage—were:

Michigan: 15.2—40,000; Maryland: 13—12,834; Virginia: 10.5—14,000; Missouri: 9—17,000; Oklahoma: 6.9—7,706; West Virginia: 6.5—6,218; Maine: 6—2,530; Iowa: 58.8—7,368; Massachusetts: 5.5—12,000.

In New York city's five boroughs collections so far have been made only in two—Queens and Richmond. The Queens total was 33,729,000 pounds, or better than 28 per capita; Richmond, estimated at 12,000,000 pounds, or 56 per capita.

Other sections of New York state reporting: Albany, about 1,500,000 pounds, or 11 per capita; Saratoga Springs, 600,000 pounds, or 40 per capita; Schenectady, 3,020,000 pounds, or 21 per capita; Onondaga county (Syracuse), 3,020,000 pounds, or 21 per capita.

'Strangler' Lewis May Do It to Japs

Bone-Crusher Would Like to Be Comando

Philadelphia, Oct. 7 (AP)—Ed "Strangler" Lewis, the bone-crusher who has wrestled 6,000 matches, claimed the world's record five times and begun a comeback at 51, is about ready to give it all up now—and start breaking up Japs.

The Strangler, just a shadow of his former self at 290 pounds, came here for an exhibition battle and said he wanted to be a Commando.

And if Uncle Sam rules him out, he added, he'll ask permission to teach soldiers Jiu-Jitsu on the theory that "once they see how simple it is, they won't worry about the Japs using it on them."

Lewis, whom the years have treated well financially, said he "played a trick on those little fellows" himself on his last trip to the Orient.

"Outside Kobe our ship passed their fleet and I got up on the bridge and made movies of it," he explained. "The captain said they'd jail me for life—but I walked ashore carrying the camera—and photographed the Imperial Palace.

"They arrested my chauffeur, but not me. I guess I was just so big they were flabbergasted. They said nothing to me, and all my film is now in the hands of our government."

The Strangler said he had reduced 90 pounds in eight months "by God's exercise—walking" and felt more fit than ever.

Health Rule Is Drink Cold Water

Don't Use It for Bathing, Physicians Say

Kansas City, Oct. 7 (AP)—If you want to remain healthy this winter, even though shivering, drink cold water—don't bathe in it.

And if you're inclined to worry over the war, tire and gasoline rationing may help you ward off stomach ulcers.

That's the comment on current problems brought to the Southwest Clinical Conference yesterday by Drs. Thomas E. Carmody of Denver and R. L. Saunders of Memphis.

"Never pass up a water fountain," Dr. Carmody said. "Take a drink. The average person should drink at least three quarts of fluid a day."

Dr. Carmody isn't very enthusiastic about cold baths for inuring the body to the 65 degree temperatures recommended for homes this winter. He prefers to bathe tepidly, himself.

And as for the tire and gasoline rationing vs. stomach ulcers, here's Dr. Saunders' theory:

While civilians may worry more over the war and kindred events, they'll have to spend more time at home where they'll get proper food and rest.

There'll be less opportunity to get out to cocktail parties and other functions where the guests miss out on sleep and consume large amounts of alcohol, tobacco and highly seasoned foods, all contributing factors to the development of ulcers.

Despite this counterbalancing benefit, he expects a large increase in such ailments in the next five years.

It's a direct result of wartime tension.

Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly Heads Nurses' Aide Group

Appointment of Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly as chairman of the local Red Cross Committee on Volunteer Nurse's Aides was announced today by the chairman of the Ulster county chapter. Mrs. Connelly is replacing Mrs. George W. Ross who has served as chairman of the committee for the past year.

This committee is responsible for the selection, enrollment, instruction and placing of women offering to serve in the local Volunteer Nurse's Aide Corps to assist graduate nurses in local hospitals and health agencies. The American Red Cross is cooperating with the Office of Civilian Defense which recently made a nationwide appeal for 100,000 women to volunteer for this work in their communities to offset an acute shortage of nurses for civilian health instructions. Women from 18 to 50, able to give a minimum of 150 hours service every year without remuneration are eligible for the intensive 80 hours instruction course sponsored by the Red Cross.

Worship services will be based on great works of religious art and will be conducted by a youth worship committee. A religious sound motion picture, "The Spreading Flame," will depict the fidelity of the early Christians to the "Gospel of Love" even though it meant martyrdom at the hands of Rome. On Saturday night the church will serve a banquet to the assembled conference group. An eventful three days will come to a close Monday afternoon with Holy Communion and a consecration service directed by the district superintendent, Dr. Carroll.

White Sox Score Series Win Again Over Chicago Cubs

Eighth Straight City Title for American League Club; Wins Four Out of Five

Chicago, Oct. 7 (AP)—Winning the Chicago city series is still strictly a White Sox habit.

The American Leaguers did it again last night at Comiskey Park, defeating the National League Cubs, 4 to 1, to score their eighth straight city championship.

Johnny Humphries, who gave the Cubs six hits in winning last Friday night, turned back the northsiders with five last night. Lon Warneke attempted to stop the Sox, but gave way after pitching the first five innings. It was the Sox fourth victory in the series that went six games.

Total attendance was 45,818. The receipts were $46,428.50, of which $16,924.86 went into the players pool.

Bennett Speaks In Six Counties

Campaigning Candidate Makes Brief Stops in Several Cities

Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 7 (AP).—Encouraged by mounting reports of party unity behind him, the Democratic candidate for governor, John J. Bennett, Jr., moved eastward to wind up a campaign visit to six upstate counties.

Brief stops are scheduled in Herkimer county, at Herkimer, Ilion and Little Falls, and he will appear in Fulton county tonight at a meeting in Gloversville.

Still fresh in his ears were reports given him yesterday in Oswego and last night in Cayuga county, among them favorable word on what has become a party theme: That the Republican opposition will lose at least some of the plurality it enjoyed upstate four years ago.

Typical of statements which heartened the attorney general was the prediction of Mayor John J. Scanlon of Oswego that his city would go for Bennett by "a record majority." The present Democratic record is the 3,200 vote margin given Alfred E. Smith in 1922, Mayor Scanlan said. Of five Oswego county delegates to the Democratic convention in August, Mayor Scanlan was one of three who supported James M. Mead, whom Bennett defeated for the gubernatorial nomination after a tense floor fight. Oswego county is normally Republican.

At Auburn, in Cayuga county, where supporters assured him the normal Republican plurality would dip sharply, Bennett spoke at a rally last night. His address touched lightly on partisan politics, in contrast to the previous night when he took his opposition sharply to task for what he said was its lack of a program to develop the state's power resources.

Last night he appealed to all to register and vote in the November 3 election.

"Let nothing interfere with your performing this paramount duty of popular government," Bennett declared.

In another point he confidently predicted his victory by referring to January 1, 1943, when there will be "the new Democratic governor down in Albany."

Preceding the rally last night Attorney General Bennett was guest at a dinner of war veterans, both Democratic and Republican.

Other speakers at the rally which followed included Mrs. Flora D. Johnson, Syracuse, Democratic candidate for congressman - at - large, and William O. Dapping, managing editor of the Auburn Citizen-Advertiser, who spoke in behalf of Charles D. Osborne, Democratic nominee for congress from the 36th congressional district.

Teamsters' Union Ends 'Holiday'; Trucks Move

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 7 (AP)—With resumption of contract negotiations tentatively set for today, members of an A. F. L. teamsters union voted yesterday to end a "holiday" they began Monday and started moving freight trucks through Albany.

The 700 freight handlers involved voted unanimously to return to work, Peter Postma, business agent for Local 294, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, reported.

About 25 per cent of the men were back at work last night, John Vogel, trucking-company operato said.

Union officials said the strik was unauthorized and emphasized that as far as they knew transportation of war goods or defense materials had not been held up.

Postma said the men were seeking a pay increase from 75 to 9 cents an hour, adding that other divisions of the local had obtained 10-cents-an-hour increases.

A glossary of Scottish words and phrases was typed by the head of the Y. M. C. A. in a South England town, for the use of local tradesmen when a Scot regiment was there, because the tradesmen had difficulty understanding what the Scots said when making purchases.
